KINSLEY TELLS DAY AND NIGHT OF DEMOCRACY

Even Vaudeville Is on Program.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—This is Senator Joseph T. Robinson's night at the Democratic national convention. The session is set apart for the report of routine committees and the welkin stirring by the Arkansas senator after a day of vaudeville under the direction of Eddie Dowling.

The delegates have been warned to be on time, 8 o'clock, but at that hour there are only a hundred or so in their seats. The top galleries hold the largest crowd. The seats on the platform, with names printed on them like those of Hollywood movie directors, are deserted. The chairman is not in sight.

Arkansas appears with a new banner:

"The New Deal—never a step backward."

Woolen Clothes and Raincoats.

The white suits that bloomed in the hall yesterday like a garden party have been displaced by woolen clothes and raincoats.

Band and organ lead in "The Bells of St. Mary" as the delegates come in.

The Washington delegation breaks out into verse, distributing a parody on "Goody, Goody" and a song about "We're all for you—Franklin D. Roosevelt."

At 8:30 singers appear on the platform, but no chairman.

Senator Robinson appears on the platform at 8:35 and poses for the cameras with uplifted gavel. The flashes in this direction look like a swarm of fireflies. The senator also obediently gestures for the cameras; then leaves the platform to be notified and escorted later.

Standing Room Only.

At 8:50 visitors in the ailes were asked by Secretary Forbes Morgan to occupy the seats nearest them. Many delegate seats were empty. The top galleries took this as an invitation and rushed down to the favored balcony seats. Waiting crowds outside soon filled up the vacant seats and the hall, which has a capacity of 17,000, now has one of its biggest audiences, with standing room filling up in the balconies.

The gavel falls at 9 o'clock and Senator Alben W. Barkley, temporary chairman, orders the ailes cleared.

The convention rises to prayer delivered by Dr. Ivan Murray Rose, pastor of the First Baptist church of Philadelphia and president of the federation of churches. He asks that all life be touched by the awareness of God's presence, that a streak of new dawn be shot across this perplexing horizon.

"We love America," he says, "and for America we pray, but first make us all worthy of America."

Glee Club Sings.

The Philco Glee club sings "Happy Days Are Here Again," which seems to be the real convention theme song. Lassie Sheridan of the club sings "In the Gloaming" while the flood lights sputter and shut out all thoughts of gloaming scenes.

The club then sings a border ballad.

Attention at the front of the hall is centered on Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, who takes a seat with the Texas delegation wearing a ten gallon hat, and is set to work autographing other hats.

Senator Walter F. George, delegate from Georgia, is recognized. He offers a resolution of tribute to the memory of John Sanford Cohen, former national committeeman from that state and for a short time a senator.

Tribute to Georgian.

Senator William Gibbs McAdoo seconds the motion as a native Georgian.

Maj. Cohen was a rare Democrat, he says, who never deserted his party at any time. The crowd greets this

PACIFIC CLIPPERS PLANNING TO CARRY PASSENGERS SOON

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Reports that the Pan-American Airways might abandon its clipper service between San Francisco and the far east were denied at the offices of the line today. A spokesman for the company said that flights would be made "regularly" throughout the summer and fall on bi-weekly schedule. So far about fifteen round trips have been made.

So far the clippers are carrying only mail and express cargoes, but it was said that passenger service would be inaugurated "in the near future," possibly in the early autumn.

The company has constructed hotels for the accommodation of its passengers on the mid-Pacific islands of Midway and Wake, each structure being designed to accommodate 48 guests. Other hotel accommodations have been arranged for at Honolulu, Guam, and Manila.

The service was inaugurated on Nov. 22 last. One of the company's fleet of three clippers is now poised at Manila for a return flight, having flown from San Francisco on the eastward leg of its round trip on June 20.

SISTERS, 65 AND 72, BECOME U. OF C. CO-EDS; TAKE ART

Mrs. Mary Quick Burnet, 72 years old, of Indianapolis, enrolled yesterday for the summer school at the University of Chicago. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary A. M. Quick, 65 years old, also enrolled. Both are taking art courses.

William E. Dodd, professor emeritus of the university, who is on vacation from his post as ambassador to Germany, opened his four week lecture course on "Critical Moments in American History" before 175 students. Urging the national importance of accurate and candid writing and teaching of history, Dr. Dodd said that if men of the present knew history they would avoid many blunders that are now being made. There is not a country in Europe where it would be possible to start a war, he said, if the people had been taught history accurately for one generation.

Enrollment for the summer quarter was 14.8 per cent more than last year, university officials announced. At the end of the day, 3,658 students had been registered.

A Convention Through Eyes of a Page Girl

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—An interesting feature of the convention is the pages and assistant sergeants at arms. Here they swarm all over the place and seem to have nothing to do except clutter up the ailes and perch on the rails, where they obstruct the view of everybody else.

Here is the story of a girl page from Tennessee and her reactions to the convention.

"I got this badge through a man named Farley. I don't just know who he is but my boss does. When I came to the door the policeman was awfully nice.

Beats the Holy Rollers.

"This convention beats the Holy Roller meetings in Tennessee. They talk in unknown tongues and yell when the spirit moves them. They told me I was an employé and I had to work, but I don't know what to do.

"I went over to the Tennessee banner and there was a distinguished gray haired man there. They said he was Cordell Hull, some sort of a secretary. I asked him why he wasn't marching around.

"'My feet are too tired,' he said.

"I saw a policeman and talked with him. He said he would rather see a good wrestling match any time, and they certainly had some 'sweethearts' in the hall.

About Teeth in Tennessee.

"When I was standing there a man yelled out:

"'Ain't everybody got pretty teeth in Tennessee?'

"Somebody grabbed me in a parade and carried me around on his shoulders. The policeman said he wished they would bring in some hula dancers.

"The only work I've done is when some one asked me where the Texas delegation was and I pointed out the banner."

Chicago Passes 37 Hours Without Robbery Reported

Not a single robbery was reported to the Chicago police during the thirty-seven hours ending at 11:30 o'clock last night. Deputy Chief of Detectives Walter Storms said the last reported robbery was committed at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning in the Chicago avenue district.

AL SMITH VANISHES ON AN UNANNOUNCED TRIP FROM N. YORK

New York, June 24.—(AP)—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith left town on an unannounced trip today, but close associates denied rumors that he was en route to the Democratic National convention in Philadelphia.

Commenting on the rumors, Bainbridge Colby, who joined Smith and three other dissenting members of the party last Sunday in a plea for the nomination of a "genuine" Democrat to replace President Roosevelt, said it would be a "very gallant thing" for Mr. Smith to go to the convention, but added that he was not advised of any such plan.

Smith's sudden departure for an undisclosed destination immediately led to speculation as to whether he was bound on some mission concerned with last Sunday's implied threat to bolt the party if Mr. Roosevelt is renominated.

DAUGHTER OF CLEVELAND ON CONVENTION VISIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—Grover Cleveland's daughter, Mrs. John H. Amen of New York City, came down to Philadelphia today to look over the convention and the activity centering about the headquarters' hotel.

"Marvelous, the way the women have taken hold," she commented. Mrs. Amen, born while her father was President, is head of the Democratic Union of New York City, a New Deal organization.

Mrs. Amen missed being born in the White House. It was summer and her mother was at Buzzard's Bay, Mass., at the time.

Mrs. John H. The dog died of rabies. Mrs. Morse's son, Jack, was also bitten by the dog at their summer home at Lake Wesauking, Pa. Mrs. Morse lived at 2602 Eastwood avenue, Evanston, until a year ago while her son was going to school.

PLEAS TO CURB COURT DISTURB JEFFERSONIANS

Hint at Dissension on Platform.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—In a downtown hotel the Democratic national platform of 1936 is being carpentered into tentative shape tonight by a resolutions subcommittee of twelve, with New Dealers in control.

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, chairman, who prepared the rough draft in Washington, says he "expects" the resolutions will be ready for a vote on the convention floor tomorrow night.

The sessions, as usual, are enveloped in secrecy, and few outside the inner circle, it appears, have had a peep at planks which may have undergone modification in the last few days, since Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota said he would run as a third party candidate.

Conservatives Visibly Perturbed.

What the platform will say on the constitution and the courts, on currency, labor, agriculture, and social security has been the subject of much conjecture among the delegates since Sunday. Whether controversy will arise on the floor over some of the planks still is a question.

Old line Jeffersonians on the resolutions committee seemed visibly disturbed by views on the Supreme court uttered by keynoters of the convention.

The onslaught on the court tonight by Senator Joseph T. Robinson, in which he declared recovery has been slowed up by Supreme court decisions on NRA, AAA, and other New Deal measures, and from the convention platform called for reversal of Supreme court decisions brought grim looks from conservative constitutionalists. Conjectures grew that a battle on the floor might ensue if the platform follows the keynoters.

His Own, or Party's Views?

All day long the Jeffersonians had expressed perturbation over the keynoting of Senator Alben W. Barkley last night as temporary chairman. They asked whether in his views on the courts he was merely keynoting for himself or was tuning up to the tentative platform draft.

Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, a constitutional Jeffersonian, reflected views of other conservatives on the platform body by remarking:

"If Senator Barkley was expressing merely his own views, that is one thing. But if his views are those that may be in the tentative planks when they are placed before us, that is another thing. We will fight any attempt on the life of the Supreme court. That would be a damned sight worse than trying to amend the constitution. We would fight it to the end."

Emulates Bryan in 1908.

Telephone contact with the White House is easy from the suite where the subcommittee is laboring, and the assumption is that no changes will be made in the tentative planks without full knowledge of President Roosevelt.

Expectations are that he will be in as close touch with the platform framers as was William Jennings Bryan with the Denver convention of 1908, over long distance from Lincoln, Neb., or Gov. Alf M. Landon with recent Republican events at Cleveland.

Seven senators, five of them ardent New Dealers, are on the sub-committee which is wrestling with the planks. The group is composed of the following:

Senator Wagner [chairman].
Senator Hugo L. Black, Alabama.
Senator David I. Walsh, Massachusetts.
Senator Carl A. Hatch, New Mexico.
Senator Robert J. Bulkley, Ohio.
Senator James F. Byrnes, South Carolina.
Senator J. C. O'Mahoney, Wyoming.
J. Stitt Wilson, California.
Judge Norman L. Jones, Illinois.
Walter Walker, Colorado.
Wayne Coy, Indiana.

Beat Olson Aid as Minnesota Party Leader

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—Minnesota's Simon-pure Democrats won a partial victory over the faction accused of bi-partisanship with Gov. Floyd B. Olson's Farmer-Laborites tonight when the credentials committee voted to recognize the presidential electors named by supporters of Congressman Elmer J. Ryan.

The committee also decided to seat both the Ryan delegates and those brought to Philadelphia by National Committeeman Joseph Wolf, with half a vote each. A third recommendation was that Wolf be supplanted as committeeman by John P. Erickson of Duluth, who is the choice of the Ryanites.

Claims 2 to 1 Victory.

Thus Ryan claimed a 2 to 1 victory over Wolf's Farmer-Labor Democrats. The committee's decision was made at an executive session following two hours of accusatory cross-fire by warring factions from different corners of the committee room.

Wolf, it was reported, may attempt to overthrow the committee's decision by taking the fight to the convention floor tomorrow.

Peace offers from both sides were discarded during the fight in the committee room. Lost sight of most of the time was the legal point at issue—whether the Ryan convention at Mankato on Feb. 1, or the Wolf meeting at St. Paul on April 21, had elected a slate according to law.

Ryan Suggests Compromise.

To end the struggle, Ryan proposed to the other side that each slate be seated with half a vote and that Erickson be made committeeman. "I'll go on that and nothing else," cried the diminutive congressman, who is the only Democrat from Minnesota in the house, indicating that otherwise he might take a walk, like Al Smith.

In behalf of the Wolf slate, Attorney George W. Jansen of St. Paul rejected this blunt proposal, because Erickson had been secretary of the Ryan sponsored state convention.

"Our proposition," Jansen declared, "is the same as that made by the subcommittee of the national committee which recommended that each bloc be seated with half a vote and that National Chairman James A. Farley choose the committeeman."

Still Up to Committee.

The committee's decision, if approved by the convention, means that the names of the Ryan instead of the Wolf electors will be printed on the ballot in November. As far as the national committeemanship is concerned, the credentials committee has no jurisdiction, but it was pointed out that if the Wolf delegates refuse to approve Erickson in caucus, his name still could be certified to the national committee by the Ryanites. It would then be up to the national committee to decide whether Erickson should be seated.

Jansen had contended in his argu-

Conservatives Start to Walk Out.

The text of Senator Robinson's address appears on Page 6 of this issue.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—Amid fresh evidence of conservative disaffection, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, majority leader of the senate and a leading administration spokesman, keynoting tonight as permanent chairman designate of the Democratic national convention, defied the courts to halt the progress of the New Deal.

Specifically Mr. Robinson called for the reversal of the Supreme court decisions that held unconstitutional the NRA, the AAA, the Guffey coal control act and other New Deal legislation.

This pronouncement came on the heels of the disclosure that conservative Democrats were beginning to desert the convention in mingled sorrow and disgust occasioned by the Barkley keynote speech last night which revealed President Roosevelt's plan to perpetuate the New Deal through enlargement of federal powers to regiment industry and agriculture.

Minnesota Halts Organization.

A threatened walkout of the conservative delegation from Minnesota stalled the convention machinery and compelled a postponement of the permanent organization until tomorrow. The credentials committee consumed so much time trying to harmonize the conservative and radical factions in Minnesota that it became necessary to recognize Senator Robinson as a delegate from Arkansas in order that he might deliver his address on scheduled time so as to reach his radio audience. He will not become permanent chairman till tomorrow.

The credentials committee voted to seat both Minnesota delegations, with the conservatives naming John Erickson of Duluth the national committeeman in place of the New Deal Committeeman Joseph Wolf, who works hand in glove with radical Floyd Olson, Minnesota's Farmer-Labor governor.

There will be a fight on the floor of the convention tomorrow to overturn this arrangement.

Last Stand by Conservatives.

At the same time the conservatives were making a last stand in an all-night session of the resolutions committee against radical features of the New Deal platform, though they had little hope of winning modifications in a convention two-thirds of whose members are Democratic pay rollers bound to the Roosevelt administration by bread and butter ties.

But all these developments faded into insignificance compared with the great drive of the New Dealers to persuade Gov. Lehman of New York to reconsider his announced refusal to run for reelection. Everywhere he went the Roosevelt henchmen fawned upon him. He suddenly has become the big figure of the convention toward whom all eyes are turned. Every conceivable pressure is being brought to bear to induce him to accept renomination in the high endeavor to make New York safe for Democracy.

Farley Betrays Fears.

Although claiming all forty-eight states for Roosevelt, National Chairman Farley betrays his fears that, without Lehman, Mr. Roosevelt will lose New York and, with it, the election.

"This convention can score no greater achievement than to induce Gov. Lehman to change his mind," said one of the Democratic leaders.

The report spread tonight that the governor was weakening and the New Dealers were more confident than ever that he would consent in the end.

"I haven't changed my mind," said Gov. Lehman when asked about the report.

"But it is said you will consent to be drafted," he was reminded.

"On that I have nothing to say," he replied. "When I have I'll make a statement."

Senator Robinson, who keynoted on a lot of subjects not touched upon by Senator Barkley, imputed to the Supreme court responsibility for retarding recovery, thereby rejecting as fallacious the statistical evidence that the current business improvement dates from the invalidation of the NRA by the Supreme court in May, 1935.

"Decisions of the Supreme court in various cases," said the senator, "have had the effect of slowing up national recovery because they have held invalid the national recovery act, the agricultural adjustment act, the Guffey coal law, and some other laws intended to prevent labor controversies, eliminate unfair competition in trade and in industry and to secure fair prices for agricultural products. In spite of these decisions the American people are going forward. We recognize that the decisions of the Supreme court until reversed are final and we abide by them. Nevertheless, we do not regard the courts above and beyond those factors and causes which naturally influence the minds of human beings."

Takes Issue with Decision.

Senator Robinson then proceeded to take issue with the Supreme court decision invalidating the New York law fixing minimum wages and maximum working hours of women and children. While the Republican platform holds to the belief that such state regulation is still possible under the constitution as it stands and while Gov. Landon advocates a constitutional amendment, if necessary, to clothe the states with such authority, Senator Robinson proposed that the Supreme court decision "should be reversed under that due process of law clause which has been unjustly invoked as its justification."

The first extensive defense of the administration currency policy made in this convention came from the lips of Chairman Robinson. The devaluation of the dollar, he asserted, had prevented inflation.

Speaks on Currency Stand.

"We did not create an unsound currency," he said. "Indeed, United States currency is the soundest and the best in all the world, and we propose to keep it so. Had we remained on the gold standard while competitor nations were resorting to managed currencies we would have lost not only our foreign commerce and have witnessed our domestic trade reduced to the vanishing point, but the government would have been compelled to face a demand for monetary inflation that would have been irresistible. Once the printing presses are started turning out money you can never hope to stop expenditures or to stabilize until the mania has run its course."

The senator dwelt on the omission of all mention of gold in the Republican platform and Gov. Landon's amendatory telegram, which Mr. Robinson said "evades the issue by the use of language that clearly shows he does not believe it safe and practicable to reëstablish at this time a gold standard currency."

The Arkansas senator twisted a novel meaning out of the Republican platform pledge that the Republican candidate would faithfully carry out its promises. It was well known that this was a Republican shot at the failure of Mr. Roosevelt to fulfill the pledges of the Democratic platform of 1932.

Senator Robinson said that the Republican pledge was intended to bind Gov. Landon, who was known "to be out of sympathy with the platform."

The chargo that Mr. Roosevelt has violated the 1932 platform Senator Robinson answered thus:

Explains Platform Defection.

"The Roosevelt administration has faithfully complied with the spirit of the Chicago platform promises. If there has been partial departure as to the letter of the planks in that platform relating to economy and balancing the budget that failure is attributable to the constantly changing conditions and necessities and to the guerrilla warfare of the Republican army."

The exodus of conservatives set in about the time Senator Barkley was disclosing the President's plans for the perpetuation of the collectivist features of the New Deal. Among the earliest to turn their backs upon a convention in which they find themselves out of place was Senator Carter Glass of Virginia. He went back to Washington, saying that he had come to Philadelphia against his doctor's orders but would remain at home "on call" if his presence should be required in the convention.

During the 24 hours he was here Senator Glass declined to serve as a member of the resolutions committee which is drafting the platform or, to be more precise, is considering the platform drafted by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, chairman of the committee, and approved by the President.

Inasmuch as more than two-thirds of the delegates are public or party jobholders, the administration commands a comfortable majority for any platform the President wants. The New Dealers made every effort to get Mr. Glass on the resolutions committee in order to disarm conservative criticism of the New Deal platform, but he warily avoided the trap. Had he accepted a place on the committee he would have been compelled to sign the platform or to lead a forlorn fight against its adoption. He preferred to go home.

Senator Harrison Leaves.

Another conservative at heart who was here yesterday but gone today is Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi. He also went back to Washington on the plea that his health was not good and he had found the air of Philadelphia "oppressive." Mr. Harrison, who possesses a subtle sense of humor, was suspected of using the word "oppressive" in a double sense. He was not the only conservative complaining of the oppressive atmosphere of a scene dominated by the radically minded.

Like Senator Glass, Mr. Harrison declined to accept membership on the resolutions committee where he could not hope to halt the framing of a platform dedicated to the revival of New Deal institutions which he regards as socialistic.

Delegate Fails to Arrive.

Of Senator Peter Goelet Gerry of Rhode Island it could not be said that he had gone home disgusted, for it turned out that, though a delegate at large from his state, he had not yet come and had no intention of coming. So disgusted was he with the New Deal that he had declined to accept reëlection as Rhode Island's national committeeman.

Any one who mingled with the delegates on the floor was soon made aware of the disaffection produced by Senator Barkley's revelation that the President is still determined to build a new social and economic order.

On every side there were disputes between conservatives denouncing the Roosevelt program and New Dealers defending it.

"Cotton Ed" Smith Critical.

"Cotton Ed" Smith, senator from South Carolina, waxed almost apoplectic in unburdening his mind to his fellow delegates. "Socialistic" was the word constantly exploding on his lips as he discussed the Barkley keynote. He thought the party would court defeat if it should be so ill advised as to adopt a platform even squinting in the direction of the regimentation of all activities of the people from Washington.

Later Senator Smith asserted that he was "through" with the convention, "sick of the whole damn thing" after he had walked out in protest against the presence of Negroes. With Senator Smith went a number of others after a colored minister had opened the afternoon session with prayer.

Senators Harry Byrd of Virginia, Alva Adams of Colorado and Millard Tydings of Maryland and former Senator Howard Bruce of Maryland were other delegates who viewed with misgivings the radical character of the Roosevelt program revealed by the keynote speech. Adams and Tydings refused assignment to the resolutions committee.

Many Out of Sympathy.

Among the delegates there was much rumor of prominent Democrats who intend to "take a walk" along with the Smith group or at least to refuse to give aid and comfort to the New Deal ticket. Among those thus mentioned were former Senator Atlee Pomerene and former Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio. Mr. Cox was Democratic candidate for President in 1920 and Franklin Roosevelt was his running mate. Although he accepted appointment by Mr. Roosevelt as a member of the American delegation to the world economic conference in London in 1933 he has never been in sympathy with the collectivist aspects of the New Deal.

The Barkley keynote, with the evidence of presidential authority it carried, was universally accepted as marking out what is bound to be the paramount issue in the November election—the perpetuation of the New Deal by whatever means necessary. The platform may not definitly reveal the course Mr. Roosevelt purposes to pursue in this connection if he is reëlected. It may not disclose his intentions any more than the 1932 platform revealed the collectivist character of the New Deal, although Postmaster General Farley stated in a speech in 1934 that Mr. Roosevelt had planned the new order even before the Chicago convention in which he was nominated and at which the platform was adopted.

The platform may not come any closer than the keynote speech to proposing a constitutional amendment to clothe the federal government with power to control industry and agriculture or to suggesting measures to curb the Supreme court.

But the electorate will have been put upon notice by the keynote speech that the President intends to do these things in one way or another if given another four years in the White House, in fact will regard himself expressly commissioned to do these things if returned to power by the will of the people.

The issue will be squarely joined between the New Dealers who aim to establish a new economic and social order through an enlargement of the powers of the central government to regiment the occupations of citizens and the anti-New Dealers who are fighting to preserve individualism from the encroachments of socialism and our traditional form of government from replacement by a totalitarian state.

Amendment Is Mentioned.

The keynote speech mentioned a constitutional amendment to implement the New Deal as a measure that might become necessary some time. It touched upon the question in this gingerly manner because of the coldness with which the country received the suggestion originally in the President's famous "horse and buggy" fling at the Supreme court for invalidating the NRA. It became apparent that it would be decidedly dangerous for the Democrats to propose such an amendment in this election, so apparent that the Republicans have been challenging their opponents to take this step toward further centralization of government.

With equal caution the keynote approached other means of legalizing the New Deal institutions held unconstitutional by the Supreme court. By dwelling on the close division in the court in several New Deal decisions Senator Barkley subtly suggested that the New Deal might yet be validated by a change in the attitude of the court.

Seen as Pointing Way.

Some delegates thought this a clear indication that the President expects the court to reverse itself in the next four years by virtue of the appointment of New Dealers to the tribunal to fill vacancies naturally occurring.

Others were quick to point out that implicit in the keynote was the suggestion that the decisions invalidating the New Deal might be effectively overcome by depriving the court of the power to declare acts of congress unconstitutional. This could be done by legislation, in fact, was done in connection with a case arising in the construction period following the civil war. There are numerous bills now pending in congress proposing to deprive the courts of the veto power over legislation.

Thus it was held by the conservatives, at least, that whatever the platform may or may not say regarding means of reviving parts of the New Deal demolished by the Supreme court the keynote clearly indicates what the President will do about it if he is given the chance in the next four years.

For Redefinition of Power.

Tangible evidence of the President's imprint on the keynote speech was found in the passage proposing a redefinition of the power of the federal government to regulate interstate commerce. By such a redefinition it would be possible to extend federal control over the production of farms and factories, over wages and prices and working conditions. Such a redefinition might be accomplished by a constitutional amendment or by judicial interpretation reversing the present attitude of the Supreme court. The language of this proposal in the keynote speech was almost identical with that employed by the President in his "horse and buggy" interview.

'GREAT COMMONER'S' MEMORY IS HONORED AT SPECIAL MEETING

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—Tribute to the memory of William Jennings Bryan, the "great commoner" of Democracy, was paid today at a special meeting in connection with the national convention. Presiding was Josephus Daniels, ambassador to Mexico and former secretary of the navy, who served with Bryan in the Wilson cabinet when Bryan was secretary of state.

Five members of the Bryan family were present at the breakfast ceremony in the Penn Athletic club. They were his son, William Jennings Jr., the latter's 21 year old daughter, Betty; Mrs. Grace Bryan Hargreaves and her daughter, Evelyn, and Mrs. T. S. Allen, Bryan's sister.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper, one of the principal speakers, declared that the party should carry on "the spirit and the purposes of William Jennings Bryan, through the personality of Franklin D. Roosevelt." Numerous others spoke.

BEAT OLSON AID AS MINNESOTA'S PARTY CHIEFTAIN

ment that the Ryan group had opposed President Roosevelt's nomination in 1932 while the Wolf group had been original Roosevelt sponsors in the northwest.

The Farmer-Labor cat crept out of the bag, however, in the remarks of one of the Wolf delegates, W. H. Dempsey of New Ulm, who spoke in highly laudatory terms of Gov. Olson's party, accused of a criminal-political alliance following the murder of Walter W. Liggett, editor of the Midwest American at Minneapolis. At one point Dempsey was moved to say that the President owed a considerable share of his election to Farmer-Labor support. That linking of Olson and Roosevelt didn't please the old line Democrats.

"No!" They Shout.

"Do you support the Democratic state ticket?" inquired Erwin Larson, Iowa member of the committee, of the Olsonite, Mr. Dempsey.

"No! He doesn't," chanted the crowd.

One of the Ryan simon-pure spokesmen, Ray Moonan of Waseca, declared that "the question here is whether the Democratic party in Minnesota is to be submerged in another party. The other side bases its case only on the Declaration of Independence and the inclemence of the weather."

The real issue in the contest—whether the Ryan convention at Mankato last Feb. 1 or the Wolf convention at St. Paul on April 21 had elected bona fide delegates—was lost sight of from time to time during exchanges of personalities.

For Al, but Ashamed of It.

Answering the charge that the Ryan group had opposed the President's nomination, Regan told the committee that "it was for Al Smith; I sinned like a lot of the rest of them. But I made more speeches for Roosevelt than all of them put together."

Efforts of Delegate Lee from New York and others to keep the discussion on legal issues and out of politics failed from time to time. The Ryan group appeared to have more supporters among the spectators than the contesting delegation.

A contest from the Panama Canal zone was also heard, the leaders of the delegations being National Committeeman Louis Townsley and National Committeewoman Mrs. L. O. Keen. A spirited debate as to whether the Townsley delegation had been elected by a rump convention was held before the committee took the contest under advisement.

In another decision, the credentials committee voted to seat with half a vote each two delegations from the Panama Canal zone, led respectively by National Committeeman Louis Townsley and the National Committeewoman Mrs. L. O. Keen.

GOV. TALMADGE SEES DEFEAT OF ROOSEVELT

Atlanta, Ga., June 24.—(AP)—Gov. Eugene Talmadge, after listening to the keynote address of Senator Alben Barkley before the Democratic national convention, predicted today the defeat of President Roosevelt in November.

Commenting on the address, the governor said:

"It sounds the direct note for centralization of power in Washington, contrary to the Democratic doctrin of sovereignty of states and the management by the states of their own internal affairs.

"If this keynote speech is a forerunner of the platform on this point, Roosevelt is overwhelmingly defeated."

Asked whether he thought Mr. Roosevelt can be reëlected regardless of the platform, the governor said: "I do not."

Talmadge, long a critic of the New Deal and a champion of state rights, predicted a bolt of several southern states from the "solid south" on the state rights issue.

END TO 2-THIRDS RULE RESULTS IN COMMITTEE FIGHT

Southerners Battle to Prevent Change.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—Opposition of unexpected intensity developed in the rules committee of the Democratic national convention this afternoon when the proposal to abrogate the party's historic two-thirds dictum was made. Administration leaders say the committee will recommend changing the rule by a substantial majority, but it appeared certain this afternoon that a minority report would be submitted, thus projecting a battle on the convention floor.

Hotheaded southerners with a gift for fulsome oratory and a deep reverence for Andrew Jackson, who submitted the rule requiring a two-thirds vote to nominate a candidate for President 104 years ago, led the opposition to the change proposed by the new element in control of the party.

They Want to Know Why.

They demanded to know the purpose back of this proposal, when President Roosevelt's name is the only one to be placed in nomination, and whether the next move would be an amendment to the constitution giving states proportional representation in the senate, or depriving the citizens in the "weaker states" of the suffrage.

E. E. Cox, Georgia's representative on the rules committee, charged that the purpose of the proposal was to "move the control of the party from the center of area to the center of population—to give Pennsylvania, a Republican state, more power in the Democratic party than half a dozen other states."

Although speakers were limited to five minutes, except under extensions granted by unanimous consent, it was apparent that the committee fight would be a prolonged one. Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland therefore obtained adoption of an order for the vote to be taken at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow, in time for the filing of the committee's report at the afternoon session of the convention.

Senator Clark Made Chairman.

Senator Bennett C. Clark of Missouri was unanimously elected chairman of the committee, according to schedule, and had the honor of presiding while the memory of his father, the late Speaker Champ Clark, was being lauded. Senator Clark is an ardent proponent of changing the rule, his frankly stated reason being that it kept his father from becoming President of the United States. Champ Clark had a majority on several ballots at the Baltimore convention in 1912, but was unable to secure two-thirds, the result being the nomination of Woodrow Wilson.

Delegate Cox, the Georgia spokesman, said that adoption of the rule would send a great many Democrats home "most unhappy" and would constitute "an unnecessary, unwise, foolish, and most terrible blunder from which the party will not soon recover."

Cites Memory of "Champ."

"It is true that this rule wrecked the fortune of a great American," he declared. "But the memory of the great Champ Clark needs not to be glorified by any such proposal as this. And when the discussion about the Baltimore convention is intended as a reflection upon the name of Woodrow Wilson, I resent it with all the vehemence of my nature.

"Do not be ensnared into a position that is false not only to the traditions of your party but false to your own interest. The next demand will be a plank in the platform outlawing the suffrage right of the people in the weaker states, or a constitutional amendment giving states proportional representation in the senate.

"This movement is coming from the larger states. It springs from the hearts of the new converts to the Democratic party, but the old regulars have a right to be heard. The proposal is wicked and damnable; it is a march upon the smaller states that will break down and destroy their influence in the party councils."

Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama, with great show of emotion and flourish of arms, pleaded with the committee to "stand by the old landmark."

"Old Hickory put this in and Andrew Jackson was the greatest soldier this country ever produced," Gov. Graves declared. "He was a great soldier because he always saw that his army was solidly united before he encountered the enemy."

Gov. James V. Allred of Texas joined in the chorus of protestation with a warning that the Democratic party "ought to be slow in making changes in its fundamental and historic traditions."

"I am at a loss to know just what is behind this move," Gov. Allred said. "We already know there will be but one nominee for President and one for vice president. I revere the memory of the great Champ Clark, but I can't find it in my heart not to be glad that he failed. But for that failure the country would not have had the administration of Woodrow Wilson.

Hitch Wagon to Old Star.

"This rule was adopted 104 years ago and down in Texas we still hitch our wagon to the star of Old Hickory."

The tall, handsome Texas governor refuted the argument that majority rule is the essence of democracy, citing the fact that it requires a two-thirds vote of both the senate and house and ratification by three-fourths of the states to change the constitution.

Delegate Martin Smith, Washington's representative, wanted to know why the opponents of changing the rule spoke only of the Baltimore convention.

"Don't you know that this rule almost defeated the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt at Chicago?" he asked.

"He was nominated, wasn't he?" Gov. Allred replied.

"Yes, but he wouldn't have been on another ballot," Smith asserted.

"I say he was a stronger candidate because he received a two-thirds vote," the Texas governor shouted.

Doughton Leads Change Fight.

Representative Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina, chairman of the ways and means committee, led the fight on behalf of the New Dealers for changing the rule.

"The very essence of democracy is majority rule, not minority rule, nor group rule, nor group control," he declared. "One of the greatest dangers of today, even in legislation, is group control. The hour of peril has arrived and the hour of destruction is at hand. The determination of groups, for selfish interests, to control and dominate the affairs of this country is the greatest danger we have today."

ROOSEVELT BUSY DRAFTING SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE

Talks to Kiwanians; Sees Morgenthau.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today began writing the speech he will deliver in acceptance of the Democratic nomination for the presidency at Philadelphia next Saturday night.

Mr. Roosevelt left the executive offices shortly after noon and returned to the White House to address delegates to the Kiwanis international convention here. From the rear portion of the White House he went into luncheon with Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau.

After luncheon Mr. Roosevelt retired to his study on the second floor of the White House and began drafting the acceptance speech. From the mass of data assembled for him by New Deal aids Mr. Roosevelt is to evolve a speech which is expected to be both a challenge to Republicans and a defense of the New Deal.

Leaves Capital Late Saturday.

During the afternoon he worked alone. Tomorrow he probably will begin dictation of the address. The speech is to be worked and reworked until its form is satisfactory to him. The address will probably not be in final form until shortly before Mr. Roosevelt is scheduled to leave here for Philadelphia about five o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Before he set out on his task, Mr. Roosevelt discussed the general themes of his address with Vice President Garner, who is also to deliver an acceptance speech Saturday night. Mr. Garner's address is to be brief.

As he left the White House, Garner said he "just dropped by," adding, "I thought I would pay a call as I had nothing else to do." Asked if he had discussed politics, he said with a broad grin, "We never do." He confessed he would "make a few remarks at Philadelphia."

Praises Work of Lodge.

To 4,500 Kiwanians on the rear lawn of the White House, Mr. Roosevelt reiterated the doctrin of the good neighbor. He paid tribute to the work of the organization for crippled children and pointed out that he is a fellow Kiwanian.

"You have heard the term 'good neighbor,'" he said. "We seem to have extended it pretty well in our relations with Central and South America. I hope it can be extended to all communities within our borders."

During the day Mr. Roosevelt signed about 15 bills. The most important of these were the appropriation bill for the treasury and post-office departments, a bill designating the last Sunday in September as Gold Star Mothers' day and a bill strengthening laws governing inspection of merchant marine vessels.

FEDERAL FUNDS USED IN DESIGNING PLAQUES TO CHEER ROOSEVELT

The decorative great seals of the states that adorn the Democratic convention hall at Philadelphia came from the work shops of the WPA federal art project here, it was learned yesterday. When the question of using federal funds for such a purpose was put yesterday to Mrs. Increase Robinson, assistant national director of the project, she told of the low cost of the work and its artistic merit.

"I figure that materials for each seal cost only 30 cents and that the labor cost was less than that required in doing, say, a small mural," Mrs. Robinson said. "The seals were made at the request of a Washington group—the department of exhibitions, I think it was. They were painted in colors on paper which was later glazed and glued to plywood discs fifteen inches in diameter. The seals of each state were re-designed to obtain a unified motif to make them all harmonious, while preserving their original elements.

"They are slightly stylized—not just the mussy, naturalistic things that the original seals of the states are," Mrs. Robinson said. "Why, a state would pay $1,000 to have this kind of an art job done, but we have mass production and don't spend money like that."

YOUTHS PICKET CONVENTION IN CROPPER PLEA

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—For the first time in history a national political convention was picketed today.

Undeterred by the cold rain that dampened the city, a dozen young men and women paraded up and down in front of convention headquarters at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, carrying signs that read:

"Give the Share Croppers a Vote."

"Democrats Unfair to Organized Labor."

"If the Share Croppers Could Vote."

"Robinson Keeps Roosevelt Quiet."

Protest Cropper Treatment.

These young men and women were students in the summer school of the League for Industrial Democracy and representatives of the Emergency Committee for Strikers' Relief, the Workers' alliance, and the American Students' union.

Socialistic in their views—but interested in freedom, security, and justice, according to their own statement—they were protesting "the desperate treatment thta has been accorded the share croppers in Arkansas."

One of the pickets, Mary Hillyer of New York City, said: "We are shocked by the Arkansas situation, the destitute condition of the share croppers. When they have tried to improve their conditions they have been evicted, flogged, and kidnaped, and nobody knows how many killed."

Beatings Set Off Protest.

This convention protest was set off last week when Willie Sue Blagden and Claude Williams, vice president of the American Federation of Teachers, were beaten in Earl, Ark. Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas refused to see the protesting delegation this morning here in Philadelphia.

Miss Hillyer added, "We want the eviction of the share croppers stopped but we can't get closer to the New Deal convention than the sidewalk."

PLEAS TO CURB COURT DISTURB JEFFERSONIANS

Dissension on Platform Planks Hinted.

ner, Black, Hatch, Byrns, and O'Mahoney—are rated dyed-in-the-wool New Dealers. Buckley has a half and half rating, but last night was a pretty good Rooseveltian. Senator Walsh is a conservative Jeffersonian, one of the men who led the fight for the dripping wet repeal plank at Chicago four years ago.

Wilson is a former Socialist mayor of Berkeley, Cal., and is a New Dealer. So is Commissioner Murphy. Judge Jones, a member of the Illinois Supreme court and a former law partner of the late Speaker Henry T. Rainey, always has been a strong constitutionalist.

Woman Sits in at Drafting.

For the first time, it was said, a woman sat in the subcommittee deliberations tonight. Mr. Wilson flew to Cleveland to make a speech and Mrs. Elizabeth Graham of California took his seat as alternate under the new rule adopted today on motion of Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana. Wilson is expected back in time, however, to do most of the voting.

According to Democrats who say they have had a look at Chairman Wagner's tentative draft, the platform, as originally drawn, does not propose any constitutional amendment concerning powers to regulate wages and hours of women in industry. After the recent Supreme court decision invalidating the New York law on this subject President Roosevelt took the view that the constitution is broad enough and that the minority opinions of the court were the significant features of the case. Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, at Cleveland, concurred in this view.

Amendments Urged.

Since then some groups have been urging amendment of the constitution. Conservative Democrats, in view of all the talk that certain planks have been modified in recent days, have been asking whether an amendment may be proposed in the platform. Indications are that no amendment is to be proposed, but, if one should be in the platform, Democrats like Senator H. F. Byrd of Virginia declare they would carry the fight to the floor of the convention and the delegates would be thrown into controversy.

The agricultural plank and allied matters have been prominent in the preliminary platform shaping. On these some modification is said to have been made with a view of counteracting what appeal Mr. Lemke, coauthor of the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill [killed by the senate in its closing hours Saturday night] might carry in states like Minnesota, the Dakotas, and Montana.

MANY PLANKS OFFERED

Many planks were expounded by the heads of several organizations at the open session.

An appeal that the platform withdraw recognition of the soviet government of Russia because of Red subversive activities was a high light of the labor planks of the American Federation of Labor. They were read by William Green, president of the federation, and also were signed by Frank Morrison, G. M. Bugniazet, Thomas A. Rickert, Matthew Woll, and Felix H. Knight, the nonpartisan political campaign committee of the labor body.

Moscow, the federation of labor held, is carrying on communist activities in the United States. The planks called for deportation of aliens who advocate revolution and the violent overthrow of our political and social order.

Urge Rescinding of Treaty.

They urged the rescinding of the treaty negotiated with soviet Russia by President Roosevelt on the ground that the bolshevists had broken their word to restrain or refrain from supporting communist activities directed at changing America's form of government.

"Labor is convinced," read Mr. Green, "that through the third internationale, with headquarters at Moscow, subversive activities are being carried on in the United States.

"There is evidence of the activities of subversive elements and organization inspired and supported by the third internationale, whose headquarters is located on Russian soil, on every hand and in practically every community throughout the United States. In the light of these facts, we urge that your platform declare in favor of the withdrawal of the recognition of the soviet government because of its disregard and violation of treaty obligations."

Several Planks Proposed.

Several planks were proposed by Mr. Green, among them one for a systematic public works program aimed at meeting the unemployment problem. Others were for the five day work week and shorter work day as a remedy for unemployment, a declaration of the right of labor to organize and to bargain collectively.

On free speech, free press, and assembly Mr. Green said: "We hold that the preservation and maintenance of these vital principles are essential to the preservation of liberty, freedom, and democracy."

Other planks were on vocational training, social security, and old age pensions, for anti-injunction legislation, and for continuance of the restricted immigration policy. One called for a constitutional amendment that no law should be held unconstitutional by the Supreme court except by not less than a two-thirds vote of its members.

Mr. Green and John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, still are at outs, and indications are that the labor plank in its tentative form is dominated by the views of Mr. Lewis, who has discussed it at the White House.

Professors Present Telegram.

On a monetary plank fifty-two college professors, members of the economists' national committee on monetary policy, presented a telegram through Dr. Ernest Minor Patterson of the University of Pennsylvania.

It spoke of reports that a monetary plank is proposed continuing in the President the present broad powers over our monetary unit, avoiding a return to controvertibility on a gold basis, and indorsing present laws and presidential powers with respect to silver purchases, possibly further devaluation of the gold unit, and the authority to issue greenbacks and to utilize further inflationary devices.

"We disapprove such policies as inimical to the best interests of the nation," said Dr. Patterson. "The so-called 24 hour basis policy will keep business in a perpetual state of uncertainty. The public is entitled to a specific statement as to the ultimate goal of the present policy."

The economists suggested five planks: Balance the budget by cutting expenditures; free federal reserve system from political domination; repeal the law giving the President power to devalue the currency; repeal the Thomas amendment and the silver purchase act; create a commission of experts to study existing money and banking systems.

Urge Return to Gold Standard.

On the gold standard one plank proposed: "Return to a gold standard at the present weight of the gold dollar unless international coöperation for restoring and improving the gold standard suggests the desirability of some slight change in the weight of our gold unit."

Admiral R. P. Hobson, a Spanish-American war hero, representing the national defense committee, Military-Navy club, New York, and the national defense clearing house, submitted a plank reading:

"The party pledges itself to maintain all components of the army, the navy, and the air forces in the strength and efficiency required for security against aggression, and to encourage the development of a modern American merchant marine adequate for control of our overseas trade and for a reliable naval reserve."

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, through Millard W. Rice and Paul C. Wolman, past national commander, submitted several planks, one of which was for continued liberalizing provisions for disabled veterans and their dependents. Another was for deportation of aliens who advocate overthrow of the government by force or violence, and another was for adequate national defense.

"A pension for every one" was the subject discussed by Albert S. Falk of Wheaton, Minn.

Bryan Offers Court Plan.

William Jennings Bryan Jr. proposed inclusion in the platform of a provision for alteration of existing judicial procedure whereby federal courts of appellate jurisdiction would be prevented, except by unanimous decision, from invalidating a state law. Unless this is done, he said, there can be no preservation of the police powers of the states from encroachments by a single judge. He based his argument principally on the New York minimum wage decision.

An agricultural platform adopted by the American Farm Bureau federation was submitted by its president, Edward O'Neal. It called for control of the volume of farm products so as to balance the supply with total demands of markets at price levels which will give the agricultural commodities the purchasing power existing in 1909-'14.

In a "rubber dollar" plank it advocated a managed currency regulated on an index of basic commodities to maintain a dollar with a constant purchasing and debt paying power.

Grange Gives Farm Plan.

A ten plank farm program was presented by L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange. Later a request from the grange, the National Coöperative council, and the American farm bureau was placed before the platform makers. It said:

"We ask for allegiance to the constitution, which places in the congress the power to coin money and regulate the value thereof. We ask for a pledge to create a nonpartisan authority to promote monetary equity and stability.

"We ask for a pledge to provide a dollar that will be equitable in value and stable in both buying and debt paying power. We ask for a pledge that this nation shall not be placed at a disadvantage by the establishment of a dollar with a fixed and constant metallic content."

A brief argument for a constitutional amendment reducing the power of the courts to invalidate laws was made by William B. Rubin, chairman of the Wisconsin delegation.

Frank J. Burns, assistant attorney general of Illinois, a delegate, took the opposite view, declaring a constitutional amendment is not necessary as the courts "succumb to determined and enlightened public opinion."

Asks Equal Rights for Women.

Mrs. Helen Hunt West, congressional chairman of the National Woman's party, came to ask for equal rights for men and women and that any platform plank relative to labor and minimum wage apply to the job and the worker—not the sex.

Miss Lena Madesin Phillips of New York City, as spokesman for the business and professional women, wanted repeal of section 213A of the economy act, which discriminates against married women in government service. Mrs. Larue Brown of Boston was speaking for the League of Women Voters' civil service plank.

Congresswoman Mary Norton of New Jersey addressed the committee in the interest of "national representation for the voteless people of the District of Columbia" and Congresswoman Carolyn O'Day read the report of the Democratic women's advisory platform committee. When Miss Catherine Curtis of the Women Investors in America, urged that the constitution be kept inviolate, some one cut the wires on the amplifier.

SENATOR SMITH, S. C., 'WALKS OUT' AT CONVENTION

Asserts He Is 'Through'; Objects to Colored.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—(AP)—Aroused by the presence of colored delegates and other things, Senator Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith, a delegate at large from South Carolina, said today he was "through" with the Democratic national convention.

Smith and some other members of the South Carolina delegation left the convention floor when today's session was opened with prayer by a colored minister.

"The situation in the south before and since the civil war makes it impossible for the south to recognize and accept the Negro as an equal political factor," Smith said.

Objects to "Equality."

"Political equality means social equality and social equality means intermarriage, and that means the mongrelizing of the American race.

"There is not a man in America that has more regard for the Negro in his place than I have.

"But realizing as I do these unspeakable dangers inherent in this thing, I cannot and will not be a party to the recognition of the 14th and 15th amendments.

"Nor will I support any political organization that looks upon the Negro and caters to him as a political and social equal.

"It may be that South Carolina and the south—the confederate states—have forgotten reconstruction and its horrors."

"Sick and Tired," He Says.

"I'm through. I'm sick and tired of the whole damn thing. I'll go home and do some talking."

Smith said he understood a colored delegate has been selected to second the nomination of President Roosevelt.

Prior to his statement that he was "through" with the convention, there had been a misunderstanding between Smith, who has served 27 years in the senate, and Gov. Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina.

The senator was late arriving and Johnston temporarily had loaned his delegate badge. Smith said he had found "no badge, no reservations, no nothing." Johnston had retorted that "he better be thankful that he got here as a delegate."

Claud Sapp, chairman of the delegation, said he had no intention of leaving the convention and minimized the demonstration led by Smith.

"I don't care who prays for me," Sapp said.

Joseph P. Tumulty Wins Dismissal of $25,000 Suit

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Joseph P. Tumulty, who was secretary to President Woodrow Wilson, won dismissal of a $25,000 suit against him today. Supreme Court Justice Louis Valente ruled that Clarence H. Fay, attorney suing Tumulty and two others for legal fees, had not acted with due diligence and dismissed the action as to Tumulty.

SMITH MESSAGE TO CONVENTION LOST BY FARLEY

Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—A representative of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and his four associates who issued the statement urging the Democratic national convention to nominate a "genuine Democrat" instead of President Roosevelt, declared today that a letter containing the original of the statement and signed by the five anti-New Deal Democrats was addressed to the delegates in care of the temporary chairman.

The letter, he said, was mailed under a three cent stamp and that, if the letter had been handled properly by Postmaster General Farley's postal service it should have reached the proper hands and been read to the convention.

Senator Alben W. Barkley, temporary chairman of the convention, said tonight he had not received the letter.

PICCARD BALLOON FOUND 800 MILES FROM TAKEOFF

Huntsville, Ark., June 24.—(AP)—The Piccard stratosphere balloon landed in a tree top on an Ozark mountain ridge near Fort Alabam, five miles from Huntsville, about 5 p. m. today.

J. Denver Smith, Fort Alabam storekeeper, was first to reach the huge bag. He said it was ripped badly by the wind and branches before he could dislodge it from the tree. The instruments, he reported, apparently were undamaged.

MOVE TO FORCE HORNER'S HAND ON RELIEF CASH

Aldermen at Convention Demand Showdown.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—There will be some sort of a showdown here tomorrow between Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois and members of the Chicago city council on the question of relief funds.

There are ten Chicago aldermen among the delegates and alternates to the Democratic national convention. All of them are wrought up over the prospect of a million dollar monthly shortage in relief funds as a result of the governor's veto of the Adamowski bill to devote an increased share of the sales tax to this purpose. For diplomatic reasons they are withholding expression of their opinions at this time and have asked an opportunity to talk with the governor so they may report to the city council when it meets next Monday.

Hold Power in Wards.

Some of them say privately that if there is not an agreement on some plan which will produce the necessary million a month, they may propose that the council adopt resolutions denouncing Horner. As about half of them are ward committeemen, the situation is one full of political possibilities.

Under the leadership of Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] the councilmen sought last night and this morning to find some means of arranging a conference with the governor here immediately. Their pleas that State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, who is seen frequently with the governor, act as an intermediary were unsuccessful. Their final resort was to P. A. Nash, national committeeman. Mr. Nash, although holding that the question was not an organization matter, agreed to arrange the conference.

Because Mr. Nash and Horner did not meet during the rest of the day, the agreement was not concluded definitly, but in response to a question by newspaper men, Gov. Horner said he would be glad to see the aldermen tomorrow at some convenient time. Indications now are that the conference will be held in the morning.

None of the aldermen is optimistic concerning the outcome of the meeting. Three of them were members of a committee which rode on the same train to Springfield with the governor last week, did not talk with him until they reached his capital office, and then were turned down on their plea for help in the problem that they described as a most serious one for Chicago. Those three are Bowler, J. M. Arvey [24th], and Roger Kiley [37th].

Wants Smith and Igoe.

The other councilmen here are John Coughlin [1st], Henry Sonnenschein [22d], Joseph Rostenkowski [32d], William J. Cowhey [41st], Dorsey R. Crowe [42d], John Grealis [44th], and Albert F. Schultz [47th].

Ald. Bowler said that if the governor does not object he will ask that the conference be enlarged by the addition of Clayton F. Smith, president of the Cook county board, and Michael L. Igoe, former Democratic leader in the legislature, who has been acting as one of Horner's advisors.

Although there are a number of legislators here, it is not planned to ask them to the meeting.

Mitchell to "Second" Nomination.

Members of the Illinois delegation were somewhat surprised today when Gov. Horner told them that Senator Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania asked that Illinois' seconding speech in the program for the renomination of Roosevelt be made by Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell of the First Illinois district, the only Negro now sitting in congress.

Mitchell is not a member of the delegation—neither a delegate nor an alternate. But the wish expressed from "headquarters" will be granted.

Son of Gov. Curley Is Sued for $15,000 in Auto Crash

Boston, Mass., June 24.—[Special.]—Paul Curley, eldest son of the Massachusetts governor, was sued for $15,000 today in connection with an automobile collision a week ago in Roxbury. In addition, police filed a complaint charging him with violating the motor vehicle laws.

WOMAN PUT ON COMMITTEE THAT SHAPES PLANKS

Alternate Takes Post as Wilson Departs.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—For the first time in the 104 years of political convention history, a woman was seated tonight as a member of the sub-committee on resolutions, which is whipping into shape the 1936 platform of the Democratic party. She is Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, California delegate to the convention.

The seating of Mrs. Graham followed the adoption this afternoon of a resolution placing women on this important committee in an alternate capacity. Jackson Stitt Wilson, ex-Socialist mayor of Berkeley and California delegate appointed to the resolutions committee, was forced to leave Philadelphia to keep a speaking engagement in Cleveland.

This gave Mrs. Graham, newly elected alternate, a chance to sit in on the sub-committee. It also made her the only one of the women alternates with a voting privilege in the committee's hearings.

Victory or a "Sop."

The feminine contingent of the Democratic party was jubilant over the passing of the resolution creating alternates, claiming it as one of the most important advances in women's political history. Others regarded it as just a sop to femininity.

Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana presented the resolution at the afternoon session. It was adopted unanimously.

It reads, "In addition to the designation of a member of the committee on platform and resolutions, each state, district and territory shall name an alternate member of that committee who shall be of the opposite sex of the member designated."

Immediately following adjournment of the afternoon session, a number of the state delegations caucused in order to give the women alternates an opportunity to sit with the resolutions committee this afternoon.

Senator Hattie Caraway was chosen by Arkansas. Miss Harriet Elliott, dean of women in the University of North Carolina, was selected by her state. Mrs. John Garland Pollard of Virginia, Mrs. Dorothy McAllister of Michigan, Miss Bibb Graves, wife of Alabama's governor, and Mrs. Mark Anthony of Tennessee were among others who sat with the committee as alternates during the afternoon hearing. Illinois did not hold a caucus, so was not represented by an alternate.

Serve If Men Are Absent.

The alternates have no vote in committee unless the men of the committee should be absent, as in the case of Mr. Wilson on the subcommittee tonight.

"I believe this is the greatest step ever taken to give women a voice in the formulation of the platform of any party," Miss Mary W. Dewson, director of the Democratic women's division, said this afternoon. Miss Dewson went on to point out that the action had established a precedent that future conventions will feel obliged to copy and that woman's voice will become "weightier and weightier."

Asked how the action was accomplished, Congresswoman Caroline O'Day of New York said: "The Democrats have been in power so little since the civil war, they realize more than the Republicans that they have to take the women into account."

But in several quarters it was quietly pointed out that the Democratic bosses had patted the ladies on the back and made them very happy "without actually giving them much."

The new resolution creating alternates reversed itself in one instance. Since the Porto Rico delegations [two were seated because there was a contest] last night put two women on the permanent resolutions committee, the alternates today had to be men.

Supreme Court Decisions Curb to Recovery, Asserts Robinson

NEW DEAL ONLY PATHWAY OUT, SAYS SENATOR

"National campaigns heretofore usually have involved sharply defined issues on which political discussions have centered. The principal concern of the recent Republican convention at Cleveland was to reconcile its candidate for the presidency with the declarations embraced in its platform.

"It was not the first time in our history that a nominee, in advance of accepting the nomination, has placed his interpretation on the language employed, but it is the first instance in which a candidate, by keeping silent on national public questions and after maneuvering himself into a position assuring his selection, has indicated a disposition to bolt on five or more subjects on which his party had spoken.

"Break Anticipated."

"It is also the first case in which the platform committee and convention have anticipated the purpose of a prospective nominee to break away in a direction opposite to their movement by declaring that it would constitute a breach of public faith and of private honor should he fail or refuse to conform to the policies laid down for his guidance.

"Republican leaders lately have shown tender, if too long delayed, appreciation for the platform on which the Democrats won the election of 1932.

"Their speakers enter this campaign declaring that we have betrayed the country by failing to carry out the promises which at first they regarded as repugnant but which are now dear to the hearts of our opponents.

"The Roosevelt administration has faithfully complied with the spirit of the Chicago platform promises. If there has been partial departure as to the letter of the planks in that platform relating to economy and balancing the budget, that failure is attributable to the constantly changing conditions and necessities and to the guerrilla warfare of the Republican army.

Disastrous Effects of G. O. P. Policies.

"Because of the policies of three Republican administrations extending over a period of twelve years, a condition existed March 4, 1933, which cannot be adequately described.

"Breakdown was threatened in the government of many states as well as in that of the nation. Millions of laborers were out of work. The specter of poverty cast its appalling shadow over the land.

"Credit sources were dried up, financial institutions were bankrupt; factories were closed down; agriculture was profitless; the savings of cities were being swept away; business was at a standstill; our foreign commerce had almost disappeared, and hoarding was general.

"These conditions had resulted in large part from governmental policies, economic isolation, riotous speculation, promotion of monopolies, and the contraction of credits for the private profits of market manipulators.

PICTURE OF GLOOM

"You have not forgotten—can you ever forget—the gloom, the sorrow, and the distress which clouded the hopes and hampered the activities of all of our people?

"President Hoover seemed powerless to suggest any method by which the engulfing tides of adversity might be impeded or turned back. All he could do, apparently, was to boast a refracted vision which he claimed enabled him to see prosperity around corners.

"Having employed the army to drive from the capital thousands of hungry war veterans, he retired to the cloister of the White House and indulged in crystal gazing to predict the quick return of better times which never began to return until after he had been retired to the sunbaked gardens of Palo Alto to give place to the new leader of the nation, President Roosevelt.

Action by Democrats.

"The Democratic leadership recognized that drastic changes in governmental policies were necessary to bring back courage and confidence and to restore financial stability.

"Feeble and ordinary processes had been tried and had failed. New and decisive methods and measures were demanded and required. They were necessarily formulated with haste. It is not surprising that difficulties were encountered or that mistakes were made.

"To have awaited then the slow working out and execution of plans for recovery would have been fatal. No one is wise enough, even with post-vision, to know what would have happened if extraordinary legislation had not been speedily enacted and put into effect.

Bank Laws Revised.

"The banking laws were revised; insurance for bank deposits was provided; runs on banks were stopped, and the national credit was employed to prevent bankruptcy and ruin of banking institutions, of railways, and of key industries.

"For twelve years before March 4, 1933, Republican administrations had grappled with the farm problem. The only important measure they enacted, the 'farm marketing act,' had cost the federal treasury $500,000,000 and had left agriculture in a worse condition.

"The Democratic administration created a system for coördinating production with consumption and for the payment of benefits to farmers which quickly restored agricultural prices to an approximate level with the prices of industrial products. Indebtedness under which farm homes were being foreclosed was refinanced at reduced interest rates. Foreclosures were suspended. Quickly there appeared better conditions with respect to both agriculture and industry.

"Millions on Charity."

"With the depreciation of values and the unparalleled fall in prices following the collapse of markets in 1929, small businesses were merged into gigantic combinations with monopolistic tendencies, or were forced into bankruptcy. As trade and purchasing power diminished, unemployment increased, savings were exhausted, and millions of formerly self-supporting citizens were compelled to accept charity.

"When the Roosevelt administration began, local agencies, the states, cities, and counties, had well nigh exhausted their resources and charitable organizations were unable to meet the constantly growing demands upon them.

"Hundreds of thousands of young men, many of them college or high school graduates, were entering life without prospect. The professions were overcrowded and the immediate future held little promise for the youth of America.

NEW DEAL PROGRAM

"There was devised the Federal Emergency Relief administration, the Civil Conservation Corps organization, and the Civil Works administration. When the conservation corps was first established it was ridiculed as a useless and costly experiment.

"In spite of the contempt of those who had stood motionless and dumb while the catastrophe was approaching, the organization has demonstrated its effectiveness for keeping deserving young men from becoming hobos and for giving them useful service in the construction of highways, the improvement of public parks, buildings and grounds, the reforestation of denuded areas, and in other helpful spheres of labor.

"Now the value of the emergency conservation corps is generally, almost unanimously, recognized. Former President Hoover vainly boasts that he was its originator.

Hails CWA Plan.

"The Civil Works administration required comprehensive planning. It was difficult to find useful employment in the neighborhoods where the unemployed were located. The consensus of opinion is that more than 75 per cent of the funds expended through that agency was of substantial and permanent advantage to the communities in which the work was carried on.

"When the Civil Works administration had served its purpose it was found that the ranks of the unemployed were constantly being augmented by those who, in the beginning of the depression, had been able to live upon their savings but who, as the time progressed, were compelled to spend their savings.

"While many key industries had been restored following recovery measures to an approximately normal state, private agencies continued to pursue economical methods and to substitute machinery for hand labor with the result that a comprehensive program of public works became necessary and was authorized under the act of 1935, contemplating a nationwide system of public works, some of them consisting of permanent structures.

The PWA Program.

"In order to take from the dole three million, five hundred thousand laborers, the Works Progress administration was organized and plans were made for public works in thousands of communities in which the unemployed resided.

"Manifestly the number on the federal emergency relief rolls could not be concentrated in the communities where public buildings and similar works could be located; so that it became necessary to plan for the employment of the majority of them in or near the communities where they lived.

"To accomplish this, undertakings of a less permanent nature than those contemplated by the Public Works administration program became indispensable. The opposition have described these expenditures as wasteful and foolish.

"The theory of the Works Progress administration is that it is better to give those who are willing to labor the opportunity to do so than to make them dependent on charity or on government dole.

"Given Chance to Aid Self."

"There is no more pathetic spectacle than that of an honest man, accustomed to earning a livelihood for himself and his dependents, forced to face starvation or to accept private or public charity. If his self-respect is to be maintained he should be given opportunity to help himself.

"That is exactly what has been done through the Works Progress program. The greater part of the large fund has been and is being advantageously used. The issue is whether public employment shall be abandoned for the dole. No one dares advocate that those who cannot get work shall be permitted to starve.

"Certainly where the states and their subdivisions are able to do so they should be expected to contribute a fair share to the very laudable and so far only practicable plan that has been offered for solving the one great problem incident to the depression, namely unemployment.

Attacks Foes' Plans.

"The opponents of the present administration advocate the abdication by the national government of control over the administration of federal relief funds. They assert that such funds should be expended solely by local agencies of the states. Their contention is that this will eliminate politics and prevent waste and corruption. Experience has not shown that to be true.

"To require the federal government to provide the funds, and to relinquish all control over their expenditure, would be to invite competition among the localities to secure grants from the government which would result in demands so great that the national credit would be impaired.

"With respect to politics, the record shows that there have been less abuses than under any other plan that has been employed. State officers are not exempt from political influence. Indeed, local pressure on state and county officers might prove irresistible and overpowering.

Some Abuses Inevitable.

"There is no plan conceivable under which all abuses may be prevented. So long as the national government provides the major portion of the sums necessary for the unemployed, it must, for its own protection, and for the protection of those who are required to pay the bill, retain a liberal measure of supervision, both as to the purpose and the manner of the expenditures.

"The drain on the national treasury by reason of extraordinary measures, particularly including those relating to unemployment, has been great. It must be reduced as soon and as rapidly as circumstances permit. Unemployment assistance cannot be abandoned so long as there are large groups of American men and women unable to find an opportunity to earn a livelihood.

SOUND MONEY

"Much will be heard of sound money during this campaign.

"When world economic conditions were approaching their worst, Great Britain and many other powers went off the gold standard and resorted to what is known as 'managed currency.'

"The advantage they thus derived in trade and commerce over peoples still dealing under the gold standard became manifest. To prevent our foreign trade from being taken over by competitors, and to avoid further contraction of credit which threatened, we reduced the gold content of the dollar. We did not create an unsound currency.

"Indeed, United States currency is the soundest and the best in all the world, and we propose to keep it so. Had we remained on the gold standard while competitor nations were resorting to managed currencies we would have lost not only our foreign commerce and have witnessed our domestic trade reduced to the vanishing point, but the government would have been compelled to face a demand for monetary inflation that would have been irresistible.

Printing Press Perils.

"Once the printing presses are started turning out money you can never hope to stop expenditures or to stabilize values until the mania has run its course. That has been the experience of every nation known to history.

"The Republican platform adopted at Cleveland declares for sound money in the language of the Democratic platform of 1932. The fiercest issue in the committee platform at Cleveland was over return to the gold standard. The committee repudiated the proposition and the convention without controversy supported the committee.

"At the beginning of his speech nominating Gov. Landon, Mr. Hamilton, the boss of the Cleveland convention, announced that the candidate had views of his own on the monetary question. In his telegram the candidate declared that he favored return to the gold standard—currency convertible into gold.

Describes Landon "Hedge."

"It is true that he hedged the issue by declaring that the proposed change should be made 'when it can be accomplished without penalizing our Democratic economy and without injury to producers of agricultural products.'

"For that declaration, made immediately before his nomination, the Republican candidate for President has been proclaimed as bold and defiant.

"Almost every one realizes that there can be no return to the gold standard under present conditions without 'penalizing our Democratic economy and without injury to producers of agricultural products.'

Evades Issue, He Says.

"Gov. Landon did not dare advocate an immediate return to the gold standard. His effort and that of former President Hoover to have a plank incorporated in the Cleveland platform was a failure. Candidate Landon's declaration on the subject evades the issue by the use of language that clearly shows he does not believe it safe and practicable to reëstablish, at this time, a gold standard currency.

"The Cleveland convention did an unusual thing. It impliedly questioned the good faith of its prospective nominee and his willingness to stand upon the platform by the last clause in that document, which is as follows:

"'The acceptance of the nomination tendered by this convention carries with it as a matter of private honor and public faith an undertaking by every candidate to be true to the principles and program herein set forth.'

"When that language is considered in connection with the well known fact that in five important particulars the platform committee rejected the views of Gov. Landon, it is undeniable that the committee was preparing for a candidate whom it knew to be out of sympathy with the platform.

Cites White's Words.

"That there are five particulars in which the candidate was turned down by the platform committee the press reports from the pen of Mr. William Allen White, who constitutes the head of the Landon 'brain trust,' may be cited.

"In a copyrighted article emanating from Cleveland on the 11th of June, 1936, Mr. White published these five points raised by the candidate and rejected by the committee and the convention.

"What are the five points?

"First [quoted from Mr. White's article]—'Landon telephoned from Topeka this morning he would like to have a declaration putting all postoffice employés, including the postmaster general, under civil service.' Neither the committee nor the convention would stand for placing cabinet officers under the civil service.

Stand on Wage Law.

"Second—'He also desired a plank curbing the Supreme court decision denying to states the right to control hours of service, working conditions, and wages. Landon advocates an amendment to the constitution—his plea was denied.'

"The committee and the convention not only denied his plea but adopted declarations that the integrity and the authority of the Supreme court have been 'flaunted' and pledged resistance to all attempts to impair the authority of the Supreme court.

"He also advocates the adoption of state laws to abolish sweatshops and child labor and to protect women and children with respect to maximum hours, minimum wages, and decent working conditions—which is exactly what the Supreme court held in Morehead vs. Tipaldo the states cannot do.

Tells "Rebuff" on Gold.

"Third—The third particular in which Mr. William Allen White declares that Candidate Landon was rebuffed by the committee and the convention is with respect to the gold standard and a currency convertible into gold. Mr. White said: 'After considerable protest he ceased firing on the currency.'

"Fourth—According to Mr. White the Kansas delegation [for Gov. Landon] offered a plank 'looking directly to lower tarifs but under the protective theory. The plank as it stands represents a compromise.'

"Fifth—In 1932 the Republicans adopted a declaration favoring the United States joining the world court and boasted that Presidents Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover had urged that course.

Pledge on World Court.

"The Cleveland platform pledges that the United States shall not become a member of the world court. Candidate Landon opposed the declaration.

"Again quoting Mr. White: 'Gov. Landon, over the telephone this morning, asked that the abandonment of the world court be reconsidered. His request was almost unanimously rejected.'

"This bit of convention history discloses that the platform committee in the convention doubted whether the candidate would carry out the platform and that they sought to bind him by the unusual charge made in advance that if he failed to do so his action would constitute a breach of private honor and of faith.

TARIF

"It has been shown that the candidate of the Republican party proposed a platform declaration in favor of reduced rates, which was rejected.

"The Cleveland platform declares for the repeal of the reciprocal tarif law and for an embargo on live stock, dairy, and agricultural products.

"Under the reciprocal tarif law there have been negotiated various trade agreements which have had the effect of stimulating our foreign commerce without materially interfering with our domestic trade. To repeal this law and impose embargoes will virtually mean the end of our foreign commerce.

"American ships will rot at their docks, and our vessels will disappear from the seas. Under the Republican policy surpluses will continue to pile up in the home market to the ruin of American producers.

THE BUDGET

"The Republican platform declares for the immediate balancing of the budget without additional taxes, by simply reducing expenditures. This suggestion is intended to attract taxpayers. No one close to the leadership of the Republican party regards the proposition as practical in the immediate future.

The Roosevelt administration has balanced the budget except as to extraordinary expenditures, and the question is whether unemployment relief expenditures shall be discontinued in order to accomplish what we all desire to be done as speedily as possible, namely, establish complete balance between revenues and government expenses.

"The last session of the congress, with the approval of Republican members, authorized approximately 750 million dollars to be expended for flood control, the expenditure to be spread over a period of years.

1½ Billion for Projects.

"In addition there have been a billion and a half dollars appropriated for work relief during the fiscal year 1937. These and other items keep the budget out of balance for the present.

"To balance the budget promptly would be to terminate at once all relief. Is this desirable? Do the American people wish to deny all assistance from the national government to workers who are out of employment and who cannot secure engagements from private industry?

"A comparison of the income tax, the excess profits tax, alcoholic liquor, and other miscellaneous internal revenue, exclusive of the agricultural adjustment tax, for the first six months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1932, with the same months of the year ending June 30, 1935, shows an increase of almost 100 per cent.

Collection of Revenue.

"During the six months' period July 1 to Dec. 31, 1935, revenue collections were about equal to those for the full fiscal year of 1932. During that year $1,557,000,000 from the sources named were collected. During the fiscal year 1935 $2,730,000,000 came into the treasury from the same sources.

"The Democratic policy contemplates balancing the budget as promptly as this can be done without permitting citizens who cannot secure private employment to experience suffering from hunger and cold. This policy we believe to be justified from both an economic and a humane standpoint.

"By the quick adoption of machines, employment in America has been maladjusted. Added to this has been the loss of purchasing power incident to the depression and unemployment arising because of the reduction of business and enterprise. As these are revived and restored, and as hours of labor are shortened, the necessity for work relief appropriations will diminish and disappear.

THE SUPREME COURT

"Decisions of the Supreme court in various cases have had the effect of slowing up national recovery because they have held invalid the National Recovery act, the Agricultural Adjustment act, the Guffey coal law, and some other laws intended to prevent labor controversies, eliminate unfair competition in trade and in industry, and to secure fair prices for agricultural products.

"In spite of these decisions the American people are going forward. We recognize that the decisions of the Supreme court until reversed are final and we abide by them. Nevertheless, we do not regard the court above and beyond those factors and causes which naturally influence the minds of human beings.

"The decision in the Guffey coal act case held that the federal government has no power to prescribe maximum hours and minimum wages for workers in coal mines, because, among other things, it constitutes a transgression of the rights and functions of the states.

"In the New York maximum hours and minimum wages case recently handed down the majority held that the states cannot prescribe maximum hours and minimum wages on the theory that to do so violates the right of contract secured to our citizens by the federal constitution.

"Notwithstanding this situation the Republican party advocates legislation by the states, and binds its candidate not to seek an amendment to the federal constitution authorizing the congress or state legislatures to regulate maximum hours and minimum wages for laborers.

"U. S. Repudiates Court."

"Whatever may be the just basis for differences of opinion respecting other decisions, the bar of the United States overwhelmingly repudiates the denial by the Supreme court of the power to regulate maximum hours and minimum wages. By the decision the right of private contract is not fortified and strengthened. In a practical sense it is weakened and destroyed.

"What right of private contract is secured by the majority opinion to the woman who exhausts her physical energies by toiling excessive hours for starvation wages in insanitary sweatshops to support herself and her dependent children?

"What power has she, unsupported by law, to protect her rights and to secure fair and adequate compensation for her labor? How does this decision strengthen freedom or glorify justice?

"Is Liberty Deaf, Dumb?"

"O blind and impartial justice, what blunders are committed in thy name! Liberty, art thou both deaf and dumb! Canst thou not behold the pallid faces, the emaciated forms, the sweating brows, the trembling hands of millions of women and children workers who by the decision are left at the mercy of those who have neither pity nor charity for the oppressed and the poor?

"The decision in Morehead vs. Tipaldo should be reversed under that due process of law clause which has been unjustly invoked as its justification.

"That decision itself has answered the charge of pompous plutocrats that Roosevelt and his administration seek to undermine and destroy the Supreme court. The Republicans, in their platform attack the decision and half-heartedly advocate the passage of state laws which, by the precedent of Morehead vs. Tipaldo, would be of doubtful constitutionality.

Cites Dissenting Opinions.

"The weight of the argument in the opinion of lawyers and laymen, it is believed, sustains the minority, rather than the majority opinion.

"Certainly when such judges as Chief Justice Hughes, Justices Stone, Brandeis, and Cardozo declare a statute consistent with the fundamental law, and criticize the views to the contrary of the judges constituting a majority as unsound and subversive, it cannot be disloyal or revolutionary for citizens who believe that the consequences inevitably will be to deprive women and children laborers of valid legal protection to express their opinion on the subject with firmness and emphasis.

"Every one, including those sagacious politicians who until recently sought partisan advantage by praising our highest judicial tribunal for upsetting various features of the national recovery program, now seeks concurrence in a plan to overcome a decision which, they say, if permitted to stand will prove oppressive.

Action Imperative.

"The Cleveland platform denounces the Democratic party for the policies and measures which have been adopted during the Roosevelt administration for the promotion of national recovery. Many Republican members in both branches of the congress, suggesting no substitute, voted for the passage of the legislation because they, as did Democratic members of the congress, recognized the extreme and unusual conditions which made extraordinary action imperative.

"This is true of the most important laws held unconstitutional by the Supreme court, including the national recovery act, the agricultural adjustment law, and the Guffey coal measure.

"It would be interesting and perhaps surprising to those who have been impressed with the denunciation of the measures and policies of the Roosevelt administration by the Republican convention to hear the names of the prominent Republican leaders in the senate and in the house of representatives who supported the measures referred to and who now find themselves denounced by their own convention as intimidators, usurpers, and advocates of tyrannical policies.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

"National defense is a subject of interest to every citizen loyal to our flag and to the institutions which it symbolizes.

"The Republican platform on this subject is indefinite. It favors an army and navy, including air corps, adequate for defense. No standard is raised as to what constitutes adequacy.

"The platform declares for coöperation with other nations in the control of armaments and in the trafic of arms. It is a trite definition without definite meaning. Every administration since the world war, and some of them before that, has offered cooperation with rival powers for the limitation of military and naval arms.

Record States Stand.

"Just now when international antagonisms are being stimulated, when continents tremble beneath the tread of maddened armies and when age-long hatreds are prompting nations to strife, it is impossible to accomplish substantial reduction in military force without sacrifice of national security.

"The Roosevelt administration is building the navy to full strength contemplated by the Washington and London treaties. It is maintaining a well trained and efficient army. Our platform on national defense is written in the record of achievements.

"Another feature of the Cleveland platform, which discloses how hard its sponsors were driven to find a popular issue, relates to the collection of war debts.

"The country will not be permitted to forget that it was the Hoover administration which granted that moratorium and that the moratorium was construed by the debtor nations as an encouragement to their repudiation of their obligations to our government.

"The blame for this blunder in the conduct of international affairs must rest chiefly where it belongs, namely on the sage of Palo Alto.

MONOPOLY

"As a sop to the senator from Idaho, Mr. Borah, the Cleveland convention declared, in general terms, for the enforcement of criminal laws and for the enactment of additional legislation to prevent private monopoly.

"These declarations would be received with more confidence if the Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover administrations had not neglected the enforcement of criminal laws and fostered the organization of trusts and combinations tending to drive all forms of business and industry under the domination of monopoly.

"The Democratic administration seeks to protect small businesses against those great combinations which crush them and drive them out of existence.

Gang Reign Terminated.

"It has terminated the reign of gangsters by destroying the kidnaper, the national bank robber, and the outlaw who seeks refuge in flight to other states from the place of his crime.

"Our platform is to be read in the record of the best national law enforcement ever recorded in the history of our nation.

"It is, of course, impracticable to make reference in this address to all of the features of the Republican platform which invite consideration.

"As an illustration, however, of the attempt to attract support by the announcement of principles which are generally accepted, and concerning which there can be no partisan division, your attention is directed to the "bill of rights" which pledges preservation, protection, and defense against all intimidation and threats, freedom of religion, speech, press, and radio.

"Free Speech Unimpaired."

"There has been no impairment or threat to impair any of them by the Roosevelt administration although the misrepresentation has been made that in some mysterious way they have been disregarded and held in contempt.

"The principal danger to the liberties both of the individual and the masses exists in the power of monopolies and trusts which under the last three Republican administrations thrived and prospered with respect to both production and distribution. Nothing of importance was done, during any one of the three administrations referred to, to check the tendency toward monopoly.

"On the contrary, unfair business practices for the suppression of competition were indulged by large combinations without the slightest interference or restraint. It is at once amusing and shocking to witness this pretended devotion to sacred causes by the delegates to the convention while they paraded and danced to the thrilling strains and inspiring sentiments of the Republican campaign song, 'O, Susanna, Don't You Cry.'

THE CANDIDATES

"Your chairman is prompted by consideration of propriety to bring this speech to a close.

"We do not fear any comparison which the opposition may make. We meet their challenge in the open, face to face. Democrats during the present administration have made a record of great things accomplished.

"We are not discouraged by the obstacles which have been thrown in the way. Our opponents, paralyzed with fear, did not even attempt to overcome the results of their own mistakes and follies when the collapse of 1929 occurred.

"Keynoter Steiwer complains that Mr. Roosevelt, after his election, did not advise President Hoover and coöperate with him in the hours of the latter's extremity and failure.

Lauds Roosevelt.

"Keynoter Steiwer denounces our leader as a President without conscience. President Roosevelt may not possess the kind of a conscience with which Republicans are familiar in their conduct of public affairs.

"He has, however, a conscience which takes note of the distress and helplessness of the feeble and the despairing. A conscience alive to the necessity of maintaining the national honor; of promoting national happiness by repealing laws that have destroyed it, and by advocating measures designed to advance it.

"Mr. William Allen White, sponsor of the Republican candidate, Gov. Landon, characterized his favorite in the article already quoted from as 'the dumb, smiling enigma who has America guessing.'

"That is not my characterization. It is the statement of the candidate's closest friend, made in an effort to prove that in making demands to the committee on platform at Cleveland for the insertion of certain planks and then in yielding those planks his candidate had suddenly demonstrated capacity for leadership.

Denies Dictator Charge.

"Opponents sometimes denounce President Roosevelt as a dictator. No President has demonstrated a kindlier nature or more generous spirit than President Roosevelt. He has maintained amicable relations with every department of the government. If he has been given extraordinary authority by law it is because the congress trusted him and regarded him as the best agent it could find.

"On our record of pledges honestly redeemed, of services faithfully performed and under as gallant a leadership as ever raised a political banner, we advance to the battle of 1936 confident that the voters of the nation will not turn back to the defeated and disheartened leadership which abandoned them when the need for service, loyalty and courage was the greatest ever known."

LANDON PARTY STARTS WEST FOR VACATION

Governor Plans Brief Talk from Train.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Topeka, Kas., June 24.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon and his party left here this evening for Denver, Colo., and the governor's first vacation in four years. The group departed in a special car attached to a Union Pacific train.

The governor plans to go by automobile from Denver to the McGraw ranch, six miles from Estes Park, where he will spend the next two weeks. The rest of his family will spend most of the summer at the ranch.

A crowd of approximately 400 persons, gathered at the station, gave the party an enthusiastic sendoff.

Family Accompanies Governor.

Mrs. Landon and three Landon children, Peggy Anne, 19; Nancy Jo, 3, and John Cobb, 2, with their nurse and Mrs. Landon's private secretary, were among those who accompanied the governor west.

Mrs. Samuel E. Cobb, Mrs. Landon's mother, was in the party, in addition to E. Ross Bartley of Chicago, the governor's press contact man. Other advisers of the governor will visit him in Colorado.

Two extra cars were attached to the train in addition to the governor's special car to accommodate the crowd of newspaper men following the governor.

Colorado Governor Sends Wire.

During the afternoon Gov. Landon received the following telegram from Gov. Ed C. Johnson of Colorado:

"Colorado is distinctly honored and greatly pleased to have so distinguished a guest choose the Rocky mountains for rest and recreation. In this we feel that you have exhibited your usual most excellent judgment. We will deem it a great privilege to be of any assistance to you in any capacity whatsoever during your stay in our mountains. It is our hope that Mrs. Landon, the children, and you yourself thoroughly enjoy your vacation in Estes Park and that all the big fishes will not get away."

"I sincerely appreciate your cordial welcome to Colorado," Gov. Landon wired in answer. "Both Mrs. Landon and I have enjoyed previous visits to the Colorado mountains and naturally look forward with pleasure to our stay this time. On my last visit I was successful in decreasing the population of some of your streams. I am glad to know that you have restocked the streams of Colorado. With highest personal regards to yourself."

Plans Platform Talks.

Gov. Landon planned to say a word of greeting from the back platform of the train to the crowds expected to gather at the stops made during the early evening.

The governor's party plans to stop in Denver only long enough for the press conference which will be held there preceding the drive to the ranch.

Landon plans to return to Topeka July 6 for the opening of the special session of the legislature the following day, but Mrs. Landon will remain at the ranch until the notification ceremonies here July 23. The children will stay at the ranch all summer, under the supervision of Mrs. Cobb.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IS A GUEST OF HOMESTEADERS

Reedsville, W. Va., June 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt mingled again today with the homesteaders of this government sponsored village in the northern West Virginia hills.

The President's wife, who helped the inhabitants dedicate their community vacuum cleaner factory yesterday, came back to present diplomas and talk to the sons and daughters of the one-time coal miners graduating from high school.

She planned to go back tomorrow morning to Washington, and make a visit to Philadelphia, where the Democratic national convention is under way, in the afternoon.

COMMUNISTS VOW 'TO STOP LANDON AT ALL COSTS'

New York, June 24.—(AP)—Definitly placing itself in the presidential fight between the two major parties, the communist party today started a "stop Landon at all cost" movement and sharply attacked President Roosevelt in an effort to drive him to the left.

While the 725 delegates to the party's ninth national convention cheered their approval, Earl Browder, secretary and keynoter of the party, called for the momentary forsaking of the full socialist program in the interest of practical politics.

"Landon Our Chief Enemy."

"The communist party," Browder said, "differentiates between Landon—our chief enemy—and Roosevelt.

"We must fight to take votes from Landon, even though they go to Roosevelt.

"Roosevelt fights reaction only to the degree he needs to hold the leftist forces; to support him invites his further retreat from progressivism."

Browder, almost certain to be the party's candidate for the presidential nomination, indicated that the communists would use their national ticket, recognizing the certainty of success by one of the major parties, to help the Farmer-Labor "People's Front" win local elections.

Foster Opens Session.

The convention was opened by William Z. Foster, national chairman and thrice presidential candidate, calling for an alignment of all the progressive forces of the country to fight Fascism and the dangers of war.

Foster, recovering from a severe illness, has indicated that he will not press his candidacy, leaving Browder, who has taken an increasingly prominent rôle in the party, a clear field.

Barney Baruch Scoffs at Falling Odds on Roosevelt

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Reports that betting odds which had strongly favored Roosevelt were dropping fast in Wall street brought a laugh and a derisive reply today from Bernard M. Baruch.

"Well, take it from one who knows," he said, "don't believe anything that comes out of Wall street.

Mr. Baruch sailed on the Queen Mary with his wife on his way to an Austrian health resort.

HUNT MISSING GIRL.

Mrs. Ella Miavez, 1523 Orchard street, asked police yesterday to search for her daughter Ella, 16 years old, who left home a week ago.

Eddie Dowling Is Master of Ceremonies.

with cheers and adopts the resolution.

Fat Jim Farley takes a seat as just an ordinary delegate with the New York section and is cheered. Iowa starts a song of its own, waving big golden ears of corn. Alice Roosevelt walks down the front aisle. She passes her cousin Elliott but does not see him.

"Ioway—Iowa—that's where the tall corn grows" comes the swelling chorus. Green corn stalks appear and are soon scattered like leaves. There is nothing for Iowa to cheer about now but they are taking the meeting away from the chairman. The pipe organ starts another tune. Horns and sirens begin to sound. The chairman waits patiently for order.

"Quiet for just a moment" he pleads.

Credential Committee Delayed.

The chairman announces that the committee on credentials is not quite ready to report and notifies the chairman of that committee to hurry up. The convention cannot proceed with further business until that report, it is announced.

While waiting for the report the chairman presents Mrs. Helen J. Miller, a delegate from Idaho, who predicts eight votes for Roosevelt "from the fertile prairies of Idaho." Mrs. John Gallaher of West Virginia gives a pep talk about the young people of America rallying to Roosevelt.

Fat Jim Farley goes to the platform to look things over. The stage boxes and every part of the great hall are now filled to capacity.

At 10 o'clock the chairman is ready for business. The committee on credentials is not yet ready. There is no way to determine when it will report. As it had been expected that the permanent chairman would deliver his address by this time the chair announces that he will now recognize Senator Robinson as a delegate from Arkansas and take the liberty of letting him proceed with his speech, though the credentials report is still awaited.

Senator Caraway Leads Escort.

The committee of escort, headed by Senator Hattie Caraway and Gov. J. Marion Futrell, led the way to the platform.

The Arkansas delegates and their flag march forward to drum corps music.

They form a lively parade behind the senator and start a flurry of cheering that threatens to delay the address still further. The parade is joined by yelling delegates from other states. It is a demonstration for Robinson.

They start a march around the hall instead of toward the platform. New York, New Jersey, Michigan join in. Soon thirty standards are on the march. Arkansas and Robinson are spelled out on eight standards. The volume swings higher and higher, lifted by the pipe organ to new heights.

Heads Together

Edward F. McGrady (left), assistant secretary of labor, talking to Senator Robert Wagner, New York, chairman of the platform committee.

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Iowa comes along with its waving corn. All but half a dozen states are now in line. Illinois has not moved yet.

The marching tunes are all mixed, with three bands going at the same time. The cowboy yells are heard above the din. Illinois now comes out, its standard waving high. There are still a few sitting but there is no room for them. The floor is a moving mass of humans. The galleries are on their feet. Torn papers begin to filter down.

Awaits Chance to Begin.

Robinson stands on the platform with Barkley, waiting for a chance to begin. The chairman waves a feeble hand but he might as well try to stop a windstorm.

It is now 10:15. Robinson has been waiting for twelve minutes. The parade shows no signs of weakness. Pennsylvania delegates begin a jig step arm in arm. The gavel is heard but no one pays attention to it. It comes down more insistently.

The chair asks the delegates to take their seats. Yells and more music are the answer. The chair asks the organ and the band to be in order.

The photographers in front of the chair are asked to be seated. The radio time for the Arkansas spellbinder is running.

The delegates seek their seats and untangle themselves as soon as they can. The Arkansas band refuses to come to order. "The sergeants at arms will clear the ailes," is the next order. This is the first time those officials have been called in to action.

Introduced at Last.

At length it is announced that Senator Robinson appreciates the great demonstration, but he begs the delegates to come to order and finally they do. It is 10:23 p. m. when Robinson is introduced as one of the outstanding statesmen of America.

There is still a good deal of disturbance in the hall, but the Arkansan begins his talk. He says that two great Pennsylvanians, Gov. Earle and Senator Guffey, have led a movement that has brought Pennsylvania into the Democratic column. This brings applause.

"At the election in November we expect to repeat that victory," he says. He next mentions his "gallant leader," which brings another cheer.

"The Roosevelt administration," he says, "has faithfully complied with the spirit of the Chicago platform promises." Its partial departure, he explains, has been made necessary by changing conditions.

He is cheered mildly for this statement.

Gloom and Rainbow.

He next launches into a description of the disastrous effects of Republican policies in three administrations. And then he emphasizes the basic attitude of the Democratic campaign—gloom chased away by the rainbow of Roosevelt. Incidentally Mr. Hoover receives the usual castigation.

The Robinson voice is resonant and powerful, much on the order of Senator Barkley's.

Coming to relief and speaking on the Republican proposal that relief control be given back to the states, Mr. Robinson says:

"To require the federal government to provide the funds, and to relinquish all control over their expenditure would be to invite competition among the localities to secure grants from the government, which would result in demands so great that the national credit would be impaired."

Galleries Start Away.

At 11 o'clock, with Robinson about half through his speech, the tramp of outbound feet is heard in the galleries. But the delegate section remains a solid phalanx.

On the budget the speaker declares that the Republican attitude is impossible.

"No one close to the leadership of the Republican party," he says, "regards the proposition as practical in the immediate future." He is referring to the proposal for an immediate balancing of the budget. He says the Roosevelt administration has balanced the budget, "except as to extraordinary expenditures."

"The Democratic party," he declares, "contemplates balancing the budget as promptly as this can be done without permitting citizens who cannot secure private employment to experience suffering from hunger and cold."

This brings a light applause.

Criticizes Supreme Court.

He comes to the Supreme court. He says these decisions are not above factors and causes which naturally influence the minds of human beings. Speaking of the New York minimum wage decision, he says this is repudiated by the bar of the United States.

"O, blind and impartial justice, what blunders are committed in thy name," he thunders.

This brings applause. Much as Barkley did last night, he paints the Republicans as pompous plutocrats, Roosevelt as the friend of the oppressed poor.

Of Roosevelt and the "dictator" charge, Senator Robinson says that no President has demonstrated a kindlier nature or a more generous spirit.

"On our record," he concludes, "we advance to the battle of 1936 confident that the voters of the nation will not turn back to the defeated and disheartened leadership which abandoned them when the need for service, loyalty, and courage was the greatest ever known."

"There never stood beneath the American flag one more loyal to the principles that it symbolizes than the gallant leader of Democracy today" is one sentence that arouses applause.

Convention Recesses.

The cheering at the end is hearty and is soon followed by Pennsylvania's swinging into the aile in lock step. Elliott Roosevelt gets on a chair and holds aloft a Texas flag. Iowa starts the corn song again. The crowd is tired now, and the induction of fresh air and organ music and bands hardly brings this demonstration up to the earlier one.

At 11:40 the chairman announces that the credential committee is ready to report but, because of the lateness of the hour and the probability of discussion on the floor, it will be delayed until 11 a. m. tomorrow. The motion to this effect is carried with a roar and the crowd breaks for the doors.

AFTERNOON SESSION

"I've been working on the railroad all the livelong day," is the favorite song of the delegates as they gather today for their convention session. Some of them have been working all night anyway, or playing, and they are slow in filling up the main floor for this event, which is to be a show without much in the way of serious business.

Tickets for the spectator seats are reported going begging today, and an hour after the official opening time the galleries are only sparsely occupied. The tireless Texas delegation arrives with a cowboy band and livens things up in the front of the hall. Few of the dignitaries of the party are in evidence.

Farley Still Runs Show.

Fat Jim Farley has taken off his frock coat and now has on a brown suit and dark brown shirt. He is still running the show from the platform, however. The delegates yell and dance at the command of the camera men, but the hours of keynoting and celebrating last night have taken the edge off their enthusiasm.

The gavel falls at 1:15 with Temporary Chairman Alben W. Barkley in command. Despite his great speaking effort of last night his voice is still strong and vibrant as he calls upon the delegates to take their seats.

The invocation is given by the Rev. Marshall Shepard, pastor of the Mount Olivet Baptist church of Philadelphia. Dr. Shepard, a colored man, gives thanks for the "magnificent contribution" that both the President and Mrs. Roosevelt have given to the general welfare of this nation. He asks that the words and meditations of the convention be acceptable in the Lord's sight.

Sing Dixie Again.

The Philco Men's Glee club then sings that immortal song, "Dixie," which arouses yells of delight.

The club follows with "Anchors Aweigh," in honor of the President. It has been hoped to make this a theme song, but the delegates do not repeat it.

Cordell Hull, secretary of state and delegate from Tennessee, is recognized. He offers a resolution that the convention give a vote of thanks to Senator Barkley "for the inspiring and statesmanlike quality" of his address last night. The delegates all rise as they adopt the resolution.

Senator Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin is recognized to move a resolution regarding the adoption of rules.

Horner Offers Resolution.

Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois is next recognized. He offers a resolution concerning the disposition of resolutions. The governor speaks from his seat in the Illinois delegation. All the governors present have their moment in the sun, though there's no sun today.

Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana is recognized. His motion concerns the calling of the roll of the states for committee appointments. As the governors make their purely formal motions a man with a traveling microphone stands in front of them, holding up the mouthpiece. This amplifies voices so that they are heard all over the hall. The broadcast operators can switch it on the air if they wish.

Committee Appointments Announced.

Committee appointments are announced from each state in turn. The microphones on traveling cranes are busy all over the hall. Several states give their women delegates the honor of announcing the names.

It is after 2 o'clock before the committee announcements are made.

The galleries by this time are well filled, as it is announced that opera, screen and radio celebrities are soon to appear. The expensive stage boxes, however, remain nearly empty.

There is a sigh of relief when the Virgin Islands are reached on the list.

Committees are ordered to go to work at once, while the mass of the delegates prepare to be entertained.

Delegates are told that the "Honorable Eddie Dowling of New York," chairman of stage and screen for the party, who prepared the entertainment for the New Deal in 1932, is prepared to do so again.

Mr. Dowling then takes the chair. The audience applauds. He asks the "milling delegates" in the ailes to sit down. There are 10,000 or so in the hall by this time.

Indian Princess Sings.

The latest reports on "the bunion derby" are given. They are safely through Yonkers, he says. The first prize is two empty floors in the Empire State building. He introduces "a very charming young lady," an Indian princess from Ardmore, Okla.

"Let's give her a great big hand." The audience needs no urging. The princess is young and has a gorgeous voice, which is soon filling the hall in an Indian love song, accompanied by the pipe organ. She delights the crowd. The princess sings the lovely strains of "By the Waters of Minnetonka." She wears a robe of deerskin.

Chairman Barkley interrupts the entertainment to urge the committee members to leave the show and go to work.

Then Dowling announces that he is going to put on a little amateur entertainment, à la Maj. Bowes. He introduced the "golden voice" of one Bob Mack, in a Negro spiritual. Bob gets a big cheer. Later Dowling introduces several of the radio announcers. Walter Kaltenborn says this convention has several times the life and vigor of the one at Cleveland. John B. Kennedy is called forward. Carleton Smith, another microphone operator, and Boake Carter come forward. Lowell Thomas is next.

Dowling reads a verse about "Five Blind Men," a parody on the Republican theme song. It evidently refers to Al Smith et al. The chair again attempts to drive the rules committee members from the room.

Helen Hughes Sings.

"Putting All Our Eggs in One Basket," is Dowling's next offering in a song from Helen Hughes. The President is the Democratic basket.

The chairman sends Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama out to his committee room.

Following that interruption the choir of young men sings "Home on the Range" and all stand in memory of Will Rogers.

The governor of North Carolina asks to have "Sleepy Valley" sung, but the music is not available.

Chrirman Barkley then asks the audience to stand for a minute in memory of the late Gov. Albert Ritchie of Maryland and the late speaker, Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee.

Recess is taken until 8 o'clock. The chair announces that the meetings will begin promptly. Adjournment is moved by Senator McAdoo.

G. O. P. Workers Exhorted to Put Best in Canvass

Edward F. Moore, chairman of the Cook county Republican central committee, urged party workers last night to put all possible effort into the house to house vote canvass launched last week by the county organization. Mr. Moore spoke before Oak Park township committeemen at 1047 North Kenilworth avenue in Oak Park, and before precinct captains of the Fourth ward at 4900 Cottage Grove avenue.

MRS. ROOSEVELT LAUDED IN TALK BY MISS PERKINS

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chicago Tribune Bureau, Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—Unknown to her, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today became a definite factor in the campaign being launched here for the reëlection of her husband to the presidency of the United States.

It all happened this morning at the first of a series of political workers' breakfasts under the sponsorship of the women's division of the Democratic party.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins finished a fifteen minute address in which she told what the New Deal has done for the working woman. There were state reports and then Miss Perkins, the New Deal's feminine contribution to the cabinet, asked for one more minute.

Goes Out to Meet People.

The minute was granted and she began:

"A woman has been kept away from this convention not by political but by social convention, a woman not restricted by the usual bounds of convention. She is a woman who has recognized that she has a great responsibility to the women of the United States. In the face of unpleasant criticism she has stepped out to meet the people. She has gone sincerely to make it clear that she is a friend and wants to get at the root of her neighbors' troubles and be a channel to the solution of them.

"She is a gallant, courageous, intelligent, wise woman. There will be a choke in many women's throats when they vote for Franklin Roosevelt next November for they will be thinking too of Eleanor Roosevelt."

Miss Perkins' 400 breakfast companions were bound in silence for another moment. Then they broke into a great applause, one of the most spontaneous demonstrations that has characterized this New Deal convention thus far.

Associates Are Moved.

Marion Dickerman, director of the Tod-Hunter school in New York, and Nancy Cook, who runs the Valkill Furniture enterprise—Mrs. Roosevelt's two business partners—were noticeably moved. Miss Cook brushed a tear aside.

It all went to show that the women leaders of the New Deal will "use" Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to the best of their ability the next four months to win votes for President Roosevelt.

In her main address this morning Miss Perkins undertook to explain how the "New Deal has fulfilled its obligation to the working woman."

"First of all, employment, pay rolls, and the earnings of working women have substantially improved in private industry," she maintained. "For example, the employment of women in manufacturing industries in New York state increased 38.5 per cent between March, 1933, and March, 1936, with a corresponding increase of 89 per cent in the weekly pay rolls and 40 per cent in the average weekly earnings."

Tells of WPA Work.

Miss Perkins said that at its peak the PWA gave work to 210,000 women and the WPA as of April 1 of this year was operating projects employing 448,000 women.

Continuing still further, the secretary of labor termed the NRA "one of America's greatest social experiments" and said that as the result of it "more and better labor laws have been passed since the inauguration of the New Deal than in any previous three years in our history."

She contended that the rights of workers, women as well as men, to organize and bargain collectively were defined and strengthened by the Wagner-Connery Labor Disputes act of June, 1935 and she explained that "through six groups of provisions, the social security program safeguards women against the major hazards of life.

"At present 835,000 persons are receiving benefits under this program. Of these 629,000 are old people; 185,000 dependent children; and 21,000 blind persons. By the end of this month the social security board will have distributed in grants to the state 25 million dollars."

The women of the New Deal party heard a second speech by a cabinet member today. Socially prominent Mrs. Edward B. Meigs of Philadelphia and Washington introduced Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper at a luncheon in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

"It is significant that the women are taking such an important part in this convention," Mr. Roper said.

BARKLEY SILENT ON 1932 PLEDGES, SPANGLER NOTES

Economy, Tax Burden and Ruin of Markets Ignored.

The keynote speech delivered before the Democratic convention in Philadelphia by Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky is more significant because of what he omitted than for what he said, in the opinion of Harrison E. Spangler, director of the Republican national committee's western division.

"Senator Barkley's speech reflects an interesting departure from his 1932 keynote in Chicago," Mr. Spangler said yesterday. "In 1932 Senator Barkley promised that the Democratic party would eliminate unnecessary expenditures and make the federal government an example of economy. He has forgotten about such things now.

Some Major Omissions.

"The senator forgot to mention the broken pledges which have characterized the New Deal administration, the increased tax burden on all our people, the abandonment of our home agricultural markets to foreign countries, and the fact that farm products have been imported to an extent that, had the produce been grown in America, 33,000,000 acres would have been utilized.

"Senator Barkley neglected to mention the waste and extravagance of the New Deal, the debauchery of public service, and the repudiation of government promises and the waste and extravagance of the administration.

"He forgot the charges of attempted coercion and bribing of the voters of the country, the flouting of the constitution, and the persistent attempt to take the power of local self-government from the people.

A 30 Billion Oversight.

"In addition the senator forgot that the present administration has spent more money than the combined expenditures of all other administrations from Washington to Wilson. Senator Barkley forgot that the federal debt is now more than the value of all farms and farm equipment in the United States."

Mr. Spangler has been notified by former Ald. A. K. Mose that a Jacob A. Riis Republican league, expected to enroll Danish-Americans throughout the United States, has been formed to support the Landon-Knox ticket. The first meeting of the Chicago branch will be held tomorrow night in Dania hall, 1651 North Kedzie avenue.

Harry S. Ditchburne, Republican candidate for state's attorney, announced last night that a special train carrying Ditchburne supporters will go to Topeka on July 23 for the ceremony of notifying Gov. Alf M. Landon of his nomination as the Republican candidate for President. Mr. Ditchburne said many Republican leaders already have made reservations on the Ditchburne special.

HERE'S WHAT WOMAN CABINET MEMBER DOES AT PARTY CONVENTION

Philadelphia, Pa., June 24.—[Special.]—What a cabinet member does at political conventions is now disclosed. Following her arrival in Philadelphia on Monday and her headlong plunge into the contacts and the events of the political arena, it developed that Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins yesterday called for her car, ordered her chauffeur to drive to one of the larger parks of the city, and halted on a shady drive. She sat there for two hours, reading a book.

Treasurer of Cass County in Michigan Resigns Post

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 24.—[Special.]—Kent Torrey, Cass county treasurer, has submitted his resignation to the county board, effective July 1. He will become postmaster at Dowagiac.

Teacher Fails to Pay Alimony; Sent to Jail

James Barone, 30 years old, a manual training teacher in the Sheldon Prevocational school, was ordered to alimony row in the county jail by Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Superior court yesterday for failure to make a promised $70 payment on the $385 alimony debt to his divorced wife, Mary, 22 years old, 2540 Seminary avenue.

PIKE'S PEAK . . . America's highest mountain highway. A long 11-mile climb . . . yet it can give your engine less of a "beating" than STARTING. When you start your engine, 100 delicate parts whirl into motion. With slow-flowing oils, these parts run "dry" of lubrication! No wonder that so many engines lose their new-car "purr" so quickly.

A SINGLE START can cause more engine wear than CLIMBING PIKE'S PEAK

3/4 of your engine wear can occur in Starting . . . but now a new oil CHECKS THIS WEAR . . .

ENGINEERS NOW POINT OUT that the starting period can cause approximately 75% of engine wear.

It takes about 15 minutes to "warm up" your engine. During this "cold" period, you need a fast-flowing oil . . .

But after your engine is warmed up, you need a TOUGH oil.

The problem has been to combine BOTH qualities in a single lubricant.

At a cost of $3,000,000, Shell has produced such an oil. The new Golden Shell is FAST-FLOWING yet TOUGH.

Oil technicians say the process behind it is the biggest advance in 25 years of oil refining.

And so it is possible for the recommended grade of Golden Shell to:

ADD a year to the life of your engine! SAVE you up to 50% on your yearly engine repair bills. (Many repairs can cost from $10 to $100.) SAVE you a gallon of gasoline in every tankful. (The "drag" of an oil that is too heavy can waste over 5% of your power.)

HAMILTON FINDS FOES AFRAID OF COMING BATTLE

Declares Farley Frightened and Disappointed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, in his first official appearance here today said he never saw "a crowd more scared and less willing to admit it" than the Democratic party.

MRS. ROBERT LINCOLN HOYAL.

In a press conference at the committee's headquarters, which he held standing on a chair, Hamilton said Democratic fears showed in every action and speech of the party. At the same time he reiterated his contention that the west is "in the bag" for the Republican party and his prediction that the party will carry all but six or seven states in November.

Hits Farley's Opener.

Hamilton characterized the Democratic party as the party of fear in commenting on the speech of Postmaster General Farley in opening the Democratic convention and the keynote speech of Senator Barkley of Kentucky.

"I never saw a crowd so politically scared," he declared. "You can see it in every move and in every speech."

Of Farley's opening address he said, "Farley did exactly as I expected—he was disappointed, discouraged and frightened."

Hamilton opened his conference by walking briskly from his office and climbing on a chair. He said he would take the chair because he has always liked to look into the eyes of a speaker and wanted newspaper men to see him.

Sets Acceptance Dates.

Before surrendering himself to questioning, he announced that Frank Knox would accept the vice presidential nomination at Chicago July 30, a week after Gov. Alf M. Landon accepts the presidential nomination at Topeka, Kas. Hamilton said he will speak in Chicago July 2 after an address the night before at Columbus.

He also announced that Mrs. Robert Lincoln Hoyal of Arizona is to be his assistant—the first woman to hold such a post in the party's history. Mrs. Hoyal visited Hamilton before the conference with Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister of the late Vice President Charles Curtis. Hamilton said Mrs. Gann would be active in the campaign in a series of speeches.

Asked for comment on the Barkley and Farley speeches, he made his observation on Democratic fear and added that he, being of a statistical bent of mind, had asked for statistics relative to Senator Barkley's address. He called to a stenographer to have a memorandum brought from his desk.

Checks Up on Pig Killings.

"Senator Barkley said the Democrats had killed 'a few little pigs'," Hamilton said, looking at the memorandum. "Because I have an inquisitive mind I demanded the records, and find they killed 6,446,000 little pigs—one-tenth of the pig population. Senator Barkley said, 'A few rows of cotton' were plowed under. I could only get the figures for 1933, but the New Dealers plowed up so many in that year there were very few left. The records show 10,400,000 acres of cotton were plowed under, and that's a lot of rows. So much for Barkley."

Asked about the New Deal proposal to make money for relief purposes available to North and South Dakota just after the launching of Representative Lemke's third party, Hamilton said, "Even with 4 billion dollars they can't throw 100 million into every doubtful state—it looks very suspicious."

About Republican prospects Hamilton was enthusiastic. He said that what is happening in the country is a complete reversal of 1932 which will bring the Republican party back to its position of 1928. He said the west is in the bag and predicted inroads into the solid south so that only six or seven states will be lost to the G. O. P.

Scoffs at Third Party.

He dismissed the threat of the Lemke third party to the Republicans with, "for every one vote the Republicans will lose the New Deal will lose 6 to 9." He refused to guess how many votes the walk-taking Smith and other conservative Democrats will bring to the Republican party.

Hamilton said he hopes to organize his Chicago offices next week, saying he had selected the Illinois city for the party's headquarters because of its central location. The New York office will direct the Republican campaign in 17 eastern and seaboard states.

The chairman said Landon's campaign plans had not yet been perfected beyond the acceptance speech of July 23.

REP. LEMKE PREDICTS ELECTION WILL GO TO HOUSE FOR DECISION

Greensburg, Pa., June 24.—(AP)—Representative William Lemke, presidential candidate of the new Union party, expressed the opinion today that neither candidate will receive a majority of the electoral college votes and congress may be called upon to decide the election.

The North Dakota farm leader, in an address before a Greensburg luncheon club, attacked both Republican and Democratic parties as "representatives of Wall street."

"This nation is yours and the government is yours," he said. "It does not belong to any politician. Unfortunately, we have been sleeping at the switch and the republic is in danger. We are going in the wrong direction. Wealth has been accumulated in a few hands and we cannot continue to maintain twenty million people on the dole."

COURT UPSETS T. B. TESTING IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Pierre, S. D., June 24.—[Special.]—The state Supreme court dealt a blow to the bovine tuberculosis eradication program, being carried on in South Dakota by state and federal departments of agriculture, when it ruled today that the mandatory testing of cattle cannot be enforced by quarantine power under existing laws.

The decision will prevent the state agriculture department from forcing farmers to submit their cattle herds to tuberculin tests. It will affect litigation in a dozen counties.

LEMKE IS GIVEN RENOMINATION IN N. DAKOTA VOTING

Langer Race Holds Stage in Primary.

Fargo, N. D., June 24.—(AP)—Representative William Lemke, the Union party's candidate for President, was renominated today as the electorate decided congressional, state and county contests in North Dakota's primary elections.

Lemke, who seeks to retain his seat in the house despite his entrance upon the national field, and Representative Usher Burdick, manager of Lemke's presidential campaign, were automatically renominated by the state Republicans, since neither was opposed on the ballot.

Although without opposition, observers professed interest in the vote Lemke would compile as an indication of home state indorsement of his new efforts.

Langer Race Holds Interest.

Chief attention centered on the struggle between Gov. Walter Welford, who was running about two to one over former Gov. William Langer for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. They waged a bitter fight, for to the victor goes the control of the party's dominant unit, the Nonpartisan league.

With 223 out of the state's 2,242 precincts the vote stood: Welford, 14,853; Langer, 8,946.

Gov. Welford's final appeals were made by proxy since he was in Washington, arranging aid for farmers in the drouth scourged districts of the state.

The Democratic gubernatorial contest was between John Moses, "regular" indorsee; Ole Olson, "Progressive" group candidate, and James F. Morrow. In 45 precincts Moses had 838; Olson, 423, and Morrow, 73.

Also before the voters were five proposed constitutional amendments, four 1935 laws referred by petition and two initiated measures.

Illinois Farm Union Backs Lemke.

Kankakee, Ill., June 24.—(AP)—In a resolution adopted here today, the United Farmers of Illinois, state branch of the National Farmers' union, pledged its united support to the Union party ticket headed by Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota and indorsed by Father Charles Coughlin, Detroit's radio priest.

The same resolution condemned both the Republican and Democratic parties" for their failure to aid the farmer and carry out platform pledges."

PICKET CHARGED WITH MURDER IN STRIKE BATTLE

Portsmouth, O., June 24.—(AP)—Sherif Arthur Oakes filed a first degree murder charge late today against James Sexton, 51, in the slaying of George Meyers, 38, Wheeling Steel corporation guard, who was shot to death in a battle at the strike-closed plant here yesterday.

Sexton, a picket for the striking Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers, pleaded not guilty on arraignment before Magistrate E. L. Benner, and was held without bond.

Sherif Oakes and Prosecutor Emory Smith said Sexton was seen with a gun following the outbreak that took Meyers' life and resulted in the wounding of four other persons.

The battle broke out when company guards attempted to transport food from one section of the steel mill to another where 200 maintenance employés have been working.

Although National Guard observers reported to Adjt. Gen. Emil Mark at Columbus that the strike scene was quiet tonight, there remained an undercurrent of tension. Heavy picket lines surrounded the steel works.

Seventeen Pickets Arrested.

Camden, N. J., June 24.—[Special.]—Seventeen men and a woman were arrested today and charged with disorderly conduct while picketing the plant of the Victor division of the RCA-Victor Manufacturing company, where a strike began yesterday. Police said they were blocking entrances and hooting persons going to work.

Union leaders said that about 8,000 of the 12,400 employés were on strike but a company official said only about 2,500 failed to report. Members of the Electrical and Radio Workers of America, the union, seek a 20 per cent wage increase and a closed shop.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

THE COLLEGE OF HARD KNOCKS

by CALEB

THE president of a large corporation was quoted some time ago as saying that the College of Hard Knocks is dead. He contrasted the old days with the present.

It is conceded that some of the difficulties faced by former generations of business men have passed. It is so with everyone. Laborers have shorter hours, less gruelling tasks, better living conditions. The housewife likewise. The average business man is free of the necessity for blinding himself by candlelight and shaving out of an icy basin.

But business is still a competitive free-for-all. The innovations and inventions which have lessened men's toil have also made one's career more hazardous. Competition in the old days, whether of the business or the individual, was no more dangerous and sure-fire than brains plus livery rigs and coal-burning locomotives. Today, competition's brains are supplemented with aids which are lightning-like and explosive.

Once business took its tempo from the slowly rounding seasons of agriculture. Now, the commercial effort and salesman-power of old have been stepped up with semi-scientific merchandising and formulated selling. They utilize means and methods as rocking as dynamite, as volatile as mercury, and as quick-acting as arsenic.

The man who made his way through the oldtime College of Hard Knocks needed stamina, to be sure, but he didn't need to think or act generally with machine gun rapidity. His competition had not at its disposal the airplane, the telegraph, the cable, the long distance telephone, the teletypewriter, fast express, fast automobiles, nationally circulated publications, newspapers that blanket their communities, the radio.

The business man of old to a large extent had new frontiers being pushed forward from decade to decade. Behind these, populations mounted and made business success possible simply by the duplication or enlargement of the same old method. Thus many great successes were built by processes no more complex than addition.

Today, it is true, the College of Hard Knocks—as it means physical hardships—is dead. But the business man today must be more adroit, more aware, more constantly alert than of old. We believe the young man who wishes to enjoy success must do about the same things in any generation. He must know more and use his knowledge more aggressively than his average competitors. Inasmuch as every generation has its quota of ambitious men, anyone who gains reasonable success probably gets his full share of mental and spiritual—if not physical—abrasions.

We believe the young people in our store who are going to succeed to high places will put in relatively as much effort as did the men and women who preceded them in those high places.

BORROW WITNESS IN DIVORCE SUIT; THEN EXCUSE HER

Fear First Answer Won't Help Case.

Because a witness, obligingly loaned to the plaintif by the defense, unexpectedly refused to switch sides in the Superior court of Judge Rudolph F. Desort yesterday, John Jerome Finlay, advertising man, must now wait longer for the divorce he is seeking.

Finlay filed his suit alleging desertion against his wife, the former Jane Scriven, last Feb. 10, six days after the dismissal of her divorce suit brought in Kane county, which was contested by Finlay on the ground that he was no longer a resident of that county.

Wife Appears in Court.

Settlement of the divorce case has been delayed because of the couple's court fight over the custody of their daughter, Barbara, 6 years old, who lives with her mother in Scarborough, N. Y. Mrs. Finlay, who had been absent from previous hearings, appeared in court yesterday. Her attorneys, John K. Newhall and Leonard C. Mead, asked that the divorce hearing be held immediately.

"But we came here today prepared only for the hearing of our child custody petition," protested Finlay's lawyer, Robert Cantwell Jr.

"We'll lend you a corroborating witness," Newhall replied.

Finlay took the stand and testified that he and his wife were married in Chicago on Oct. 24, 1928, and that she deserted him on July 29, 1934, taking their child with her to New York. He testified that he earns $600 a month, and that he desires custody of the child.

Wife's Sister on Stand.

Finlay was followed to the stand by his "borrowed witness," his estranged wife's sister, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Scrivner Bassett, 37 East Schiller street.

Mrs. Bassett testified that Mr. and Mrs. Finlay had not lived together for nearly two years.

"Did she have any reason to leave?" Attorney Cantwell asked.

"Must I answer that?" Mrs. Bassett asked. Judge Desort nodded.

"I'll withdraw the witness and bring my own later," Cantwell said hastily, apparently sensing that the testimony would not have aided his client's case. Efforts to prove up the divorce case were then abandoned and at Judge Desort's suggestion the lawyers turned to the question of a fair division of Barbara's custody.

Unable to Reach Agreement.

Finlay insisted on custody of the child throughout the school year, agreeing that his wife might see Barbara as often as she liked during that time and have her during the school vacations. The lawyers announced that they had reached an impasse, whereupon Judge Desort continued the hearing until next Wednesday.

Mrs. Finlay made her debut in Chicago society in 1923. She is the daughter of William H. Scriven, who was killed in an automobile accident in 1927. Her marriage to Mr. Finlay, in the home of Mrs. Ogden T. McClurg at 209 Lake Shore drive, was a social event of 1928.

SUICIDE VERDICT RETURNED.

A verdict of suicide was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death of Anthony Winiecki, 48 years old, 1526 North Ashland avenue, who on April 24 wounded his wife, Antoinette, and then killed himself.

$400,000 JEWELS AND CASH STOLEN FROM COE HOME

Burglars Evade Dogs and 41 Servants.

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—More than $400,000 in jewelry and cash was stolen today by a burglar who raided the palatial country home of William Robertson Coe Sr., wealthy sportsman and capitalist, in Upper Brookville, N. Y., while Mr. and Mrs. Coe and their many servants were asleep.

Most valuable item in the list of stolen articles was a pearl necklace valued by Mr. Coe at $300,000. The thief apparently gained entrance by climbing a concrete pillar to the roof of a porch where he entered the second floor through a screen door.

After looting the bedrooms in which Mr. and Mrs. Coe were asleep he escaped without being noticed by the numerous watchdogs and armed guards that are kept on the estate.

Found Upon Arising.

Mr. Coe discovered the theft when he arose at 7:30 a. m. today. Observing immediately that his room had been disturbed, he made a hurried check and discovered that a gold traveling clock bearing his initials, a gold cigaret case, a revolver, and a wallet containing $625 were gone.

He immediately aroused Mrs. Coe, who discovered that two silken bags containing her jewels had been taken from a dresser in her bathroom, along with a purse containing $75 in cash.

In addition to the pearl necklace, worth a fortune in itself, Mrs. Coe lost a smaller pearl necklace, a diamond ring and a platinum wedding ring, each valued at $38,000, a pearl bracelet, a smaller diamond ring and an antique ring.

41 Servants in Place.

The investigators were told that besides Mr. and Mrs. Coe there were nine servants sleeping inside the house and thirty-two in the various outbuildings of the large estate when the burglary occurred.

As soon as the burglary became known, popular rumors attributed the job to the notorious "ghost burglar" who has been blamed for many similar occurrences in Nassau county.

Mr. Coe inherited a large sum of money on the death of his first wife, Mrs. Mai Coe, a daughter of the late Col. H. H. Rogers, Standard Oil magnate. His second wife is Mrs. Caroline Graham Slaughter Coe of Charleston, S. C.

At Beaver Brook farm, home of Mrs. Irving Cox, widow of the late millionaire, the jewel thief got by five servants, a half dozen dogs, and a lawn filled with bridge players and escaped with jewels valued at $20,000, it was reported today.

REPORT HITLER INTENDS TO VISIT DUCE ON CRUISE

Nazis Hear Italo-German Alliance Is Near.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 24.—An Italo-German alliance loomed again on the political horizon today. Reports spread that Reichsfuehrer Hitler soon will sail for the Mediterranean aboard his luxury yacht-dispatch boat Grille and call on Premier Mussolini.

The arrival in Berlin and formal reception of Gen. Guiseppe Valle, Italian undersecretary of aviation, coming on top of a protracted visit in this capital by Countess Galeazzo Ciano, daughter of Mussolini, added to the belief a pact between Germany and Italy soon will be concluded.

Officially it was admitted the fuehrer is going on a cruise, but it was asserted the details of his destination are unsettled because it is a vacation tour "to provide the Fuehrer with a real test."

"Bluffed by Mussolini."

SAWLEY, Derbyshire, England, June 24.—(AP)—The British government, David Lloyd George said tonight, was "bluffed by Mussolini," in its decision to lead a move for lifting of sanctions against Italy.

"I saw the white feather embroidered across the Union Jack," Britain's world war prime minister said. "I am one of the many millions in this land who are humiliated by the spectable."

Referring scathingly to what he called the government's "betrayal of Ethiopia," Lloyd George declared: "They had three foreign ministers undertaking the task, but one after another threw in his hand because he was afraid to tackle the job."

Hits British "Impotence."

He asserted there was no sympathy anywhere on earth for the Italian invasion of Ethiopia.

"We are told," Lloyd George said, "if you threaten sanctions against an aggressor he may hit you in the eye. But is it really coming to this—that Britain won't do its duty for fear of a black eye?

"We seem to be impotent with the whole British empire behind us, impotent against one man—bluffed by Mussolini, fooled by Laval [former Premier Pierre Laval of France who opposed the most severe penalties against Italy]."

Italy Reviews Situation.

ROME, June 24.—(AP)—An Italian memorandum, concerning the whole situation created by the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, was presented to the league of nations at Geneva today by the Italian government.

Well-informed sources said the memorandum asked the creation of a commission to study the situation but without the power to go to Ethiopia.

The effect of the request, it was said, would be to postpone the discussion of the recognition of the new Italian empire until a later date than the forthcoming meetings of the league council and assembly in the hopes of obtaining a more favorable sentiment.

Lieut. Col. Oscar Engler Heads Reserve Officers

A CASE OF GOOD JUDGMENT

AMERICAN FLEET PAYS TRIBUTE TO DEPARTING CHIEF

Admiral Hepburn 'Takes Over' from Reeves.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Pedro, Cal., June 24.—[Special.]—To the same pipes of the boatswain's whistle that have governed 160 years of happenings aboard American warships, command of the United States fleet today passed from Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, master strategist and master builder of naval air power, to Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, seaman, tactician, administrator, and reputedly the American navy's wisest man in the ways, the winds, the islands, shores, and peoples of the Pacific.

The ceremonies terminated two years for Admiral Reeves in the high command of United States forces afloat. In this period, during which America's might on the deep was given into his charge for expansion and development, the efficiency attained by the armada now based off San Diego and San Pedro, particularly prowess in the air, brought respectful notice from foreign shores lapped by both the Pacific and the Atlantic.

Former Illinois Boy.

When the ships of the fleet roared their seventeen guns for the departing admiral and that one-time Whiteside county, Ill., boy ordered his blue flag with the four white stars hauled down from the main truck of the flagship Pennsylvania there was a bit of tremor in the last salute tendered by the twenty-one admirals and one brigadier general of marines standing stiffly opposite Reeves on the forecastle deck.

In reading the orders from President Roosevelt directing him to command, Admiral Hepburn paid a tribute to Admiral Reeves.

"We of the fleet," he said, "know that each succeeding commander-in-chief puts his imprint upon the men and the ships of the fleet. In my experience, no commander-in-chief has left more vivid or personal imprint than Admiral Reeves. Two years have been too short for all his efforts and plans to come to full fruition. It shall be my earnest decision to advance these efforts and plans."

Receives Spontaneous Tributes.

Three dramatic and unusual tributes were accorded the tall, erect, white bearded, departing commander-in-chief. One of these was when squadrons of navy aircraft roared over the commander's flagship and dipped their wings. The departing admiral, who spent two spans of his forty-six year naval career as a flying admiral, in command of the navy's air forces aloft, looked up and saluted in return.

As Admiral Reeves, no longer in gold braid, but in gray civvies, halted at the top of the gangplank to give his last salute to Old Glory, the 1,250 blue jackets of the Pennsylvania broke into three lusty and spontaneous cheers. Their old chief took off his fedora, waved in greeting, and inclined his head to the enlisted men.

Then he clambered down the gang plank where officers of his staf performed their tribute. These officers had changed into white shirts and white trousers, and themselves manned the red and blue sweeps of the Pennsylvania's twelve oar cutter to row their "old man" ashore in person.

Automatically Retired.

Admiral Reeves becomes 64 years old, the navy's automatic retiring age, on Nov. 20. He goes to Washington for duty until that date.

Admiral Hepburn was born in Carlisle, Pa., on Oct. 15, 1877. He entered Annapolis in 1893, graduating with the class of '97. He was a member of the American Naval staf at three international conferences. He has commanded naval vessels of every type, including the combined submarine forces. During the Cuban war, Admiral Hepburn was decorated for saving the lives of sailors on the burning Spanish cruiser, the Viscaya.

DELIVER FIRST OF NEW BRITISH TORPEDO BOATS

PORTSMOUTH, England, June 24.—(AP)—The first of six new motor torpedo boats which British experts assert are likely to revolutionize naval design and construction was handed over the admiralty today.

The craft, which will be inspected by King Edward VIII. June 30, maneuvers so deftly it is considered invulnerable to air attack. It can make more than 40 miles an hour.

Carrying a crew of 10, the vessel is equipped with two torpedoes, which may be fired by radio, and light gun armament. Eighteen of the boats, it is said, can be built at the cost of a single destroyer.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking acids and wastes out of the blood. A healthy person should pass about 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, waste stays in the body and may become poisonous. It may start nagging backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't let it lay you up.

Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

MATE IN SNAKE DEATH FAINTED, AVERS WITNESS

Los Angeles, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—Robert S. James, much married master barber, collapsed when the body of his last wife, Mary, was found in the fish pond of their suburban home last August, a witness testified today at his murder trial.

James, who told one state alienist he had been married seven times, is accused of killing his wife by thrusting her bare leg into a box holding two large rattlesnakes and then drowning her in a bath tub. The state, seeking the death penalty, charges he took out $20,000 insurance on her soon after they were married July 19, 1935.

Viola Pemberton, striking blonde, testified she was invited with her husband to the James home for dinner last Aug. 5. They could not find Mrs. James when the arrived, she said.

James searched the interior of the house, said Mrs. Pemberton, while her husband looked outdoors.

"Come out here quick—she's in the fish pond, and I think she's dead," Mrs. Pemberton said her husband shouted when he found Mrs. James' body.

"What will I ever do without her," Mrs. Pemberton said James exclaimed when he saw his wife immersed in the pond, her yellow hair entangled with lily pads.

He collapsed and later was treated by a physician, she said.

The state's star witness is expected to be Charles Hope, ex-sailor, who has pleaded guilty in the case.

REARMED BRITAIN CAN AVERT WAR, HOARE DECLARES

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, June 24.—Declaring his determination to speed Great Britain's rearmament program and defend the navy against aerial attack, Sir Samuel Hoare, first lord of the admiralty, told a meeting of the Royal Empire society tonight that if the British army, navy, and air force are adequately strengthened in time there is going to be no world war.

"We are rearming to end the drift toward war," he said, "and British rearmament will prove for ourselves and the world the best possible treatment for the morbid and pathological state of the world that now encourages this dangerous talk about the inevitability of war.

Discusses Aerial Problem.

"If a well balenced fleet, capable of defeating the enemy and keeping the sea open, is equipped to go anywhere, whether in wide oceans or narrow seas, concentrated upon its three essential duties of cover, cruising, and convoy, if such a fleet could be built in time, there is going to be no world war."

Discussing the problem of an aerial attack on the fleet, Hoare said:

"If I am asked whether the advent of air power has changed the functions of the navy and made it impossible to build a fleet that can carry out its traditional duties, my answer is 'no.'

Cites American Plea.

Hoare declared his advisers are determined to "make the fullest possible use of air power, the very power that is assumed to have made the surface ship an antiquated anomaly, to make the new fleet once again predominant and the mobilest force of peace in the world."

The league of nations, no less than the world of the nineteenth century, "depends upon a strong British navy as one of the great factors of peace," said the first lord of the admiralty.

"This fact, it is interesting to note," he continued, "is attracting attention in the United States of America. I observe in the current number of the chief journal of the American Navy league a plea for coöperation between the British and American navies to make a future war impossible. Let us take note of it with interest and sympathy."

POPE BIDS CLERGY TO FIGHT AGAINST GROWTH OF EVILS

VATICAN CITY, June 24.—(AP)—Pope Pius told members of his hierarchy today evil customs are "increasing frightfully."

"Often," he said, "they come in the guise of art, amusement, and modernity."

They insinuate, he added, "dangerous germs into the people which attack the sobriety of customs, the observance of divine and human laws, the sanctity and fecundity of the family, and the innocence of youth."

Speaking to the 17 cardinals and 250 bishops who gathered to congratulate him on his recent entrance into his eightieth year, his holiness charged them to persevere in their labor for "perfection and diffusion of religious teachings and various initiatives for the education of the youth and the people."

The pope recalled the enthusiastic demonstration of Catholic action when he celebrated his 79th birthday and urged the prelates to work with that lay organization "carefully and precisely" for the defense of morality. That, he said, is the "treasure castle of national prosperity."

BY MR. ROOSEVELT AS TOLD TO KEYNOTER BARKLEY.

Senator Barkley, keynoter, and Mr. Farley, the fat Tammany national chairman, all dressed up in a frock coat, got great applause in their addresses to the Roosevelt convention. That could hardly have astonished either Mr. Barkley or Mr. Farley. They were addressing a convention which contains more pay dirt than was ever before carted into a hall for nominating purposes.

The statistics of these patriots reveal that about two-thirds of them are on public pay rolls. If they are to remain in close touch with the public treasury they'll have to put Mr. Roosevelt over again. The other third of the delegates are probably the beneficiaries of cotton and hog checks and sugar millions. Pay rollers can make a great deal of noise applauding the per diem.

When Herr Goebbels and Herr Goering work up a meeting for der Fuehrer, the enthusiasm is guaranteed in advance with salutes and Heil Hitlers nicely timed to fit in at the appropriate moments. Mr. Farley can do quite as good a job with the aid of the federal pay rolls. The gathering in Philadelphia demonstrates this and resembles meetings in various parts of Europe where a species of Rooseveltianism prevails.

Senator Barkley, keynoter, had the advantage of knowing that his chief, who was the subject of his eulogy, approved of what was to be said. Mr. Roosevelt was one of the collaborators in the preparation of the eloquence and he was satisfied when he okayed the description of himself as another Washington, another Jackson, and another Lincoln. Mr. Roosevelt at least knows how to pick distinguished company. Even with all these advantages the keynoter had a tough job when he was put out in front to glorify the inglorious revolution. The difficulties speak for themselves.

Mr. Roosevelt took hold of a depression and intensified it. Because the national emergency was great he had the support of citizens without regard for party lines. He soon proved that he did not merit this, but he had it. Neither he nor any of his supporters can justly complain that the new administration was opposed by unfair critics or not given the encouragement a sound state of patriotism would require.

The Democratic majority in congress was topheavy and the few Republicans remaining in the party of opposition did not try to obstruct but rather supported the proposals which came from the White House. Later many of these Republicans were embarrassed because they had consented to sink their partisanship for what was believed to be a sincere effort to relieve the national distress. Some of them even impaired their future usefulness in the party.

There had been no such consideration given Mr. Hoover when he was struggling with the national problem, now so glibly attributed entirely to the malevolence of the Republican party in the administration of the government. Mr. Roosevelt's refusal to lend a hand between his election and his inauguration was forgotten and the nation rallied to its chief in misplaced confidence but in fair spirit. Only when it was plain that the government was in control of either light headed or dangerous men did the opposition arise, and then it was a duty.

Mr. Barkley tried to patent humanity in Mr. Roosevelt's name. This is not 1932. It is 1936. It is Mr. Roosevelt's depression. His revolution stood in the way of natural recovery. Such improvement as has occurred has been in spite of and not because of New Deal measures. If Americans had never heard of the New Deal their liberties would be secure and their prosperity reëstablished. Every region in the country, except such states as always get and never pay, is wondering how it can raise money for the New Deal needy.

Through Mr. Barkley's speech Mr. Roosevelt started to feel out the sentiment of the country on the constitution, the Supreme court, and the prospects of a vote of approval for removing obstructions to the development of the Hitlerized state. The country may note the suggestion that the federal regulation of commerce be extended to the control of production for trade. That would sweep all industry in the country into the Washington dust pan. The country may also note the hint that changes in the Supreme court may make the constitution flexible enough for all the purposes of the New Deal in the future. These are revelations of purpose.

The Roosevelt revolution will feel out the ground. It may or may not say what it has in mind. That does not matter. The country was deceived once. A masquerade will not fool it again. It does not believe that Mr. Roosevelt is either Washington or Lincoln. It knows he is Mr. Roosevelt.

NO MORE PAX BRITANNICA.

Laborites heckling the British prime minister and the foreign secretary, Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Eden, in the house of commons and jeering the failure of their attempts to keep Italy out of Africa were in fact crowing over the fall of British imperial prestige. The days when a British naval squadron could enforce the pax Britannica are gone. Or will the future say only suspended?

Mr. Eden's face was flushed and Mr. Baldwin was at bay. Sanctions had been proved a failure. Great Britain had said no, emphatically no, to Italy and had moved her once dominating naval strength into the Mediterranean. Sir Samuel Hoare was fired from the foreign office because he would have compromised with Mussolini. Great Britain stood in the way to Africa. The Italian must yield. He didn't. He pushed the British aside, told the league of nations to watch its step, went in and has what he wanted.

Not since the British took Canada and India had any one been able to do that. Even before Pitt, Louis XIV. couldn't do it. Napoleon couldn't. Although William II. of Hohenzollern nearly succeeded, he didn't. Mussolini isn't the better man of them all, but he won where they failed, or has won to date, and there must be some explanations.

The British people have not forgotten their latest war. They may wonder now more than they did at the time why they had to suffer in it. They may not recall the old rule of British supremacy, to crack down on any budding challenge of the mistress of the seas before it became really formidable. They do not want another war. When Baldwin had to choose between Eden the leaguist and Hoare the practical man, public opinion forced the decision which played with the league, trusted to sanctions, and resulted in failure.

Mr. Baldwin, having picked a wrong horse in the league and finished last, may easily pick another one. The great military nations of the world are not contrite. Japan is peering over the British fences in the far east just as Italy is in Africa. No one knows what Germany will do. Mr. Baldwin, wooing Herr Hitler, says it can be of the greatest good or the greatest damage in the world. Then the great empire is no longer an empire. The old colonies, now commonwealths, might stand aloof. They do not help make decisions and they might refuse consequences. If, on a test, they did not come to the front Great Britain would again be an insular kingdom.

Then there is the question of sea power. Wise admirals in these changing days say they would make a test of it only in the strictest need. A mistake might be fatal. Great Britain should make the test to save Ethiopia from Italy. Not if a conservative ministry had any regard for their trusteeship. Whatever may be all the explanations, prestige was staked on a risky experiment which did not work and Great Britain cannot command a pax Britannica merely by moving her fleet to another station. If the old power is not gone it has at least become so uncertain of itself that it retreats rather than advance.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS.

Mr. John Rees, director of the citizens' committee on public expenditures, has called attention again to the slipshod methods of bookkeeping employed by many of the local governments. He was commenting on the recent order issued by Judge Trude holding the present county treasurer and his predecessor guilty of contempt for failing to pay to the village of Broadview $11,000 in special assessment funds which had been collected. A somewhat similar complaint is found in the suit filed in the federal District court by the Chase National Bank of New York asking an accounting from the city of special assessment funds against which bonds held by the bank were issued.

Cynics will say that there is no cure for the disease. They will diagnose financial irregularity as an inevitable accompaniment of politics, which has been encouraged in recent years by the loose management of federal accounts. They may be right, but there is no reason for despair without even an attempt to improve matters. In some communities the accounts of the local governments are properly handled and there is no reason to think that Chicago and Cook county cannot do as well.

It has been said often that the election of the various treasurers by popular vote is an absurdity. They are administrative officers who have nothing to do with policy-making and they ought therefore to be chosen either by appointment or by promotion through the civil service. This is all true and it suggests one means by which the accounting might be improved. It is not the only means. If the taxpayers of the community insist upon competence in the financial offices they can get it. Government services are always just about as efficient and as honest as the voters want them to be. This does not excuse officials who neglect their duties, but it does point the way to permanent betterment through organization and education of the citizens.

WANT TO BE A SUPERDRIVER?

[Peoria Transcript.]

Supermen are scarce, but almost any one can be a superdriver. Achieving this high rating is all a matter of following a few simple rules. There are ten of these rules. They are:

1. Always drive at a speed which will permit you to stop within the assured clear distance ahead. If you don't get in a jam you won't have to get out of one.

2. Never overtake a car unless you are positive there is ample space ahead; that means, of course, never on a curve or a hill.

3. Slow down when approaching all intersections, including private driveways, and thus have your car under complete control and prepared to stop.

4. Slow down when approaching any child or pedestrian and thus be prepared for any unexpected movement.

5. Keep your brakes and lights, in fact, your entire car in good condition, as safe a condition as when it was new.

6. Stop on red trafic signals and stay stopped until the light has turned green. Rushing signals invites disaster.

7. Come to a dead stop at stop signs because the other fellow has the right of way.

8. If you have been drinking, don't drive. Of course, you believe you are sober, but the evidence is all against sober drivers who have been drinking.

9. Slow down to compensate for slippery streets caused by rain, snow, or ice.

10. Slow down when driving at night. There is no substitute for daylight when it comes to visibility.

These sound like childishly simple rules. But if all motorists had observed them 37,000 persons killed in motor accidents last year might now be alive.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

THE GRAVE QUESTIONS of the hour, the stability of this great republic, the farm question, the economic problems and what to do about the white collar citizen and the forgotten man, are being settled this week in Philadelphia by the Mummers' Parade, baseball games, a rodeo, symphony concerts, street fairs, prize fight, pie eating contests, and Whoa-Whoa, the Educated Horse. It's a good way to settle our great national problems. But it's going to be a trifle hard for Mr. Roosevelt. He's got to play against a lot of opposition. Now, take me; I love to see Mr. Roosevelt's sweet, genial, "my fre-eunds" smile, but, honestly, if I were down in Philadelphia I would rather go over and see Whoa-Whoa, the Educated Horse, or gaze on Bosco, good old Bosco (he eats 'em alive, alive).

MR. FARLEY AND MR. HAMILTON have got me all mixed up. I keep thinking they're the candidates for President, they're so doggoned active and have their pictures in the papers so much. When I was a small boy I yearned to be President of the United States. Now if I were a small boy again I would rather be the campaign manager. He's the one that gets all the limelight and the center of the stage.

RUNAWAY RIVERS.

Of all the loveliness I have known,
Springing from fields of gold corn sown;
Or a sun that swings by a silver cord—
A pendulum for the timeless Lord,—
There is a beauty far past dreams—
That of the ceaseless singing streams;—
Rivers that pulse past sod and root,
Catching the gleam of stars that shoot
Far through the sublimity of space,—
Messengers from their ancient place.

Above all beauty that I have seen
Of winter snow, of summer green,
Like silver arrows bound by quivers
Is the loveliness of the running rivers,—
Landlocked and yet forever free,
With fingers and feet in hill and sea;—
Beauty that runs from beginning to end,
Bending always as the rivers bend,—
Rivers that soothe and shame our strife—

ABORIGINE.

‡

AND NOW THE QUESTION IS RAISED by some of the observers down in Philadelphia if the movement to do away with the three-fourths rule and come back to the majority system doesn't mean that President Roosevelt is looking for a third term. Oh, mercy, no! Franklin Delano is not looking further ahead than the very minute the polls close next November. It's the second term that bothers him, not the third.

‡

THERE'S BEEN SO MUCH SAID about Thomas Jefferson at the convention that a movement on the part of many Democratic delegates from the rough and woolly sections of the country to nominate Mr. Jefferson for the vice presidency had to be hurriedly headed off. Leaders of the convention sent word to the Jefferson plotters that Thomas was dead. It was a great shock. Many of the delegates are making plans to attend the funeral.

BUBBLES.

Joy is fleeting, hearts must sever,
Kisses cannot last alway.
Love you swore would live forever
You will wake without, some day.

So, when you would sin, and sinning,
Plead your love to prove it right,
Oh, remember! Love can blossom,
Bloom and vanish in the night.

"COLLEGE STUDENTS would fare better and live longer," says Dr. L. S. Katzoff of the San Francisco Institute of Human Relations, "if they were taught the consequences of tactfulness and pancakes rather than trigonometry and Latin." But that's the trouble; you can teach a college student trigonometry and Latin and Greek and calculus and things like that, but you can never teach him to be tactful. "What you tryin' to do," he would say; "make a sissy outta me?" Tactfulness seems a little difficult for all us Americans. In place of saying that we are going to try and placate the other fellow by tactfulness we like to say, "And if he can't see things the right way, I'll bust him in the snoot." Judges down in St. Louis decided several weeks ago that motorists were absolutely devoid of tact and that it caused much trouble when there was even a slight accident. Both motorists usually yell at each other, "Say, you big boob, what are you a trying to do? Why don't you learn to drive?" No, I don't believe tactfulness can be taught to college students or anybody else—you have to be born with it.

WOE THE JOINT.

Oh day of mourning, would that I could see
The hangout or the joint of yesterday,
Where beer was served and sipped in lieu of tea
And where with song we chased our blues away.
Where can I meet my spongy friends again,
Who sopped up beer like blotters sop up ink?
And mooched a dime for carfare home; and then,
Upon the sly called for another drink.
Repeal has made our backroom disappear.
The lighted halls where the respected dine
Now serve the fiery liquors without fear.
Oh woeful joint, you're like the swinging door;
You came, you flourished, but you are no more.

WILLIAM J. MCGUIRE.

‡

AND I SHOULDN'T WONDER a bit, but I wouldn't bet on it, that a Mr. Roosevelt will be nominated as presidential candidate by the Democrats now in convention at Philadelphia.

KEEP BLOOD VESSELS OPEN.

THE water supply of a great city, a village, or a farm is safeguarded as a public health measure. But water for home use is relatively minor in importance when compared with blood that must reach every tiny living cell within the body. Good circulation depends upon [1] a normal pumping chamber [the heart], [2] good food to feed the blood forming organs, and [3] a sufficiency of blood vessels of adequate caliber. Just as we must make certain that water pipes cannot become clogged so we must see to it that arteries shall remain free and open for the passage of blood.

There are some diseases that bring about narrowing of the blood carrying channels. Within recent years one of these, thromboangiitis obliterans or Buerger's disease, has been brought forcibly to our attention because of the occurrence of many cases of gangrene [death] of the tissues of the extremities—the toes and the feet particularly.

Just what happens? Generally, the inner lining of the arteries becomes greatly thickened. Because of this excess production of tissue within the vessels themselves the diameter becomes so narrowed that the flow of blood is greatly retarded, even to the point of clotting. The whole business appears to start in the delicate lining membrane. At any rate, the arteries are more frequently affected and if enough of them leading to a certain area become plugged, gangrene due to the shutting off of circulation may follow. In other words, cells—if cut off from a continuous supply of new blood—will perish.

Obvious symptoms of Buerger's disease usually manifest themselves first as pain in the legs and feet, the left side chiefly. These may be dismissed by the patient as unimportant twinges or cramps of rheumatic origin. On reflection, the patient will often admit that he had noticed for some time a feeling of discomfort or fullness when compelled to remain standing for any length of time. Sometimes the sensations are merely of coldness and numbness. As the disease progresses, however, the limb changes in color and is pale when elevated, but reddish to purplish when lowered. Many afflicted individuals will visit one shoe shop after another believing that the trouble is with their footwear. The condition may progress slowly for months or even a few years before it is identified. It is this gradual type of onset that is so characteristic, sudden blocking of an artery being unusual.

Care must be taken not to confuse Buerger's disease with flatfoot, rheumatism, local inflammation, arteriosclerosis, or swelling of the extremities caused by heart failure or kidney disease. An excellent aid is the skin thermometer by means of which differences in temperature of the feet will be disclosed. A foot that becomes reddish or bluish after walking and that blanches when elevated should be regarded with suspicion.

Much can be done to prevent the disease. In all probability, the continuous and excessive use of tobacco is responsible for some blood vessel damage. With the first symptoms [intermittent pain or changes in color] it is well to cut the tobacco consumption sharply. A plan in which the extremities will be warmed by means of some type of electric baking apparatus should then be adopted. Heat applications twice daily of one-half to one hour each are of great value. Immersing the parts alternately in hot and cold water as an occasional procedure is suggested.

The objective is to improve the circulation of the affected limb to the point where it is practically normal. Even though some blocking of the blood vessels has occurred, with the stimulation afforded by heat, new channels, sufficient to maintain circulation, may form. The employment of a type of suction apparatus has been found to be of aid in a few cases. The primary rules of hygiene—keeping the feet warm, clean, and dry, using properly fitting shoes, and avoiding constricting garters — must be observed strictly. In advanced cases typhoid vaccine or removing certain ganglia of the sympathetic nervous system may be resorted to.

Just what causes Buerger's disease is not clear. It is probably due to some infection, although the influence of toxins, such as tobacco, lead, and alcohol, is recognized. A large proportion of the cases may be prevented if every one will become alert to the beginning signs and proceed promptly with the application of heat, forcing the dilatation of existing blood channels and the formation of new ones.

When pus appears in the urine it indicates an infection in the bladder or of the kidney. This means that bacteria are growing somewhere along the urinary tract.

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

America Can Have No House of Lords

Philadelphia, Pa., June 25, 1787.—In convention. [The resolution of the Virginia plan that the members of the national house of representatives be chosen by the people is taken up.] Mr. Pinckney of South Carolina spoke. The efficacy of the system will depend on this article. In order to form a right judgment it will be proper to examine the situation of this country more accurately than it has yet been done. The people of the United States probably are the most singular of any we are acquainted with. Among them there are fewer distinctions of fortune and less of rank than among the inhabitants of any other nation. Every freeman has a right to the same protection and security and a very moderate share of property entitles them to all the honors and privileges the public can bestow; hence arises a greater equality than is to be found among the people of any other country, and an equality which is likely to continue because in a new country possessing immense tracts of uncultivated land where every temptation is offered to emigration and where industry must be rewarded with competency there will be few poor and few dependent.

If this state of things is true, and the prospect of its continuing probable, perhaps it is not politic to endeavor too close an imitation of a government calculated for a people whose situation is and whose views ought to be extremely different. Much has been said of the constitution of Great Britain. I will confess I believe it to be the best constitution in existence, but at the same time I am confident that it is one that will not or cannot be introduced into this country for many centuries. [Mr. Pinckney refers to the nobles as a check standing between a dangerous, sole, and hereditary executive and the people, a class America cannot have; hence it cannot have the British constitution.] The peers have formed an excellent balance against either the encroachments of the crown or the people.

I have said that such a body cannot exist in this country for ages. If equality is, as I contend, the leading feature of the United States, where then are the riches and wealth whose representation and protection is the peculiar province of this permanent body? Are they in the hands of the few who may be called rich, in the possession of less than a hundred citizens? Certainly not. They are in the great body of the people among whom there are no men of wealth and very few of real poverty. Our true situation seems to me to be this: a new, extensive country containing within itself the materials for forming a government capable of extending to its citizens all the blessings of civil and religious liberty, capable of making them happy at home. This is the great end of republican establishments. If they are sufficiently active and energetic to rescue us from contempt and to preserve our domestic happiness and security, it is all we can expect from them. It is more than almost any other government insures its citizens. I believe this observation will be found generally true, that no two people are so exactly alike in their situation or circumstances as to admit the exercise of the same government with equal benefit; that a system must be suited to the habits and genius of the people it is to govern and must grow out of them.

[The convention voted that the members of the senate should be chosen by the state legislatures, Pennsylvania and Virginia being no.]

THE PEDESTRIAN DEFENDED.

Chicago, June 22.—I note D. T. Ruley's remarks advocating pedestrian regulation "in the downtown district especially." Evidently Mr. Ruley does not know that courts have repeatedly ruled that pedestrian regulation is illegal, and also that such regulation was attempted in Chicago several years ago and abandoned as it was found to be impracticable and unpopular. The turning movement of street trafic held up pedestrians when they had the green light, forcing them to cross against the red light. Any attempt to give the pedestrians proper passage by prohibiting all turns of vehicles would tie up street trafic. Moreover, statistics show Chicago's loop district to be practically free of accidents, the most of which occur on widened streets where parking is allowed.

Pedestrian regulation may be in effect in jay towns like Pensacola where pedestrians do not know their legal rights, but it has no place in a live, wide-awake city like Chicago. F. R.

FAREWELL TO CONGRESS.

Chicago, June 22.—The rollicking legislators at Washington ended the Seventy-fourth congress last Saturday. Under the masterful guidance of our smiling President, who delights in spending the taxpayers' money, the boys rolled up the grand appropriation of close to $20,000,000,000.

Such a grueling contest naturally takes its toll. Yet the sturdiness of their bodies and the keenness of their minds were proven to all by the fact that during the entire session only one of their teammates, Congressman Zioncheck, had to retire from play.

Other legislators, bruised and battered, fatigued both of body and mind, should have at least called for time out. However, the urge to spend, and a stout Democratic heart bent on increasing by billions of dollars our national debt, forced them to stay.

The 20 billion dollar additional burden of taxes that these legislators heaped on the backs of the American taxpayers ought to be a great help in obtaining votes for those congressmen, senators and their smiling leader seeking reëlection next November.

JOHN J. MANGAN.

SCHOOL FIREMEN'S PAY.

Chicago, June 22.—I am the mother of six children and my husband works for the board of education. He has been working as a school fireman for the past ten years. Three years ago my husband's pay was cut from $185 to $150, a cut of $35 a month. I would like the school board officials to read this and see if there is some way the pay cut could be restored. The firemen only work eight months of the year, and the other four months they are idle, but the bills and house expenses keep piling up. The union dues also have to be paid during the idle months. FIREMAN'S WIFE.

THE ROYAL PROGRESS.

West Frankfort, Ill., June 16.—It was kind and condescending of Mrs. Roosevelt to visit our humble middle western farms. We are highly honored—and how! FARMERETTE.

HOBSON'S CHOICE.

Chicago, June 22.—Alex Zander inquires as to the origin of the phrase, "Hobson's choice." Some credence may be given to the following:

The quotation came into being as the result of the eccentricity of Tobias Hobson, an English stable owner. When a man came to him to rent a horse, he was shown a number of animals in the stable, but Hobson always insisted that he take the horse which stood next to the stable door. "Hobson's choice" was thus born to indicate that although the selection was supposedly yours, that of another person was forced upon you.

CAROL BROOKS.

MORE ABOUT HOBSON'S CHOICE.

Chicago, June 22.—The expression "Hobson's choice" originated at Cambridge, England, at the establishment of Thomas, or Tobias, Hobson [1544-1630], who is believed to have been the first man in England to let out hackney horses for hire. He kept a stable of forty horses, ready for instant use. Whenever a customer came he was shown to the stable and told to take his choice; but regardless of which horse he chose he ultimately was obliged to take the one which stood nearest the door. Thus every one was served according to his chance, and the horses were used with equal justice.

Hobson is the character used as the subject of two short poems by Milton, "The University Carrier." The name appears in early American history as Camp Hobson's Choice. Gen. Anthony Wayne, while waiting for the results of the United States peace commissioners' conference with the Indians, established a camp under this name, in May, 1793, near Fort Washington, Northwest Territory [now Cincinnati, O.], and occupied it until about Oct. 1, when he received orders to advance. After proceeding about 80 miles north the army went into winter quarters in a new camp at Greenville, O. R. McP. C.

CAUSE REMOVED.

Chicago, June 17.—[Friend of the People.]—We have been deprived of a lot of sleep within the last month because of a dog nuisance. The tavern opposite us has a police dog that howls each time some one or something passes in the alley. Neighbors have yelled out to "shut the dog up" and other neighbors have called the police without results. Last summer this same thing occurred, and after contacting the police we got some relief. Now for the last month they have allowed the dog outside again and the disturbance continues. What can we do to get relief? E. L.

The tavern owner was advised of the nature of this complaint and he states that the dog was kept for the protection of his property after several attempts had been made to steal empty beer cases from the rear yard. He also states that the dog in question has been sent to his farm, which will eliminate further cause for complaint.

TESTS FOR AUTO SAFETY TO HELP SUPPRESS NOISE

Ban Illegal Horns and Faulty Mufflers.

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago's free safety inspection of automobiles, obligatory upon all the city's car owners after July 1, will tend to suppress some of the unnecessary noises of motor trafic. While the main purpose is to cut the accident toll by diminishing the factor of mechanical defects, a second function of muffling engine exhausts and illegal horns is also considered important.

Edward Gorman, deputy commissioner of the public vehicle license bureau, announced yesterday that the crews manning the city's fourteen testing stations will be instructed not to issue O. K. stickers to any machine that does not comply with the statutory requirements governing horns and mufflers. Preliminary inspections available to the public until next Wednesday are not official, but after July 1 every car registered in Chicago will be required to get a new O. K. twice a year.

Hits Horns that Frighten.

"We are justified in enforcing muffler and horn requirements in the name of safety as well as for the sake of the public peace," said Mr. Gorman. "These blast horns on some automobiles are a menace. They startle pedestrians and other drivers rather than merely warning them. Noisy exhausts wrangle nerves."

The horn provision of the Illinois motor vehicle code reads as follows: "Every motor vehicle . . . shall be equipped with a horn in good working order capable of emitting sound audible under normal conditions from a distance of not less than 200 feet, but no horn or other warning device shall emit an unreasonably loud or harsh sound or whistle . . ."

Law Bans Cutouts.

The muffler provision of the state law reads in part as follows:

"Every motor vehicle shall at all times be equipped with a muffler in good working order and in constant operation to prevent excessive or unusual noise and annoying smoke, and no person shall use a muffler cutout, bypass or similar device . . ."

The inspecition of muffler and horn will require no additional labor or time while testing brakes, lights, wheel alignment and steering equipment.

Termites Invade 3 More Homes on Gold Coast

Termites have made a further invasion of the gold coast area, it was disclosed yesterday, causing damage to three properties in the 1500 block of State parkway. Frank S. Pagin, 1511 North State parkway, said the insects were eliminated recently from the garage at his home. Leonard Zimmer, 1310 Carmen avenue, head of an exterminating concern, said he completed a termite job last week at the home of Charles S. Dewey, 1507 North State parkway. There the insects damaged the rear porch, window sills, and a tree. Zimmer said he had been called to eliminate the insects at the home of E. I. Cudahy, 1501 North State parkway.

Reunited Through Efforts of Judge

JUDGE REUNITES PARTED COUPLE AND THEIR BABY

Persuades 'In-Laws' to Drop Suits.

Brushing aside red tape, Judge Michael Feinberg in the Circuit court yesterday effected a reunion of Robert Paul Shade, 21 years old, his wife, the former Ann Fischbach, 17 years old, and their daughter, Ann Elizabeth, 4 months old.

After a friendly lecture to Mrs. Shade's parents against the legal strife which had kept the young family separated, Judge Feinberg won promises that various court fights would be dropped. Then he directed the young parents to take their child and establish a home away from the influence of their "in-laws."

Wed in Highland Park.

Until yesterday Shade lived with his widowed mother, Mrs. Rose Shade, at 1109 Darrow avenue, Evanston. His wife, whom he married in Highland Park three months ago, has been living with her parents, Peter and Elizabeth Fischbach, at 1016 Greenleaf street, Evanston.

All the principals were in court yesterday on Mrs. Rose Shade's petition for a writ of habeas corpus demanding that Mr. and Mrs. Fischbach return the baby to her custody. She adopted Ann Elizabeth soon after birth, and charged that the Fischbachs kidnaped the child. The kidnaping charge is pending before Justice of the Peace Ralph Fjellman of Niles township. Mr. Fischbach has a suit pending in Superior court to annul his daughter's marriage.

Baby Put in Mother's Arms.

Judge Feinberg conferred briefly in chambers with young Shade and his wife at the start of yesterday's court session. Afterward he called them and their parents before the bench. At the judge's order, Deputy Sherif Mary Deverman placed Ann Elizabeth in her mother's arms.

"These young people deserve a chance to live their own lives," Judge Feinberg began. "The pending annulment proceedings, if successful, would make this baby illegitimate. But a new law says there can be no annulment where it would conflict with the laws governing illegitimacy of children."

"Why not give up trying to raise other people's children?" he then asked the grandmothers. "Your child raising work is done. Let others carry on the burden."

The two older women nodded their agreement with this logic.

Kidnaping Charge Dropped.

The elder Mrs. Shade agreed to drop the kidnaping charge, whereupon Judge Feinberg dismissed her habeas corpus petition. Then he turned to the young parents, who by now were holding hands and smiling happily.

"Take your child and go," the judge directed. "The child is yours. You may live where you want, but my advice to you is to keep away from your in-laws."

EXPLAINS RACE WITH POLICE: HE FEARS ROBBERS

Sergeant Calls Fleeing Driver Tipsy.

Harry Gahagan, well to do realty operator, defended himself on a drunken driving charge with testimony before a jury in Municipal Judge Charles S. Dougherty's court yesterday, denying that he had had any intoxicating liquor preceding his arrest. The defendant, 36 years old, who resides at 555[illegible] Sheridan road, swore that when he tried to elude a police car in an early morning chase in Rogers Park on June 2 he believed he was being chased by bandits.

Police told an entirely different story. Sergt. George Johnstone said that when the chase ended with a collision Gahagan was so intoxicated that he could not talk intelligently. Policeman William Gruber, driver of the squad car, gave similar testimony.

Smelled Liquor, He Says.

Charles Yous Jr., 1315 Washington street, Evanston, whose car was hit in the collision at Broadway and Granville avenue, testified that Gahagan staggered and smelled of liquor.

"At the police station," said Yous, "Mr. Gahagan pulled some papers from his pocket, slammed them on a desk, and shouted, 'I'm Gahagan; call Ed Kelly.'"

The police did not telephone the mayor.

Gahagan's story was that after a party in his home in the Edgewater Beach apartments lasting uutil 2 a. m., with no liquor served, he started to drive his car to a nearby garage when he discovered that he was being followed. He stepped on the gas and dodged around corners even faster when he heard a couple of shots fired by his pursuers.

Apartment Manager Testifies.

Charles Slimpin, realty operator of Niles, and a brother-in-law of the defendant's wife, said no liquor was served at the party. George O. Nelson, night manager of the apartments, testified that Gahagan appeared sober when they discussed the weather and blooming flowers as the tenant was leaving the building about 2 or 2:30 a. m.

Assistant State's Attorney Myron Lewis said the prosecution will present rebuttal evidence this morning.

In the Safety court yesterday Judge Gibson E. Gorman sentenced three drivers to jail. The defendants and the sentences were:

FRANK BORK, 32 years old, 221 West 59th street, a WPA worker; five days for reckless driving. Bork's car was involved in a collision with a street car and three other automobiles Tuesday night at Halsted and 65th streets.

CHARLES KRAMER, 36 years old, 2835 Emerald avenue; five days for reckless driving. His automobile brushed against one of several passengers who had just alighted from a street car on June 5 at 24th street and Pulaski road.

EDWARD NURMI, 48 years old, 3334 Ozark avenue; five days for driving while intoxicated. Arrested on May 19 after his machine struck a parked car at Diversey and Logan boulevards.

In the Boys' court, Judge J. M. Braude sentenced Floyd Johnson, 19 years old, colored, 940 Sedgwick street, to ten days in the Bridewell for reckless driving.

HELEN TILLMAN DEMANDS $500,000 IN DIVORCE SUIT

Denies Mate's Charge of Cruelty, Neglect.

Cincinnati, O., June 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Poindexter Tillman Stanley of the South Carolina Tillmans filed a cross-petition to her husband's divorce suit today, charging him with gross neglect and extreme cruelty and asking permanent alimony of $500,000. She also asks $1,000 a month for the support of herself and their 4 year old child, Ethan Bates Stanley II.

Mrs. Stanley is the daughter of Col. James Hammond Tillman, former lieutenant governor of South Carolina. She charged her husband, Taylor Stanley, secretary of the American Laundry Machinery corporation of Cincinnati, with slapping her in the face when she objected to his buying drinks for chorus girls in two Cincinnati night clubs.

Nude Exhibition Charged.

In support of charges of humiliation, Mrs. Stanley accused her husband of appearing intoxicated in the nude before a group of friends in the living room of their home. She denied all charges made against her in her husband's petition.

Stanley accused her of pawning valuables for gambling, of threatening the lives of himself and his father, of accepting long distance telephone calls on a "collect" basis from men in Indianapolis and Atlanta, and of gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

Mrs. Stanley asserted her husband lost more than $100,000 in gambling. She set forth a claim that his stocks were worth $1,500,000 and that his annual income ranged between $50,000 and $60,000.

Names Father-in-Law in Plot.

Mrs. Stanley accused her father-in-law, E. Eb. Stanley, president of the American Laundry Machinery corporation, of conspiring with her husband to "cheat and defraud her" by transferring property of his son.

Mrs. Stanley is a granddaughter of George D. Tillman, who served for twenty years in congress from South Carolina, and a niece of United States Senator B. R. Tillman of South Carolina.

JAP DESTROYERS TO FIGHT CHINA'S SMUGGLING BAN

Demand Apology for Firing on Customs Evaders.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, June 24.—Iichi Kishi, Japanese consul at Tientsin, warned Chinese customs officials today that a squadron of Japanese destroyers will be dispatched from the base at Port Arthur to patrol the gulf of Chihli, North China's huge harbor area.

This action is Japan's answer to China's efforts to prevent smuggling, which the Chinese declare has caused the loss of huge customs revenue. Kishi said the destroyers will prevent such attacks by Chinese customs vessels as that of last Monday on the Taiei Maru, when a Chinese cruiser fired on that Japanese vessel off Tangku, wounding two Japanese.

The Japanese Moeki Maru was also fired on and seized by customs patrol vessels last Monday off the coast of Shantung province. Four persons were wounded.

The Japanese denied either ship carried smuggled goods. The Chinese reported, however, that they seized contraband cargoes from each.

Japan Wants Apology.

Kishi demanded compensation for the Japanese injured by the fire from the Chinese customs boats. He further said Japan wants an apology, compensation for damages to the ships and a guarantee against similar incidents in the future.

"My government," he added, "may demand that China completely withdraw her customs fleet for the prevention of smuggling from North China waters, particularly the gulf of Chihli, unless the situation is improved."

Capt. Hisaharu Kubota, Japanese naval officer, stated the Japanese navy will take "firm, appropriate action to protect Japanese lives and property on the high seas unless Chinese customs authorities reconsider their policy and cease unlawful attacks on Japanese ships."

Consider Attack an Insult.

Consular officials branded the attack on the alleged Japanese smugglers "an insult which Japan is unable to ignore."

A report from Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, said Chinese bandits murdered Heizaburo Ando, a Japanese merchant.

The Japanese Domei News agency declared 300 bandits fell upon a Japanese ambulance column in northeastern Manchukuo, killing seventeen Japanese soldiers.

Kwangsi Troops Advance.

Meanwhile, the threat of civil war in South China was aggravated today when Kwangsi provincial troops advanced further into Hunan province. They fought a brief skirmish with troops of the Nanking government, but there were no casualties.

[Kwangsi and Kwangtung provinces, making up the Canton government which does not recognize the authority of the central government at Nanking, recently mobilized troops, ostensibly to compel the northern government to fight the Japanese. Nanking declares the southerners intend civil war.]

EDUCATED POLES WARNED AGAINST RED PROPAGANDA

Widespread European Campaign Revealed.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, June 24.—An urgent warning concerning Moscow's propaganda has been addressed to the educated classes of Poland by the official government newspaper Gazeta Polska. The paper discloses the names of a long list of publications which the censor learned are being financed with soviet money.

New dailies, weeklies, and monthlies continue to appear which specialize in praising Russian "achievements," and the Gazeta reports that the soviet government is today spending more money in Europe for propaganda than any time in the last ten years.

Regarded Susceptible Class.

"The Moscow Kremlin for many years has been intensely interested in influencing the opinion of the educated classes," reports the Gazeta.

"The educated classes, the so-called intelligentsia of Poland and other countries, is considered by the communist international as 'the morally weakest class.' Workers and farmers, wherever they are organized, have a program and know what they want. The educated class, being unorganized, has no class morals and only a weakly developed instinct for class defense. Therefore Moscow considers this group as the most susceptible to bolshevik propaganda, especially propaganda relating alleged soviet achievements.

United Front Revealed.

"It is for this foreign educated class that Moscow is publishing books, magazines, journals, and newspapers in a score of languages.

"The Polish government is not going to permit the educated Pole, the Polish worker, or the Polish farmer to come under Moscow influence. Recently the communist international decided to form united fronts among the Socialists, liberal, and pacifist organizations and communist parties abroad. The immediate effect of this policy we see today in Spain and France.

"The united front policy of Moscow is an attempt to so shake the authority of the governments in the countries where it has been formed that it will pave the road for revolution."

JAPS SEEK RIGHT FOR WARSHIPS TO ENTER BLACK SEA

Insist on Reciprocity for Reds' Privilege.

MONTREUX, Switzerland, June 24.—(AP)—The Anglo-Japanese alliance which perished at the 1922 Washington naval conference was revived temporarily tonight in an attempt to muzzle the naval might of Russia. The crisis threatens the outcome of the international Dardanelles conference.

Great Britain was believed behind Tokio's announced attitude that she was willing to accept any limitation concerning Japanese warships authorized to enter the Black sea providing similar restrictions were placed on the exit of Russian warships.

Russia demanded free westward passage out of the Black sea through the straits, and added she was unable to see why non-Black sea powers desired unlimited passage to the Black sea. France was believed likely to side with Russia, because of her mutual assistance pact with the soviet.

Wrangle Over Submarines.

It was Turkey's suggestion that eastward warship tonnage should be limited to 14,000 tons for any one power and 28,000 tons for simultaneous passage to all powers. However, the suggestion would not place a limit on Russian westward tonnage through the straits.

The day's developments indicated to diplomats the Black sea, dominated by Russia and Turkey, is likely to prove an inland water rivaling the Mediterranean in strategic importance.

Russia also asked that aircraft carriers and submarines of non-Black sea nations be barred from the Black sea, but Japan insisted on complete reciprocity in warship movements in that sea. Russia, too, demanded her submarines should be given passage through the straits.

Await Italy's Move.

France expressed the opinion that powers not bordering on the Black sea should be given unrestricted passage through the Dardanelles only if acting under the mandate of the league or aiding a victim of aggression under regional pacts.

The gloom which prevailed on the part of some delegates was not lessened at the probability of a change with the advent of Italy into the conference of the Lausanne signatories. It was believed the entrance of Italy, who has refused to participate until sanctions against her are lifted, would not change the apparent impasse reached.

The conference was called at Turkey's request to refortify the Dardanelles which were demilitarized under the Lausanne treaty of 1923.

3 ARABS KILLED AS POLICE SEARCH FOR ARMS IN PALESTINE

JERUSALEM, June 24.—(AP)—Three Arabs and a Jew were killed in disorders today and a total of twenty-three Arabs were arrested for possession of arms, a government communique issued tonight stated. The Jew was shot dead when he joined in an attempt to defend the Jewish settlement of Ataroth against an Arab attack.

Two Arabs were killed when troops were searching an Arab village near Hartuv. The third was found near the Jewish settlement of Beth Alpha. Of those arrested twenty-one were seized at Kfar Belah when troops conducted a search for ammunition.

Riots in Rumania.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 24.—(AP)—Several persons were reported seriously wounded as roving armed bands ran through the streets tonight in a continuation of riots about newspaper kiosks. Rioters burned newspaper stands and seized Rumanian pro-Jewish democratic newspapers as well as Russian, French, and Czech papers. Members of the Nationalist Iron Guard were among those rioting.

Shoe Store Manager Held on Charge of Embezzling

James Richardson, 35 years old, 4802 Princeton avenue, was booked last night at the Englewood police station on a charge of embezzling $3,082 from the Walkover shoe store at 6440 South Halsted street, of which he has been manager for twelve years. Evan C. Stelter, office manager of the company, whose main office is at 125 South State street, told police Richardson admitted to him Monday that he was $1,800 short in his accounts and that he lost the money betting on horse races during the last eighteen months. An audit disclosed $3,082 shortage, Stelter said.

EX-SECRETARY TO DOCTOR TELLS OF LOVE SPY ROLE

Testifies She Helped His Wife Trace 'Maude.'

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—(AP)—The story of how his one-time private secretary "spied" on Dr. Jay Liebmann to help his wife, Mrs. Helen Liebmann, gather evidence for a divorce suit was related in Circuit court today.

Miss Lucille Ferman, the former secretary, testifying as a witness for Mrs. Liebmann in the suit, said she heard Dr. Liebmann make long-distance calls from his office to a person in Chicago he addressed as "Maude."

"He called her 'dear' and 'darling,'" Miss Ferman said.

Seeks $100,000 in Suit.

Mrs. Liebmann has filed a $100,000 damage suit against Mrs. Maude Lepman, wife of a Chicago physician, charging alienation of Dr. Liebmann's affections. Both Dr. Liebmann and Mrs. Lepman have denied there was anything improper in their acquantance.

Miss Ferman, who said she quit her job the day the divorce suit was filed, related that on Dr. Liebmann's birthday several years ago, he received a telegram he said was from his father.

Soon afterward, she continued, he telephoned to "Maude" in Chicago and said, "Thank you, dear, for the telegram."

Traced to Hot Springs.

Mrs. Liebmann, testifying in the case yesterday, told of enlisting Miss Ferman's services to keep track of the doctor's telephone calls and his correspondence. She said she checked up on a call from Hot Springs, Ark., and learned Mrs. Lepman was there at the time.

On another occasion, she said, she trailed Dr. Liebmann after he left home ostensibly to go to Granite City, Ill., to perform an operation. She testified she saw him in an automobile with a woman who she recognized from a photograph as Mrs. Lepman.

Flowers Top Smart Heads for Dancing

Synthetic Wreaths Rated as High Style.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

On they go! The flowered wreaths, the bunches of buds and blooms, and the nosegays reminiscent of grandmother's party days—when a party gown wasn't complete unless you tucked a flower behind your ear. Even the best of the summer hats are nothing more than a bouquet of mixed flowers fastened by some magic into a tiny hat worn rakishly over the eyebrow. Smart party going heads are partially covered with either real or artificial blooms.

Synthetic horticulture is surprisingly good to look at, plus the advantage of outdancing and outlasting the real things. Nasturtiums, for instance, will wilt in half an hour after you pick them from your own garden, but buy them in your favorite shop, fashion them into a wreath for your cloud of filmy gray, black, or pale yellow chiffon, and you've really achieved something unusual in headlines.

Daisies, big gorgeous orange zinnias, cornflowers, pale fragile Chinese pink petunias, or pale mauve blue morning glories, all are possibilities, to be found in the artificial flower shows. They are amazingly good copies of the real thing, the colors are lovely and the green leaves as realistically copied as the flowers themselves.

Headdresses for white, pink, or pastels and midnight blue or black are the classic bands of silver leaves or the same thing in pale green leaves. The bands of pastel nets, with a tiny circle of frilled net to dip down over the eye, are another find. These can be found in dark colors as well as the pastels.

Don't sniff at the fake flowers this summer, the smartest heads are dancing and dining at ease under buds and blossoms and green, green leaves that fool the sharpest botanist.

Record Season Is Forecast for Charity Camps

Predict 25 Per Cent Gain in Attendance.

BY KAY HALL.

The exodus of underprivileged children and impoverished mothers to free and low cost camps this summer will be 25 per cent greater than those of recent years, it was estimated yesterday by Mrs. Eleanor Eells, camp chairman of the Council of Social Agencies. Her records show that 60,000 to 75,000 persons from Chicago will be cared for at organization camps in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Indiana.

According to other estimates, a like number of children and young people will attend private camps, making the current season the most popular for camp sojourns since before the depression.

"There are 58 major camps sponsored by Chicago organizations," Mrs. Eells said. "Of these 14 are for family groups, 14 for boys, 12 for girls, and 18 for both boys and girls. The season will be longer this year and all will be filled to capacity. There are also half a dozen more operating this year than there were last year. There will not only be an increase in the number of camping days but also in the quality, including greater attention to health and character building measures."

Some camps opened this week and the remainder will welcome their first contingents next week. The Salvation Army Fresh Air camp at Camp Lake, Wis., numerous Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Boy and Girl Scout camps, and the United Charities Algonquin camp on the Fox river, supported in part by TRIBUNE readers, are among the woodland retreats which entertain the largest numbers.

The Bowen Country club, sponsored by Hull house, near Waukegan, which opened June 16, will have 3,500 mothers and children during the season. A new cottage has been added to Camp Farr, Chesterton, Ind., supported by the University of Chicago social settlement, and 400 children and mothers are expected by fall. The Chicago Boys' clubs will have 3,000 boys during the summer at Winona Lake, Ind.

Arden Shore camp at Lake Bluff will have 1,200 mothers and children from the United Charities rolls and other agencies. The Holiday home at Williams Bay, Wis., will have almost 300 campers from various agencies. The Boys Brotherhood republic will send 100 boys to Burlington, Wis., and 60 children will be kept at the Jewish Home Finding Society camp at Crystal Lake.

Seven hundred boys from the Union League Foundation Boys' club will be sent to Salem, Wis. Camp Algonquin will care for 2,000 mothers and children.

Between 2,700 and 3,000 Boy Scouts will go to camp at low cost at the Scouts' Owasippe camp near Whitehall, Mich. The first group of 800 boys will leave June 29. In addition more than 1,300 boys will go to the other Scout camp, Camp Kiwanis in Palos park, and of these many will be "on scholarship." As usual, the United Charities will place 600 city-weary children in private homes in 80 communities within a 200-mile radius of Chicago for the summer.

Sally Is Busy Selecting Her Party Guests

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Coming to the baseball game with me? You're not unless I have a letter from you somewhere in this pile on my desk. I told you Thursday was the deadline, and today's Thursday—so if your letter isn't in, you're out!

Those of you who did write in won't have to wait much longer to know if you will get an invitation, because next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE will bring you the news—it will carry the names of the 100 lucky boys and girls who will go out to Comiskey park with me one week from today.

My guests will have a grand time, you can take my word for it, because we're going to see a top notch baseball game. The Chicago White Sox will play the Detroit Tigers, and here's hoping the score will be all for Chicago. There are some outstanding players on the opposing team—Charley Gehringer, "Goose" Goslin, and your old friend, Al Simmons—and you'll have a chance to see what Jimmy Dykes' boys can do against them.

If you weren't wide awake and didn't see the good news in time to write in for an invitation, don't worry, because we have a long summer ahead of us, with a party every single week. We've arranged some very exciting trips for the future, and if you don't want to miss out on a lot of fun you'd better read your TRIBUNE carefully, because I'll have party news for you every day.

Next Sunday, in addition to telling you about the lucky boys and girls who've won invitations to Comiskey park, I'm going to tell you all about our next party, which I know you'll all be crazy about—so be sure that you look for it when you're reading the paper, because you'll be sorry if you miss it!

Catholic Laity Will Hold Conference on Retreat Movement

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Catholic laity representing all parts of the country will assemble Saturday at the Palmer house for the sixth national conference of the laymen's retreat movement. While laity dominate the program prelates are scheduled to encourage the American revival of the church's ancient devotional practice.

The conference, which is under the patronage of Cardinal Mundelein, will meet Sunday afternoon at May's lake, near Hinsdale, where Franciscan fathers annually conduct a season of week-end retreats for 2,500 Chicagoans. The May's lake retreat house, known as "the spiritual country club," is the former estate of the late Francis Peabody.

Among prelates taking part in the program are Bishop James A. Griffin of Springfield, Archbishop Francis J. Beckman of Dubuque, and Bishop Bernard J. Sheil of Chicago.

A national retreat conference for women will be held simultaneously with the men's conference.

Rides in Horse Show Today

Eyeshadow Is Suitable Only on Young and Unlined Faces

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you're not very young and smooth skinned, postpone the day of tampering with eyeshadow. Wait until you have gotten in some good work on the skin, because eyeshadow, used by the matron with wrinkled lids and crow's feet and under-eye lines or spare tires, simply succeeds in ruining the appearance. I recently saw this point illustrated again for the 'steenth time. Which makes one resolve that there are things of youth belonging only to youth. For day wear, the eyeshadow is youth's prerogative. Anyway, the demand is imperative for the kind of clear skin that bespeaks a youthful quality.

The recent illustration of why the older woman invites tragedy with her eyeshadow of striking color concerns a woman with heavy "spares" under the lower lids and deep lines at the eye corners. She looked as old as Methuselah, without any of the latter's calm acceptance of fate. Time and again I have seen women in the mid-thirties, and even in the early thirties, whose eyeshadowing made them appear anywhere from five to ten years older. True, the inept manner of application may be at fault. But my opinion is that if the face is lined at all, the false eye decoration stresses the wrinkles.

It's curious how quickly the skin around the eye area will respond to treatment with a good eye tissue cream and soothing massage. Invariably this skin is dry and withered because it has been the one facial area that has been neglected in the creaming and cleansing process. So, when you set about to put life and tone into the tissues and skin around the eyes, you give them a treat to which they respond with gratitude.

As for the "spare tires" on the woman referred to, that swelling under the lower lids appears to us a matter for medical supervision. Some internal disorder is advertised in its appearance, or sometimes lack of sleep will cause them, although in the latter case they disappear with a few nights of regular rest.

It really is better for the matron to smooth a little of the lubricant over the lids so that they may have a moist, dewy look, than to attempt to color liner or wrinkled lids green or blue, brown or black with eyeshadow.

Martha Raye, Film Actress, Engaged to Band Leader

Carole Lombard Ill; Cancel Production of Alaskan Movie

Hollywood, Cal., June 24.—[Special.]—Carole Lombard's health will not permit a motion picture location trip of nine weeks to Alaska, her physicians notified the actress and her studio employers today. As a result plans for producing a color film titled "Spawn of the North" have been canceled. The plans may be resumed at a later date, it was said at the studio.

The actress is suffering from secondary anemia, and the doctors said it would be risky for her to undertake the trip north, particularly as it would remove her from expert medical attention. Paramount studio canceled its ninety day charter of a liner to transport Miss Lombard and the others of her cast and mechanical force north.

Lake Forest Horse Show Opens Today

Three Weddings Also Claim Attention.

BY JUDITH CASS.

NOT all roads today will lead to Lake Forest in spite of the fact that one million dollars' worth of show horses begin four days of competition at the Onwentsia. For one of the largest weddings of the early summer is taking place in town and there are two smaller ones, one in town and the other in Glencoe. Miss Eleanor Kirkland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weymouth Kirkland, is to be the bride in the large wedding and Miss Martha Lee and Miss Ishbel MacLeish are the brides of the smaller weddings.

The Lake Forest Horse show for 35 years was a comparatively small show, relying chiefly on the enthusiasm of local exhibitors, but this year the show has established a record for entries with 296 horses comprising 956 entries officially qualified for competition. This number exceeds those of leading eastern shows this season and means that the leading stables of the country are represented. Nearly half of the horses entered are Chicago owned, however.

The proceeds of the four day show will go to the Lake Forest Hospital association. The show will open with a novice jumping elimination at 11 o'clock this morning, but the formal program will not get under way until 2 o'clock. There will be a performance tonight, afternoon and evening sessions tomorrow, morning and afternoon ones on Saturday, and an afternoon one on Sunday.

Additional Features Will be Presented

So many features have been planned in connection with the show that there will be something in or near the arena to interest every one, whatever his age or tastes, even if watching blue-blooded horses perform in the ring is not one of his favorite outdoor sports.

Mrs. Farwell Winston is chairman of the committee that has arranged a county fair near the stables; Mrs. Lester Armour is in charge of an informal fashion show that will be going on during the afternoon; and Mrs. Stephen Y. Hord and Mrs. Edward K. Welles are running a pet show tomorrow morning.

The pet show will start promptly at 9 o'clock and among the animals to be exhibited are puppies, ponies [ridden by children 7 and under], trick animals, mongrels, terriers, sporting dogs, and working dogs. There also will be a class for decorated pony carts, one entitled "Farm Animals Masquerade," to be judged on originality of costume, and another in which collections of household pets will be judged by assortment and manner of exhibiting.

Many Parties for Out-of-Town Guests

The presence in Lake Forest of so many out of town exhibitors will occasion much entertaining and there will be parties for the guests whenever they and the hosts are not at the arena. The John F. Jelkes started the round of gayety Tuesday night with a dinner for the Canadian officers of the famous Mississauga Horse from Toronto, Ont., one of the outstanding cavalry regiments in the British empire. This is the first time that representatives of the regiment have been allowed to appear off British soil.

The junior Albert B. Dicks, whose Dicksfield farm string will be in the show, gave a small luncheon yesterday at their home and today they are having a large one at the Onwentsia.

Tonight the William H. Mitchells are entertaining at the early buffet supper the Onwentsia is serving for those who want to attend the evening show, the judges being the Mitchells' especial guests. Tomorrow Mrs. J. Andrews King and Mrs. Samuel J. Walker will be hostesses at large luncheon parties and tomorrow night the junior Edward A. Cudahys are giving a large dinner.

On Saturday there will be many luncheon parties, among the host-

The vacation bound girl should look up one of two new efficient and inexpensive complexion kits, containing essential preparations for either dry or oily skin. Using it, she can turn idle vacation hours into beautifying ones.

One of the big beauty houses is doing its bit to make life less complicated by offering two kits. If you've oily skin you'll find complexion aids all styled for your especial needs in one inexpensive and efficient little kit; if you're one of the dry skinned army your choice will be the other, packed with preparations designed to alleviate your sufferings with dryness.

One of these boxes would be a good thing to take along on your vacation; everything you need is at hand—and certainly on a vacation you can take the time to get in the corrective treatments you always mean to give yourself but never quite get around to. And you can do wonders with good, sensible treatments if you'll just make up your mind to get after that complexion of yours.

If you're on the dry skinned side you'll find the kit for your type of skin so full of good softening agents you'll bless the day you found it. There's a special sort of cleansing cream that we found perfect last winter—rich and heavy, and three other creams besides. One is a toning cream, one a high powered softener that you can leave on over night if you like, and one a soft, delicate finishing cream that insures the success—and the life—of your makeup.

There's even a tube of "muscle oil" that you can mix with tissue cream to aid its good work. The set has a tonic, too—for the dry skin, a mild freshener.

The kit for oily skins is differently assembled, with everything in it except the normalizing cream designed especially to control oiliness rather than to encourage it.

Beverly Hills Welfare Unit to Give Party for Men

Members of the Beverly Hills center of the Infant Welfare society have planned a party for next Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Lewis Barker, 10036 Longwood drive, to be given for their husbands. The party will start with swimming at 6 o'clock in the Barkers' pool, and will continue with dinner and dancing on the terrace. Assisting Mrs. Barker as hostesses will be Mrs. Arthur Clarage, Mrs. Frank Hays, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Hartley Laycock Jr., Mrs. Arthur Ryers, and Mrs. J. H. Carmine.

Here's Picture of First Shot of New Movie

Tense Atmosphere Marks Start of Work.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 24.—[Special.]—The air of expectancy and foreboding which you feel just before the jury comes in is on the sound stage of a Hollywood studio the day the first scene of a picture is shot.

Weeks have gone into the preparation of the story. Perhaps months have gone into the location work. People are jittery on the set. Then the opening scene is shot and the tension lifts as a cloud lifts. The people begin to smile and act naturally. The feeling of relief spreads from the star director to the sweeper of the stage, and even extends to the few fortunates who have managed to crash the scene as spectators and who shared the tension.

Recently they began shooting the Sam Goldwyn production of Edna Ferber's story of an American lumber dynasty, "Come and Get It." The fortunate few who gained admission handed passes to white haired Col. Millar, dean of Hollywood gatemen, and passed into stage 2 at United Artists.

They had scarcely seated themselves in a corner when an assistant director called "Stand by for a take!" Then the assistant director yelled "Bell, Frank!" and a bell sounded outside the huge stage. "Roll 'em!" called the assistant, and Director Howard Hawks, former Cornell university athlete, his spare frame gangling in a canvas backed chair which did not bear his name, said in a quiet voice, "Camera."

Edward Arnold, star of "Come and Get It," entered the lumber camp mess hall set garbed as a woodsman and cried "Why, hello there, gunner!" A shadowy fellow lugging a wood box, a man with vacant, staring eyes, stood with mouth agape before Arnold and said, "I don't remember you."

Howard Hawks said "Cut!" The opening scene had been shot and the weight had been lifted from 150 people. A million dollar movie production was under way.

Forty odd fellows who had been sitting quietly through the first scene sprang to various tasks. A moment before the stage had seemed crowded with nonessential people; now they became important. The "head gaffer" or boss electrician stepped to the spot vacated by Arnold and cried, "Flood your babies and hit your arcs! Take off your barn door and cut your dimmer!"

Above the great set on hanging scaffolds electricians handled 120 lights. On the floor other lights were swung about. These ranged from "babies" of five ampere rating to great arcs of 150 amperes.

"Now we're goin' places!" muttered Walter Mayo, assistant director. Jack Chaffee, veteran "props" chief, head for the diet kitchen, growling "Geeze, I thought we'd never get started."

Arnold's "stand-in" took the star's place to hold it while beads of perspiration were mopped from the beaming face of the star. The stand-in looked so much like Arnold that the latter's daughter, a pleasantly curved 18 year old leading woman aspirant, walked to the stand-in, draped an arm on his shoulder, and said, "Now that you're started, I'll run on home, dad." The double wheeled on her, startled, and every one laughed, clearing the atmosphere further.

Over in one corner of the stage, where the kitchen was functioning, Propman Caffee checked over the steaming food. There were 200 thick steaks, twenty gallons of cooked cereal, fifty pounds of fried potatoes, twelve dozen boiled eggs, as many dozen biscuits, gallons of coffee and tea, prunes, jam, peaches, and fifteen pounds of butter. The picture being shot was the "eatingest" film in Hollywood's history, the propman decided.

The food must steam for the mess hall shot, with eighty lumberjack extras devouring it, for at least five days before Director Hawks would be satisfied with these sequences. This meant that other hundreds of steaks, other crates of eggs and gallons of jam would be necessary.

"Ready for a take!" called Mayo, and the stage hushed again. "Hit him with a sun! Put another man on the backing! Now hit him with a baby!" called the head gaffer as Arnold took his place for the next shot.

The lumberjacks, great bulking fellows, stormed into the mess hall, slamming Arnold on the back, yowling good-natured jibes, and the solemn visaged Hawks nodded approval. The steaming steaks and coffee, filling the hangarlike stage with tantalizing odors, cluttered up the long tables of the set. The extras, genuine interest gleaming in their eyes, sat down to eat.

"Cut!" was the director's order, and another scene was begun.

A former boxer, thick of arm, held out a blackboard 18 inches square on which was marked "25—1 . . . Hawks . . . A . . . Int . . Day . . . Goldwyn . . . 1900 . . . Toland . . . Shipham . . . Sound track 69."

It meant, of course, first take, directed by Hawks, first interior, daytime, Producer Sam Goldwyn; picture No. 1900; chief camera man, Toland; operative camera man, Shipham, and the sound track's number so that it would correspond at all times with the other film.

The former boxer, now an operative camera man, stood ten feet in front of the camera lens. Above him on the sound boom, a long black neck with a microphone dangling from its outer end, the "boomman" said, "Quiet—PLEASE." Then, "Speed!" He meant that the sound motors were up to speed and the scene could be shot. The man with the blackboard snapped shut a strip of wood which had been held up, scissorslike, above the blackboard, and darted out of the way. Another sequence had been started. As the visitors left the thermometer at the great stage door registered 92 degrees, while inside the makeup man was working hurriedly on the faces of the principals—although "snow" looked inviting on the doorstep and window ledges of the mess hall.

A YOUNG couple who live in New York state have come out to Chicago to visit, and their young son was deposited with his great-grandparents in Springfield. A temporary nurse was engaged for him, and she arrived, a solid, respectable, middle aged woman.

"What is the baby's name?" she inquired.

"John, but we call him Fishface," said the baby's mother.

"But I don't think he looks like you," responded the nurse.

* *

THE husband, father of the baby, likes to tell the above story because he thinks it a good joke on his wife. Our interest in the story centers on the fact that the doting parents call their baby "Fishface," revealing a dislike of displaying sentimentality that is a characteristic of the times. It is a tendency shared by the very young generation. A little girl, just the age of Alice in Wonderland, with her bright hair held back by a ribbon, left for camp this week, and the day before her departure she said she wished a certain friend of her mother's would come down to see her off, a woman about the age of her mother.

"Why do you want her particularly?" the mother inquired.

"Because she'll just wave and say, 'Well, good-by,'" said the child. "She's so—well, I don't just know the word for it. . . ."

"You mean she is casual?" the mother inquired.

SHERIDAN ROAD

By Helen Topping Miller

SYNOPSIS.

Eden Faraday, young secretary, opens the door of a taxi and finds a man murdered. She is taken to the police station, where she meets Jack Garnett, newspaper cameraman, and Owen Field, assistant district attorney, who arranges her release. Eden had been mistaken for Gracie Lincoln, a gunman's widow. The man murdered was a notorious gangster, Grappi. Eden's mother, Bridget Faraday, sells gowns and is in love with suave Sidney Creighton. Eden and her spoiled young sister, Robin, and brother, Coburn, depend on their peppery grandmother. Because of rumor that Eden can identify the murderers Owen Field has her guarded. Her mother and Sidney escort Eden to a business appointment. When they leave her she is snatched by two evil looking men, but Field and his men rescue her. Field takes her to his mother's home where she is kept secluded. Jack Garnett climbs roofs to talk to her from her window. Raquel Rusak, an older woman, is trying to force Coburn Faraday to marry her.

INSTALMENT X.

OBJECT MATRIMONY.

The car was rattly and cold, Raquel had on dancing shoes and a frock that was a mere bandeau above the waist, she was cold, it was late, and her mother would raise the devil about it.

"Can I help it," Coburn demanded unhappily, "if the darn bus won't pull? What do you expect for two dollars?"

"It's no use to expect much from you, is it, darling?" Raquel's dangerous sweetness had a knife edge. "You've got that guileless look. You're an ambulating temptation to every gyp in Chicago."

"I had a battle to get the money, as it was." A placating eagerness he displayed toward Raquel would have amazed his own family.

"And that," said Raquel, confident and meaningly, "is another thing that won't go on much longer!"

Coburn squirmed and found himself prickling with a loyal indignation. Odd, how when he was with Raquel he felt this irritation toward her and a fantastic sort of appreciation for his ladylike mother and sisters. He found himself continually defending them against Raquel in his mind, hating the fact that she was permitted to think of them at all, yet when he was at home he was as constantly defending Raquel in his mind from Gran's smugness, Robin's implied jeers, and the superior ways of Eden and his mother.

Not that any of them had found out about Raquel. That was his ever present dread. He had been crafty and careful. Even Robin, who was a nosey little devil, did not suspect.

He had not sought out Raquel—that made it easier. She had picked him off a dance floor, attached herself to him with a flaming possessiveness. She made all the plans, gave him orders, downed his every protest, hooted at his fears, and by her very passionate obstinacy had gotten a hold on him that he hated, yet could not break. Getting away from her would be like running from a hornet. She had no scruples, no sensitiveness, no finesse. He did not want to marry her and he did not know how to escape doing it. He was very unhappy as he drove through the rain, knowing very well what he would find at the end of the twenty mile trip.

"What do you want to go out to this crummy place for anyway? A lot of cheap drunks and thugs eating spaghetti with other men's wives and getting crocked enough to bear it!"

"You don't like going with me?" Raquel inquired, sweetly.

"Of course I like going with you," he said hastily, "but you certainly pick foul places to have fun in."

"Do you think I go to places like Monty's for fun, stupid? I have to keep mother in a good humor. She's having a party out here tonight—and what can she do with her crowd—her ankles swell so at night she can hardly stand up? I couldn't live on what I can make—I haven't any wealthy mother in the dress business."

"I haven't any wealthy mother either," Coburn replied vaguely disturbed. "My mother manages to get along and that's all."

"So I've heard. I've heard that she gets along—and that this Creighton gives her a lot of encouragement."

"You leave my mother out of it, will you?"

"Well, don't be so nasty then. And look where you're driving. I can't wade out of ditches in these shoes."

"Who is this palooka you have to entertain?"

"You wouldn't call him that to his face. He's Irv Kalaban."

"So he's the one, is he?"

"I'm sure I don't know what you mean!" indignantly.

"You know all right. You got the manicure for him and the perfume."

"Jealous, darling? Big baby's jealous!"

"I'm not jealous of any fat turk."

"Irv is a pretty nice fellow. He makes a lot of money—and if he wants a good time and young girls to dance with, why shouldn't he spend his money?"

"O, no reason—no reason at all. Except that it makes me sick!"

"When we're married," Raquel crossed her feet and laid her tiny hands on her knee, "I won't have to do things like this. But right now you might realize that it's a tough world for some people—for girls who haven't got sentimental grandmothers and sisters in ermine coats."

"My sisters don't wear ermine. And Ede works. She works hard. I don't want to hear about my sisters——"

"In the same breath with me? O, go on and say it. I'm not sensitive. I'm used to it. Well, here we are. Drive close so I won't spoil my shoes."

The place was the usual suburban roadhouse. The band was raucous. Coburn scorned it. He went out and sat in the car in the cold, and considered making a run for it back to town, leaving Raquel to her own devices.

He had been introduced to her mother, a still woman. Her hair was sleeked down to show small, acquisitive ears pierced with diamonds, and the folds in her neck betrayed the battle that went on against a tendency to flesh. Watching her, Coburn sensed the quiet of tragedy behind her mother's eye.

Kalaban, a gross man, was already a little drunk, and the others of the party were equally distasteful to the high strung, proud boy. He had danced once or twice with Raquel, then gone out to the car to sit there glowering and meditating flight.

Only one thing stayed him—the certainty that sooner or later Raquel would appear at his mother's apartment and stage a scene that would humiliate him, shock Gran, displease his mother, and furnish Robin material for one long, shrill triumph.

Eden was different. Eden would be hurt—and some finer impulse, that would have surprised his family, made him wish not to hurt Ede. She was square. She would, he felt, help him out of this jam if she knew about it. But she was in this Grappi affair herself. Coburn turned the key of the rented car, stabbed at the starter, then thought better of it. A woman with a lot of waved yellow hair, who had been in the Kalaban party, came out and opened the door on the other side.

"Going for a ride, nice boy?"

"No, thank you." Coburn got out as she climbed in.

"I don't like riding either. All I want is some place to sleep. If you'd send me out a couple of pillows, it would be grand."

"I'll send you out a nice dose of cyanide. That will be better still!"

He stood in the door, watching the dancers, pondering. He could slip the car keys into Raquel's purse, catch a train back to town. He debated that, gave it up. Anyway he turned things looked hopeless. He went back to the dance floor, found a chair behind the orchestra, tipped it back against the wall. When he was with Raquel, in the atmosphere she chose, he did not want to drink. It was only another defiance, but he did not know that. He felt superior to be sober when others he despised were maudlin, and feeling superior helped a little.

Raquel came over on Kalaban's arm, pouting becomingly. She was pretty, Coburn conceded. Away from this cheap background, softened a little, she had a certain beauty.

She said, over Kalaban's shoulder. "Isn't he a mean boy? He won't dance with me. All right for you, mean boy!"

"Any fella that won't dance with you is crazy," Kalaban boomed.

"I'm crazy, all right," Coburn agreed, meaningly.

A man crossed the floor just then, gave Raquel a flicked smile with dry, straight lips, opened a door at the rear and went out. Coburn, watching him, had noted that other dancers were watching this newcomer, too, that women whispered a little and men shut their lips and withdrew their eyes.

"Ha—— he comes here, does he?" Kalaban snorted. Raquel said warningly, "Shut up!"

Hospitals Sell Tickets for Opening of 'White Angel'

Fifty-six Chicago and suburban hospitals, the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, the Visiting Nurses' association, and the Infant Welfare society are sponsoring the sale of special admission tickets to "The White Angel," a film portrayal of Florence Nightingale, which opens at the Chicago theater tomorrow. A percentage of the proceeds from the special admission tickets will be donated to the Florence Nightingale International foundation. The foundation is to establish a nursing course in London to which one nurse will be sent annually from each of 60 countries.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

S. D.: One good shampoo will remove the oil that has been left in the hair overnight. It may require several washings, but the oil will be removed. Use a vinegar rinse to cut the soap.

J. L.: Bath salts or a water softener in your tub will help to remove the perspiration and oil that appear on the skin. A bath to which baking soda has been added is cooling and soothing.

Couple Should Decide Finance Question Early

Girl Has Right to Know Facts About Income.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

They're planning to marry, but she hasn't the ghost of an idea what the man's income is. She doesn't know whether he is a penny saver or not. She has hinted to know, but her hints are met with a stony silence. On one occasion the young man said: "I never asked you what you are earning. I never asked you how much you had saved!"

"Do couples work out the money question after they are married? Is it customary not to discuss finances until the day one is married?" the girl asks.

We hope it isn't customary to leave the discussion of money until after the bond is sealed! In fact, we think only a couple of loonies would marry without knowing exactly where they stand financially. We think a girl who would trust blindly to luck that there'll be money for rent and meat and groceries, to say nothing of the other things a home needs, isn't bright.

We haven't a doubt that marriage often is entered under false money claims on the man's part. Probably many marriages are entered with the young woman in ignorance of the man's saving account status. But we would not predict a successful future based on the deceit involved either in hiding assets or in lying about them. We have statistics to back us up on the domestic casualties resulting from such a policy.

If there is one thing about which a couple expecting to get along in marriage must have a frank and clear understanding, it is the money end of the venture. The woman has to know the amount of her husband's income, or how can she plan her side of the partnership. She should know what resources there are that can be used in an emergency.

You can't trust to luck on this money feature. You have to have it out and long enough before marriage to be able to plan a standard of living commensurate with the income. The right way is for the couple to sit down and have this money angle settled, the bride-to-be knowing exactly how much she can count on for management.

Any girl who trusts to luck and the marriage day to right all, is due to earn the luck usually meted out to the brainless.

The Stage

A version of "Everyman," the old English morality play, will be staged tonight by an all-Negro company, under WPA auspices, in the Ridgeway theater at 5538 Indiana avenue. Negro spirituals will be interpolated into the performance; folk dances will be used to deepen the mood of Negro character, and the tragic ending of the original work will be modified.

Public performances will be given on the following schedule: Tonight, tomorrow night, and on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights thereafter.

"The Old Maid," in performance this week by the Chicago Group theater company at the Woman's club theater, adds a Saturday matinée to its schedule. . . . The advance ticket sale for George White's "Scandals," which will open at the Grand Opera house next Sunday night, is said to be the heaviest of many years.

The Donald Douglases—he is president of the Horse Show association—are giving a large cocktail party before the Onwentsia party. The junior James B. Forgans will entertain at luncheon Sunday and the Howard Linns will give a tea after the closing performance.

Kirkland Wedding at Fourth Presbyterian.

Miss Eleanor Kirkland will become the bride of James Scott Kemper Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Kemper of Winnetka, this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Fourth Presbyterian church, and a reception will be given afterward at the Casino.

Miss Kirkland is to have seven attendants. Miss Barbara Fortune will be the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. William Alden Little [Dorothy Dickinson], Miss Florence Hermes, Miss Josephine Fleming, Miss Betty Babson, Miss Harriet Fidler of Reading, Pa., and Miss Joan Sutter.

John F. Taylor of West Newton, Mass., will serve Mr. Kemper as best man, and ushering will be Weymouth S. Kirkland, brother of the bride; George A. Hopkins Jr. of New York, Warren Blatz Jr. of Bridgeport, Conn., Clarence T. Seipp Jr., F. Strother Cary Jr., who is engaged to Miss Fortune; Frederic Macfarlane, and Jack Prussing Jr.

The Rev. Harrison Ray Anderson will officiate.

Mr. Kemper and his bride will go to Honolulu on their honeymoon and will return to spend August with his parents in Winnetka. In September they will be at home in Cambridge, Mass., where the bridegroom is a student at the Harvard law school.

MacLeish Ceremony at Mother's Home.

The marriage at 5 o'clock this afternoon of Miss Ishbel MacLeish to Alexander Campbell will be witnessed by a very small group, members of the two families and a few close friends. The ceremony will be read by Bishop Campbell Gray of the Protestant Episcopal church of Mishawaka, Ind., a friend of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan J. Campbell, also of Mishawaka, in the gardens of the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, and, weather permitting, Mr. Campbell and his bride will receive congratulations and felicitations out of doors on the lovely lawn of Craigie Lea.

The bride will be attended by two nieces as flower girls. They are Mary MacLeish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald MacLeish of New York, and Lenore MacLeish, daughter of the Norman MacLeishes. Duncan Argyll Campbell will be his brother's best man, and ushering will be C. Dwight Perry of Colorado, Stewart Bradley of New York, William James Jr. of Cambridge, Mass., and Norman MacLeish.

After a wedding trip to New England Mr. Campbell and his bride will return here for a visit late in August before going on to Colorado where they will live.

Martha Lee Wedding at St. Chrysostom's.

Miss Martha Lee and Roland K. Smith Jr. are to be married at a very small wedding, too, at 4 o'clock this afternoon at St. Chrysostom's church. The bride, who is the younger daughter of Mrs. T. George Lee, will have her sister, Mrs. Lee Graham, for her only attendant. Mr. Smith, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland K. Smith of Washington, D. C., will be attended by Robert W. Wales as best man. Sydney S. Gorham Jr. and James Conger will usher.

A reception will follow the church ceremony in the lounge at the Ambassador East, where Mrs. Lee has an apartment. Only about fifty relatives and close friends will be present to wish the bride and bridegroom happiness. Miss Lee will be wearing for the first time a string of pearls, the wedding gift of the bridegroom, and for something old she is wearing a little cap made of heirloom lace. Charles J. Faulkner Jr., who was a great friend of the bride's late father, will give her in marriage.

The bridegroom's parents and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George P. McNichol Jr., and Miss Carol McNichol have come for the wedding, and so have Mrs. E. B. Torbert, aunt of the bride, who lives in Charlottesville, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. McKenny Egerton of Baltimore.

Buffet Supper Tonight at Onwentsia Club.

The Onwentsia will be crowded again tonight after 8 o'clock when the regular Thursday evening buffet supper will be served, to be followed by dancing. Among the parties being given there this evening is one at which Mr. and Mrs. Milton M. Morse will be host and hostess for Miss Caryl Ely and Fred W. Fairman Jr., who are to be married on July 1. Members of the Jean O'Brien-Fred P. Hamilton Jr. wedding party also will be dancing at the Onwentsia tonight, for Joseph E. Rich, who will serve Mr. Hamilton as best man on Saturday, is entertaining for the wedding couple.

Another gay party in Lake Forest tonight is one Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Shumway will give for their subdeb daughter, Miss Grace Shumway, and four school friends who are house guests. Miss Shumway will have no trouble giving them a happy time this week-end with so many activities in Lake Forest. Miss Shumway is a student at St. Timothy's.

Dining and dancing are on the program for Tavern club members tonight at the first of a series of summer al fresco dances to be held on the upper deck of this attractive club located so high above Michigan avenue. The roof dance floor is half covered with awnings to protect it a bit from the breezes.

Edgar Millar and his entertainment committee have requested the guests to come in sports attire—but not spectator sports dress, for every one must look prepared to participate actively in some game. It is safe to say that many an old football, baseball, or basketball suit will be unpacked for the occasion, to say nothing of skiing outfits—which might prove too warm, however, if the evening is as balmy as the committee hopes it will be.

Baptism to Mark Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ruthven Moore Jr. will celebrate their second wedding anniversary Saturday by having a baptismal party for their year old son, Edwin III. The Rev. Alfred Lee Wilson, who officiated at the marriage of Miss Mary Wilson Clokey and young Mr. Moore, will baptize little Edwin in the presence of the relatives and close friends. The affair will be held at the Moore home in Hinsdale.

Cool and Slenderizing

WOMAN'S DRESS.

Here is a summer everyday dress which is cool, practical, slenderizing, and exceedingly simple to make. The paneled effect from shoulder to hemline diminishes breadth through the shoulders, bust, waistline, and hips. The V neckline, which is universally becoming to women who are overweight, is enhanced by a trim collar and matching bow.

The dress is cool because it is sleeveless, but short capes from the shoulders give the illusion of sleeves, thus preserving charm and contributing to the effect of slenderness. A sash extends from the side seams in front, around to the back, where it is tied in a graceful bow. A patch pocket is a nice touch on the right side of the skirt, which is full without having plaits.

You can make this practical frock in a jiffy and it launders beautifully. Any of the sheer cottons are perfect for this model. Voile and dotted Swiss are cool and dainty, and shantung cotton with a linen weave and pastel tub silks are equally appropriate.

Style No. 2996 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 35 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

BY MARY MEADE.

"There's more in this than meets the eye," might be said of potato salad. Often it's difficult to decide just which ingredient is responsible for an unusual flavor.

Nearly every woman makes potato salad of a sort, but few achieve that perfection which impels helping after helping until only an empty bowl remains. Usually the difficulty lies in one of these three things: the potatoes are not as freshly cooked as they might be; there is too little seasoning; the salad dressing is not tart enough.

The first defect may be easily remedied. Potatoes for salad should be used preferably on the day they are cooked, although it is perfectly safe from a flavor standpoint [and it's also time saving] to cook enough potatoes at lunch time to make the salad for the evening meal. With care and the use of a recipe [too many cooks do not bother with a recipe for something as "simple" as potato salad] the lack of seasoning may be remedied. It also is well to remember that the salad will be more flavorful if it is allowed to stand in the refrigerator for several hours after it is prepared. This allows the dressing and the seasonings to blend with the potatoes.

Many cooks prefer sour cream or plain boiled dressing for potatoes, and these do seem to have the sharp flavor necessary for this type of salad. However, the prepared salad dressings may be used with the addition of a little vinegar if they are rather mild.

It usually is preferable to add onion juice to the salad instead of chopped onion. This will help the flavor without offending any one.

The recipe given below is for a simple potato salad with its own dressing:

Potato Salad.

6 cold boiled potatoes, medium size
3 hard cooked eggs
1 teaspoon onion juice
1 teaspoon mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk or cream
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon paprika
½ cup cut celery

Cut the potatoes in small cubes and add the chopped whites of eggs and the onion juice. Mash the egg yolks, add the mustard, salt, and paprika. Mix and add vinegar. Bring the milk or cream to the boiling point, and pour slowly on the egg yolk and mustard mixture. Cook until slightly thickened. Add the butter, and pour over the potatoes. Cool, add the celery, and chill.

For those who prefer their potato salad hot, this recipe is included:

German Potato Salad.

1 pound small new potatoes
3 ounces bacon
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
Salt
Pepper
Vinegar

Boil the potatoes in their skins, peel, and slice them into a bowl. Dice and fry the bacon and pour over the potatoes. Season with salt and pepper, and add a third as much vinegar as bacon grease. Add the green pepper and toss together lightly. Serve at once, before salad has time to cool.

Art League Unveils Plaque in Honor of D. F. Kelly

A plaque honoring D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair store, for his furtherance of art in industry, was unveiled at the store yesterday by the Municipal Art league. Among those present were: Charles Fabens Kelley, dean of the Art institute, and Elmer E. Forsberg, instructor of mural painting at the institute school. Paul Schulze, president of the Art league, presided. Young artists who executed the murals for the downtown and Oak Park Fair stores also were present.

According to CULBERTSON

BLUFF REDOUBLE.

Just as the honest redouble is a powerful weapon in the hands of a closely coöperating partnership, so the bluff redouble, designed to dissuade the opponents from bidding game, may be equally effective. Like all psychological bids, its success depends on two distinct factors: the caliber of one or both opponents, and an adverse lay of cards that will make it difficult to "nail the lie."

Consider the effect on the opponents that a redouble such as the one shown in today's hand would be bound to have.

South, dealer.

NORTH
♠ J 9
♥ Q J 8 2
♦ 5 4 3 2
♣ 9 7 3

WEST	EAST
♠ A Q 10 2	♠ K 7 5 4
♥ 9 7	♥ 5 3
♦ A Q J 9	♦ 8 7 6
♣ K 10 6	♣ Q J 4 2

SOUTH
♠ 8 6 3
♥ A K 10 6 4
♦ K 10
♣ A 8 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Double	Redouble	1 spade
Pass	2 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

The crucial and difficult decision on this hand had to be made by West after his partner's one spade response and South's pass. Without North's redouble he well might have decided that game depended on finding the diamond king and club ace [assuming they were not held by East] in the South hand. In that event East would need virtually nothing but the K J of spades to give him a play for a four spade contract. The diamond suit probably would take care of club losers in East's hand.

Thus, had North passed instead of redoubling, West probably would have bid three spades instead of two. And, with such a strong raise, East certainly would have gone to four, holding, as he did, better than a forced response.

After the redouble, however, West would have been optimistic to depend on the two vital cards mentioned [the club ace and the diamond king] lying in the South hand, in finessable position. His two spade bid was as much of an urge as he dared give under the circumstances. But it was not enough for East with his bad distribution and sketchy honor holding and, despite the fact that he had reason to be suspicious of a redouble that was not followed up with subsequent action, his pass cannot be criticized.

Obviously there was no way for North and South to take more than three tricks against a spade contract.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My partner and I try to use asking bids, but we do not always agree on the proper suit in which to "ask." Kindly give the correct bidding on these hands, using the asking bid system. Both sides vulnerable. The opponents never made a bid.

NORTH [dealer]	SOUTH
♠ J 9 6	♠ A
♥ A 8	♥ 7 3
♦ K Q 9 6 4 2	♦ A 10 8 5
♣ K 4	♣ A Q J 9 8 6

Answer: Correct bidding is as follows:

NORTH	SOUTH
1 diamond	3 diamonds
3 no trump	4 clubs
4 hearts	5 no trump
7 diamonds	Pass

When South's asking bid of four clubs locates second round club control and the heart ace [by North's four heart response] he virtually can count thirteen tricks. He knows North would not have bid three no trump with a singleton club, therefore "second round control" must be the king. The one danger is that North may lack either the king or queen of diamonds. The new five no trump bid is used to force North to bid seven if he holds both these vital cards.

Child's Faults Often Related to His Virtues

Parents Must Be Willing to Accept This Fact.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Let things take their course. Follow the line of least resistance. "Laissez-faire." All that sort of thing is not my philosophy as a parent. But we must let well enough alone. There's one thing we cannot fight, and that is nature's intention for our child. We must be willing to accept our child's personality or temperament.

Part of this acceptance lies in our being willing to admit the important fact that human beings have the "vices of their virtues," whether those human beings are immature or grown up, and we can't have it "going and coming," as the saying is.

Of course, when I say that people usually possess the vices that go hand in hand with their virtues, I don't actually mean vices, but rather that they possess the faults or disadvantages that often accompany certain admirable qualities or interesting traits of personality.

It's a great help to us and to our children for us to recognize and then accept this state of affairs, which is really accepting in full the individuality of our child.

For example, enthusiasm and fire often do not go hand in hand with comfortable and convenient traits. We must be tolerant of this fact. Likewise, the amenable, accepting, calm boy or girl should not irritate a mother who herself gets passionately concerned over the things about which she cares. On the other hand, the talented child who writes or paints, or is otherwise carried along on the wings of inspiration, is apt to annoy her practical mother, because she sometimes becomes oblivious to duties or, worse, to the etiquet of the moment. The bonny, carefree, likable child who "slays" all comers with his charm, has other qualities consistent with his nature which may disappoint his reserved and efficient father.

Of course, we must not let our child's personality "grow wild," and thus one-sided. We all [children and grownups] have to modify ourselves somewhat to conform to our environment. But parents must not try to completely make over their children. They must accept their child, and make it their aim to develop to the full that child as he is, not as they would like him to be.

A boy or girl's individuality becomes marked as he or she gets into the in-between years—from 6 to 12. Helpful to parents is our fully written booklet, "Living with Our In-Betweens—the Children from Six to Twelve," which is sent out on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CORN, SOY BEANS DOING WELL IN CENTRAL ILLINOIS

Chinch Bugs Hurt Crops in Some Sections.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Monmouth, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—Bumper crops of corn and soy beans are in the making in central Illinois. Many farmers today are cultivating their corn for the last time. This time last year some of them were still planting. Since the recent general rain corn blades have been growing at the rate of two to three inches a day. Many of the early planted fields between here and Taylorville are waist high, and a big percentage of the corn is knee high. Most corn even this far north will be "laid by" within the next week or ten days.

Normal rain during the remainder of the growing season is all farmers in central Illinois need to produce a corn crop that will fill their cribs to the top this fall. Fortunately they have a good sized crop of spring pigs that will be ready to eat the corn at picking time.

Using Every Precaution.

Chinch bugs have the farmers worried in the west central counties and across many central counties as far east as Champaign near the east side of the state. The weather has been perfect for the chinch bug. Farmers have had experience with them before and are using every precaution to hold them in check.

The chinch bug already has caused some damage in the winter wheat. On many farms the bugs are on the march from the wheat fields into the oats and corn. Trenches are being dug, dust barriers built, and chemicals used to protect crops. The bugs do not attack soy beans, alfalfa, and clover, but corn and oats, their favorite foods, may suffer heavy damage where the fields are not protected. Farmers say they hope to raise enough corn and oats to feed the chinch bugs and still have enough feed left for their live stock.

Bugs Cut Wheat Yield.

James McCloud, a farmer living five miles east of Virginia, Ill., had his wheat yield reduced to about ten bushels per acre by chinch bugs and unfavorable weather. The bugs caused premature ripening of the wheat. Mr. McCloud was in the field yesterday harvesting his wheat ahead of schedule. The chinch bugs were leaving the wheat in their search for a new crop to feed on. Men on the McCloud farm have built dust barriers to keep them out of a nearby cornfield.

There is a big acreage of soy beans. The stand is good. Some beans are six inches tall.

Binders are beginning to hum in the wheat fields of central Illinois. In the Springfield territory wheat is ripening rapidly and harvesting will be in full swing there within a week. Binders are to be seen quite generally in fields from Philadelphia west across the Illinois river bottoms in the Beardstown district. Shocks of wheat are thick in the fields between Rushville and Macomb on route 67.

Discuss Wheat Yield.

There is a lot of talk among farmers about wheat yields. Many estimate that wheat will average about fifteen to sixteen bushels to the acre in the wheat counties south of here. Experts have raised their yield estimates two bushels or more per acre.

E. E. Murphy, a grain and live stock farmer near Good Hope, Ill., says that the wheat in his neighborhood is expected to run from ten to fifteen bushels per acre.

A drive diagonally across Illinois from the Wabash river at Vincennes to the Mississippi river west of here reveals that the oats are still green but short, as they are in Michigan and Indiana. The oats crop has been hit hard by the drouth in the Illinois counties crossed in THE TRIBUNE'S crop survey. Farmers expect the yield to be far below the average.

RAINFALL LAGS, BUT COOL JUNE IS AID TO CROPS

Only unusually cool weather this month has prevented crop damage comparable to the disastrous drouth of 1934, weather observers declared yesterday. As it is, the situation throughout the corn and wheat belt is serious for lack of rain, according to C. A. Donnel, government meteorologist.

Farmers and stockmen in the central west may expect no rain today but showers appear likely in some sections Friday, Mr. Donnel said. Today is expected to be warmer.

This has been the second driest June on record, Mr. Donnel said. Since Jan. 1 the rainfall has been more than six inches below normal.

Because of drouth conditions in northeastern Wyoming and southern Montana executives of several western railroads decided yesterday to adopt emergency drouth rates for cattle from those sections. The sanction of the interstate commerce commission must be obtained, however.

French Sailors Win Strike at Marseilles; 50 Ships to Sail

PARIS, June 24.—(AP)—Striking French sailors in the harbor of Marseilles, who advertised their stand by floating red flags from the halyards, tonight won their demands from shipowners. The government announced the seamen would return to work tomorrow night.

Refusing to vacate the ships when they struck Monday, the tars demanded a 40 hour week, vacations with pay—and bedsheets on bunks. Nearly 50 French boats were scenes of strikes and foreign vessels were unable to leave the harbor when tugboat crews joined the walkout.

A threatened general strike in Paris was averted when employers agreed to give chauffeurs a collective contract.

Picket Ship Yards.

At St. Nazaire, officials said, 120 men "from Paris" occupied naval shipyards, camping a few hundred yards from the unfinished cruisers Georges Leygues and Marseillaise. The authorities said 8,000 shipyards employés continued their work, despite the situation.

A strike banner in the window of Dun & Bradstreet's branch office, which was occupied by striking employés for the fifteenth day, led to a street fight between rightists and leftists. The workers took down the banner, which read "we want our salaries and bread," at the request of police, but continued to display the red flag alongside the tricolor.

A crowd, attracted by the banner, divided quickly into left and right sides. They shouted the Internationale and the Marseillaise at each other, finally coming to blows. Police detained several. The 100 Dun & Bradstreet strikers are seeking a 15 per cent salary increase and recognition of the union.

Workers numbering 150 occupied the noted Chanel dressmaking establishment, halting all work. The Chanel workshops were closed last week by strikers and the sale of dresses on hand was stopped today. The strikers demanded abolition of piece work and institution of a collective contract.

The government, striving to restore civil peace, announced the Croix de Feu, rightist veterans' organization, would be permitted to exist as a political party. Col. Francois de la Rocque, leader of the association, thus won a partial victory in his fight against the government's previous order outlawing the league.

The Croix de Feu's lease on life, however, was made contingent on its dropping all semblance of a private military character and operating on strictly political lines.

20,000 More Out in Spain.

MADRID, June 24.—(AP)—Strong detachments of shock police and civil guards were sent to Andalusia today as new strikes involving 20,000 workers broke out in the province. Even sailors were drafted for police duty when a general strike was declared at Huelva. Fights between Syndicalists and Socialists caused the civil government to call in the crew of the gunboat Laya to aid the local police.

The English owned Rio Tinto mines were placed under a heavy guard after striking miners threatened sabotage unless their demands for better pay and shorter hours were met before the end of the week.

Belgian Mine Strike Ends.

BRUSSELS, June 23.—(AP)—An extraordinary congress of miners, representing 120,000 striking workers, decided today to resume their jobs Saturday. A settlement of the walkout was effected by the government, along with strikes in other branches of industry.

321 EASY MONEY BUILDING JOBS READY TO START

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—The big spending under the 2 billion 375 million dollar deficiency bill signed Monday by President Roosevelt got off to a start today when the treasury announced 321 building projects to be financed out of the 60 million dollar construction fund authorized under the act.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. and the office of Postmaster General James A. Farley announced the cities and towns marked out for the easy money expenditures.

$1,960,000 P. O. Garage.

In Chicago a $1,960,000 post office garage will be built on government owned land near the new customs appraisers building. A new Englewood station post office will be erected with an estimated cost for both the site and the building of $245,000.

All other projects in Illinois are for post offices for which sites will be obtained. The new Illinois post offices will be built in towns as follows:

Postoffices for Iowa.

Iowa—Marion, New Hampton, Bloomfield, Nevada, Hamburg, Emmetsburg, Rock Rapids, and Tipton.

Wisconsin—Janesville, Stoughton, Reedsburg, Milwaukee station C, Hartford, Shawano, Kewaunee, Neillsville, and Medford.

Michigan—Northwestern and north end stations in Detroit, Blissfield, Eaton Rapids, Niles [extension and remodeling], Rockford, Mason, East Detroit, Traverse City, Grayling, Munising, Calumet, Wayne, and Rochester.

Morgenthau said that all funds available had been allocated, including the amount required for approved increases in limits of cost on projects previously authorized and reserves for thirty-two additional projects, the size of which is as yet undetermined.

WPA TO DEMAND MORE LOCAL CASH FOR NEW WORKS

Miner Says More Money Must Go to Labor.

Larger contributions will be sought from local governmental sponsors of Works Progress administration projects in an effort to offset the higher costs resulting from increased hourly wages after July 1, it was announced yesterday by Charles E. Miner, deputy state administrator.

"Sponsor contributions for materials and supervisory labor should be greater than heretofore," Mr. Miner said, so that as much of WPA funds as possible may be used for labor and thereby keep men off relief rolls.

Promises No Favoritism.

"Local governments have improved their financial positions, and since they are benefited by WPA projects, they should be willing to devote more money to this purpose. However, no project will be rejected entirely because a substantial contribution can't be made, nor will any project be accepted simply because a large contribution is offered by its sponsor."

In the present fiscal year's program, Illinois' state and local governments contributed 14.7 per cent of the $88,801,821 total cost of projects being carried out on April 15. In New York state, local contributions were 12.2 per cent of $275,602,123, and in Pennsylvania, 13.4 per cent of projects totaling $138,064,993. In some less populous states contributions ranged between 25 and 41 per cent.

Must Check Incomes.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission will be expected to help WPA carry out its new policy of checking up on workers to see whether they have obtained outside income which renders their federal jobs unnecessary, Mr. Miner said. He added that the IERC would have this power after July 1 by implication, since one of its legal duties then will be to certify relief persons for WPA employment.

The IERC staf was working last night to complete an estimate of Chicago's July relief requirements so that the figure can be combined with those received from the thirty country townships in Cook county to be presented to the county board this morning. Under new relief laws the county board serves a perfunctory function as a conduit through which county requests for state relief funds pass to the relief commission, which will consider them Monday.

Bonus Money Paid in Court for Support of Children

William Olson, 42 years old, 932 West North avenue, yesterday handed Judge Leon Edelman in Domestic Relations court $325 of his bonus to be used for the support of his children, Robert, 14 years old, and Shirley, 13. He had been arrested on complaint of his former wife, Mrs. Ellen Stricklin, 1738 Clybourn avenue, who said she had remarried after she was told that she had been married illegally to Olson, a friend who posed as a minister.

PROMISE EARLY PENSION CHECKS TO COUNTY'S AGED

A. L. Bowen, director of the state department of public welfare, announced yesterday that he had signed a $5,654 voucher covering the first old age pension checks to be written for 602 applicants in Cook county. He said the checks will be mailed next week after being passed upon by the state director of finance and the state auditor.

The first pensioner on Bowen's list was George E. Adams, 178 North Lombard avenue, Oak Park, who will receive $11. The first woman on the list was Mary Appel, 2514 Wentworth avenue.

Miss Anne Bigus, director of the pension division of the Cook county bureau of public welfare, said yesterday that 735 certificates of award have been received from Springfield. In some instances aged recipients who have been expecting to get cash for several months attempted to cash these certificates, she said.

HAAS DEFEATS FEHLIG, KOKES IN COLLEGE GOLF

Kocsis and Turnesa Extended to Win.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

FRED HAAS.

Fred Haas Jr., captain of the Louisiana State team, yesterday led seven other golfers into the quarter-final round of the 38th national intercollegiate golf tournament with a pair of victories. In the first round, Haas, the tournament medalist, defeated Lou Fehlig of Notre Dame, 8 and 6. His afternoon match proved to be more of an argument, Wilbur Kokes of Illinois, new state amateur champion, carrying the tall southerner to the 17th green before losing, 2 and 1. For the 29 holes he played yesterday, Haas was one under par.

In the 36 hole quarter-finals today, Haas will meet Bill Barclay of Michigan, who won from R. C. Fisher of Yale, 1 up, and then defeated Nelson Munger of Texas, 7 and 6, in the second round. Other upper bracket survivors of the first two rounds were Verne [Spec] Stewart of Stanford, and Paul Leslie of Louisiana State, who will meet today. Stewart scored two 1 up victories over Win Day, Notre Dame captain, and Woodrow Malloy of Michigan, Big Ten runnerup, while Leslie took a 19 hole morning battle from Art Doering of Colorado college and then came on to defeat Pat Malloy, last of the Notre Dame qualifiers, 2 and 1.

Kocsis Beats Lardner.

Two other favorites, Chuck Kocsis of Michigan and Willie Turnesa of Holy Cross, were forced to the eighteenth green to win their second round matches, Kocsis defeating Lyn Lardner of Harvard, 1 up, while Turnesa scored a 2 up victory over John Wallace of Stanford. In the morning Kocsis, Big Ten champion, eliminated Paul Jamison of Yale, 3 and 2, and Turnesa scored by the same margin over Buell Critchlow of Amherst.

In today's quarter finals, Kocsis faces J. O. Levinson of Yale, who upset his own captain, Herb Eshelman, 1 up, in the second round. Turnesa's opponent will be John Malloy of Princeton, president of the Intercollegiate Golf association. Malloy won his matches from Dick Graham of Northwestern and Tom Brand of Michigan State by the same margin, 3 and 2.

There are those handicappers who feel that semi-final collisions of Haas and Leslie in the upper bracket and Kocsis and Turnesa in the lower in tomorrow's 36 holes semi-finals would provide a passel of golf shots, but Barclay, Stewart, Levinson, and Malloy are undoubtedly of another mind. The semifinals tomorrow will be at 36 holes, as will be the championship match on Saturday.

Kokes Three Down at Turn.

Kokes lost the first hole to Haas when he was short with second, and then found himself half stymied by Fred. The Illinois star then was in the rough at the sixth, three putted the seventh, and was trapped at the eighth. He regained one of these by holing a 40 footer for a birdie at the ninth, leaving himself down three. He was trapped at the tenth, but got that back with a par at the eleventh, which Haas three putted. Wilbur then left himself only two down with three to go by laying his third shot to the fifteenth pin stiff for a bird. He could not, however, better Haas' pars on the sixteenth and seventeenth.

Card for the Haas-Kokes match:

Par—Out ....453 444 534—36
Par—In ....445 345 344—36—72
Haas—Out ....453 444 534—36
Kokes—Out ....553 445 643—39
Haas—In 455 345 34
Kokes—In 455 344 34
Haas wins, 2 and 1.

Stewart, out in 37 in the afternoon, was two up on Malloy at the turn, and three up after the tenth. Malloy rallied to square the match by taking the twelfth, fifteenth, and seventeenth. Stewart drove a trap on the home fairway, but made a fine recovery for a par and a win.

Card for the Stewart-W. Malloy match:

Stewart—Out ....453 544 534—37
W. Malloy—Out.......554 454 534—39
Stewart—In ....445 345 354—37—74
W. Malloy—In.........644 344 345—37—76
Stewart wins, 1 up.

Kocsis Lets Down.

Kocsis won the first four holes of his match with Lardner, and confessed later that this start caused him to let down. Lardner was trapped at the 1st and over the 2d green. Kocsis won the 3d with a six foot putt for a deuce and the fourth when Lardner three putted. Kocsis then found a trap at the 6th. He thought he had the 8th won, but lost it when his ball struck Lardner's toward the hole, leaving the latter an easy putt. A trap cost Chuck the 9th and he

Three Wildcats Eliminated in Intercollegiate Tennis Meet

Four more seeded players were eliminated in the fourth round of the national intercollegiate tennis tournament at Northwestern university yesterday.

They were George and Russell Ball of Northwestern, Charles Carr of Southern California and Dick Bennett of California.

Ernest Sutter of Tulane, top seeded player, led the small band of survivors into the quarter-finals by defeating John Law of Stanford in a stubbornly fought match, 11-9, 6-2. Other seeded players still undefeated are Vernon John of Southern California, Ralph Minnich of Princeton, and Ben Dey of Stanford.

The other quarter-finalists are George Stevens of Yale, Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Linsey Franklin of the University of Texas, and Ramsay Potts of the University of North Carolina.

Three Wildcats Lose.

Today's four singles matches which are scheduled to start at 2 o'clock will bring together John and Minnich; Stevens and Dey; Sutter and Mulloy, and Franklin and Potts.

Northwestern's three title hopes fell by the wayside yesterday. Two of the Wildcat stars, Russell and George Ball, seeded third and sixth, respectively, lost straight set matches while Don Leavens, sophomore southpaw, dropped a hard three set encounter to Dey of Stanford, 3-6, 9-7, 6-4.

Leavens' defeat was particularly disappointing, as the sandy haired youngster had Dey match point on three occasions in the second set. Both players resorted to a lobbing type of game from the start, being content to let the other commit errors. This strategy proved successful for Dey when Leavens began to net frequently in the latter stages. After pulling the second set out of the fire, 9 to 7, Dey had more left in reserve, winning the third and deciding set, 6 to 4.

Minnich's match with George Ball was a nip and tuck battle, especially in the second set. The Princeton star swept through the opening set easily, but Ball rallied to win five out of the first six games of the second set. Minnich then turned on the power to sweep through six straight games and win the set and match, 7-5. Minnich's superiority rested in ability to force Ball into frequent errors after long rallies.

Bennett, Newton Win.

Dick Bennett and Paul Newton of the University of California, top-seeded doubles team, marched into the quarter-finals with a straight set, 6-2, 6-1, victory over Carl Fischer and Norman Klein of Western State Teachers college of Kalamazoo. Other doubles victors were George and Russell Ball, Northwestern; Vernon John and Charles Carr, Southern California; Norbert Burgess and Norman Bickel, Chicago; Lindsey Franklin and Edgar Weller, University of Texas; Ralph Minnich and Frederick Whitman, Princeton; Ramsey Potts and Edgar Fuller, North Carolina, and Ben Dey and William Seward, Stanford.

Fourth round results:

Ralph Minnich, Princeton, defeated George Ball, Northwestern, 6-2, 7-5.
Lindsey Franklin, Texas, defeated Russell Ball, Northwestern, 6-3, 6-3.
George Stevens, Yale, defeated John Shostrom, Chicago, 6-4, 6-3.
Gardner Mulloy, Miami, defeated Charles Carr, Southern California, 7-5, 12-10.
Ernest Sutter, Tulane, defeated John Law, Stanford, 11-9, 6-2.

DOUBLES.
[Second Round.]

John and Carr, University of Southern California, won from Fleming and Cline, Iowa, by default.
Newton and Bennett, University of California, defeated Fischer and Klein, Western State Teachers, 6-2, 6-1.
Bickel and Burgess, Chicago, defeated Hinchliffe and Ellis, Yale, 6-2, 6-3.
Potts and Fuller, North Carolina, defeated Stevens and Stephens, Yale, 3-6, 8-6, 6-4.
Dey and Seward, Stanford, defeated Mulloy and Hendrix, Miami, 6-4, 6-4.
Ball and Ball, Northwestern, defeated Smalley and Pease, Texas, 7-9, 8-6, 6-1.
Franklin and Weller, Texas, defeated Underwood and Law, Stanford, 3-6, 9-7, 6-1.

Injury Forces Mako to Quit at Wimbledon

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WIMBLEDON, England, June 24.—Gene Mako withdrew from the all-England tennis tournament here today while America's four remaining stars successfully came through their second round matches.

Mako quit the singles matches because of a shoulder injury, defaulting to Christian Boussus, France, whom he was scheduled to meet in a second round match. The Californian indicated, however, that he may remain in the doubles competition. His partner is Donald Budge.

Jones Gives Allison Battle.

Wilmer Allison, the American national champion, Donald Budge, Bryan M. Grant, and John Van Ryn are the leading Americans remaining in the tournament. Allison met stiff opposition from David Jones, former Columbia university star, but managed to win out in straight sets today.

After an extended first set that Allison finally captured, 14-12, Jones appeared to tire and the next two sets and the match went to Allison, 6-3, 6-4.

Grant, who accounted for a major surprise on the first day of play by eliminating Heimer Henkel, Germany, was forced to play an extra set today to win his match. Playing against Maurice Deloford, England's former junior champion, Grant dropped the first set as the result of erratic play.

Grant then stepped out to win the next three sets. Scores were 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1. Budge's victim was Ian G. Collin, erstwhile British Davis cup player. The Californian was in excellent form as he won 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

American Women Triumph.

Dorothy Andrus and Carolin Babcock, United States players in the women's division, entered the third round. Mrs. Andrus beat Mrs. K. Bowden, Great Britain, 6-4, 7-5, while Miss Babcock, who lives in Los Angeles, beat Mrs. F. V. Frontes, 6-2, 6-3.

GERMANY WILL TAX SCHMELING ANOTHER $40,000

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, June 24.—Max Schmeling, who already has paid $40,000 in income tax to the United States out of his purse from the Louis fight, probably will surrender another $40,000 to the German government when he arrives home.

At the present rate of exchange, the $100,000 he is taking home will represent about 250,000 marks. Earnings of that size in any one year are taxed at the rate of 40 per cent. This means Schmeling must turn over to the Reich 100,000 marks, or $40,000.

The whole story is not told by such reckoning, however. Schmeling also will be called on to pay as property tax at the year end a portion running up to 10 per cent or more of the 150,000 marks left him after paying the income tax.

Carnera Plans on Leaving Hospital on Saturday

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Primo Carnera hopes to be discharged from the hospital on Saturday and expects to sail July 6 for Italy. The paralysis of his left side, caused by his fight with Leroy Haynes, was all but cleared up, and Carnera talks today of fighting again.

RAIN PILES UP DOUBLE-HEADER FOR CUBS TODAY

Lee and Carleton Will Face Boston.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 24.—The National league was going to put on a sixtieth anniversary celebration today and the Cubs were supposed to play the Bees but nothing happened. Rain fell in the morning and the various dignitaries in charge, instead of expressing regrets, welcomed the intervention.

It enabled them to frame a bigger and better show for tomorrow. The 1876 reproduction, in which local playground directors who have been rehersing diligently for the last two weeks, will play a few innings under the rules prevailing in that prehistoric period, will be the first act of the new program. The second and third acts will be handled by the Cubs and Bees, who will endeavor to demonstrate in a double-header how the game should be played under the modern rules. It is hoped all this for the price of one admission will draw a few patrons.

Lee, Carleton Today.

Manager Charley Grimm's pitching arrangement tomorrow will be the same as if the two games had been played as originally scheduled. Bill Lee will perform in the first game and try to make amends for his two failures at Brooklyn last Saturday and Sunday. Tex Carleton will start the second game and he, too, will have a little grievance to work off. He is anxious to prove to the Bees that he still regards them as cousins despite the beating they gave him two days ago.

After finishing here the Cubs will open a drive against the more classy members of the league. They haven't encountered first division opposition since they started their 15 game winning streak against the Giants at Chicago on June 3. Despite this sensational streak and the misfortunes of the Cardinals who have been operating on a one man pitching staf known as Dizzy Dean, the Cubs haven't been able to gain first place. This has convinced the present champions that the Cards are doubly tough.

Davis Opens Giant Series.

The first part of the strenuous program immediately ahead will be a series with the Giants. This will be made up of single games Friday and Saturday and a double-header on Sunday. This series coming on the heels of tomorrow's double bill may find Manager Grimm somewhat shy on pitching talent, but it may work out all right. He'll open against the Giants with Curt Davis, follow with Lon Warneke and Larry French and trust to a hunch in the fourth game. Bill Terry, the boss of the Giants, will see to it, of course, that the Cubs don't get away from the Polo grounds without facing both Hal Schumacher and Carl Hubbell.

From New York Grimm will take

Cotton Leads Qualifiers in British Open

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HOYLAKE, England, June 24.—Five Americans, led by Gene Sarazen, who held the British open championship in 1932, qualified for the British open golf tournament today at the end of the 36 hole qualifying round. Sarazen with 143 was four strokes behind the medalist, Henry Cotton, English star who won the title in 1934. The 72 holes of championship play start tomorrow with an 18 hole round.

America's other representatives in the meet are Ted Turner, Pine Valley, N. J., who had a total of 146; Willie Goggin, San Francisco, 150; Joe Ezar, trick shot artist of Waco, Tex., 150, and Errie Ball, Mobile, Ala., 154.

Boardman and Ball Fail.

Two other United States players, T. Dennis Boardman, South Hamilton, Mass., and Frank Ball, Tannersville, N. Y., failed to qualify. Boardman had a total of 162, while Ball carded 164.

An English caddy, however, stole the spotlight from the outstanding golfers in the tournament. Walter Smithers of Sunningdale, who took a 71 yesterday at Wallasey, shot a 70 today on the Hoylake links for a total of 141 and takes second place behind Cotton.

Walter Smithers Falters.

The caddy had a remarkable opportunity to take the lead from Cotton, but he faltered on the last nine. He toured the first nine in 33, but he took three straight fives on the last round when the galleries began to follow him.

The defending champion, Alf Perry of England, also was among the qualifiers, with a 154, one stroke under the margin.

McDiarmid Advances in Tri-State Net Tourney

Cincinnati, O., June 24.—(AP)—John McDiarmid of Chicago won his way into the quarter-final of the tri-state tennis tournament today by defeating Chalmers Retliff of Cincinnati, 6-4, 6-4.

DI MAGGIO GETS TWO HOME RUNS IN ONE INNING

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Managers Jimmy Dykes and Joe McCarthy yesterday agreed to conduct a baseball game without employing any pitching whatsoever. But Joe double crossed Jim by letting a wee bit of skilled tossing get in on his side and that is the reason the Yanks beat the White Sox, 18 to 11.

The experimental exhibition had some historical value, if nothing else. For instance:

Joe Di Maggio made two home runs in the ten run Yankee fifth, driving in five runs in the inning. The spectacular rookie had two doubles also. Only four other major leaguers have made two homers in one inning and the last American leaguer to accomplish the feat, Bill Reagan, did it at Comiskey park on June 16, 1928. Four other players have driven in five runs in one inning. Only one, Fred Merkle, ever drove in six in one inning. He did it May 13, 1911.

Gehrig Gets 101st Hit.

Lou Gehrig, major league batting leader, knocked his 98th, 99th, 100th, and 101st hits of the year, making Nos. 99 and 100 in the big fifth.

The Yanks made five homers to one by Luke Sewell for the Sox. Frank Crosetti opened the game with a circuit smash, Jake Powell made one with the bases full in the big fifth, sandwiched between those two by Di Maggio, and Dickey socked his No. 13 in the ninth.

The Yanks made 24 hits for 45 bases. Seven of them were off Sugar Cain in 2 2-3 innings, 7 off Babe Phelps [who is no relative of Manager Dykes, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding] in 1 1-3 innings; 9 off Red Evans in four innings and one off Italo Chelii in one inning.

The White Sox held the Yankees down to five runs in the first four innings by accomplishing three double plays, but after that the entire cast stepped up the hitting so brutally that the double play boys couldn't pull out the fellows who were asked to pitch.

Evens Season Series.

The Sox made six hits off Lefty Gomez, who left the game when the Sox were leading 7 to 5 after 2 2-3 innings of play. They made a similar number off Pat Malone the rest of the way. The Yankee pitchers walked 11 men.

The outcome evened the season series between the New Yorkers and Chicagoans at 5 all.

In the first inning Cain halted the Yankees with two runs, though they started out as if they were on the way to a million. Crosetti opened with a homer into the left field stands and Rolfe followed with a double to center. Di Maggio dumped a double near the foul line in short right, Rolfe stopping at third. Gehrig was given an intentional pass, filling the bases, then Dickey hit into a double play started by Hayes, Rolfe scoring. Hayes threw out Selkirk.

The Sox grabbed three runs to go ahead in their half of the first. Radcliff opened with a triple to right center and Rosenthal walked. Haas did not offer at any of three strikes, but Bonura walked, filling the bases. Appling singled to center, Radcliff and Rosenthal scoring and Bonura reaching third, whence he scored on Hayes' fly to Selkirk. Rolfe threw out Dykes.

Trouble Overtakes Cain.

It appeared in the second that Cain had regained his composure. He threw out Powell and fanned Heffner and Gomez. But the head of the batting order came up in the third and

SKIPPER UPTON ENTERS TRIBUNE REGATTA SUNDAY

He's 17, an Eagle Scout and a Champion!

Philip Q. Upton of St. Joseph, Mich., 17 year old Boy Scout skipper, yesterday entered his 22 foot racing sloop in the junior division of the Tribune's Sailing Regatta for small boats, scheduled off Montrose harbor Sunday. Upton may also compete as a skipper on a dinghy or a snipe.

Upton is one of the youngest and most successful skippers on the Great Lakes. Last year he competed against veteran yachtsmen in a Star class event on Lake Erie and scored a decisive victory.

Wins Junior Title.

He shipped from Lake Erie to Chicago and two weeks later outsailed a group of young skippers in the Sears cup eliminations for the junior championship of Lake Michigan. His score against the juniors was identical to that with which he had beaten the veteran skippers in Lake Erie.

Upton will have as his one man crew, Don Campbell, and will represent the St. Joseph River Yacht club. He is a student at University High school in Chicago and has earned forty-eight Boy Scout merit badges, including the coveted Eagle Palm.

Two Classes of Dinghies.

Two classes of dinghies will compete in the Tribune Regatta, which will be the first meet of its kind on Lake Michigan. Craft from the Michigan City and Chicago Corinthian Yacht clubs will constitute the larger fleet. Members of the Chicago and Columbia Yacht clubs will sail the class D Frostbite boats of the Dyer Dink type.

DIAMOND MEETS WILDE IN C. D. G. A. TOURNEY TODAY

Two rounds of play yesterday in the Chicago District Golf association junior open tournament at the Westward Ho Golf club left a field of eight survivors. Only one invading player, Don Walsh, Aurora, was among the survivors.

Bob Diamond, Westmoreland, made a 3, 3, 4 finish to defeat Ted Young, Alton school boy, 2 and 1. He will meet Earl Wilde, son of the Westward Ho professional, today. Fourth round results:

Jack Chamberlin, Glen Eagles, defeated George Costello, unattached, 3 and 2.

'SEE JACOBS' IS ROSS' ANSWER TO CANZONERI

Pian said Jacobs, of the Twentieth Century Sportig club, holds Ross' contract for his next title appearance. Commenting on an offer of $40,000 by Madison Square Garden to Ross for a title bout in August against either Canzoneri, lightweight champion, or Jimmy McLarnin, former champion, Pian said: "That $40,000 doesn't mean a thing—a Canzoneri-Ross fight would draw $200,000 and they know it."

CORNELL TO FIRE JAMES WRAY AS COACH OF CREW

Ithaca, N. Y., June 24.—[Special.]—The contract of James Wray, Cornell university head crew coach, will not be renewed, it was learned today. Wray has coached the Big Red teams since 1926 and his present contract expires on Aug. 31. According to reports, Tom Bolles, University of Washington freshman coach, will be named Wray's successor.

The decision of the athletic board to oust Wray was reached following Cornell's poor showing in the Poughkeepsie regatta last Monday. The disappointing race also prompted officials to withdraw the team from the Olympic tryouts at Princeton. Wray formerly coached at Harvard.

TETTERTON WINS 30 LAP EVENT FOR MIDGET CARS

Ted Tetterton won the thirty lap feature race at the Chicago Midget Auto speedway, Lincoln and Devon avenues, last night. He also finished first in two of the preliminaries. Wally Zale was second to Tetterton in the thirty lap event, and Gene Haustein third.

Harry MacQuinn, Indianapolis pilot, set a new track record to win the thirty-five lap feature auto race at the new Riverview speedway last night. Art Hartsfeld was second and Emil Andres finished third. Three other track records were shattered. Summaries:

MRS. NORTON AND RENA NELSON WIN IN STATE GOLF

Chicago Stars Reach the Semi-Final Round.

Peoria, Ill., June 24.—[Special.]—Squaring the match on the home green after being dormie two, and then chopping a stroke off par to win on the extra hole, Miss Rena Nelson, Exmoor, Chicago, advanced to the semi-finals of the Illinois women's state golf tourney by eliminating Miss Ellamae Williams, River Forest, Chicago, 1 up, in 19 holes, at the Peoria Country club today.

Entering the semi-final round with Miss Nelson was another Chicagoan, Mrs. D. W. Norton Jr., Glen View, who defeated Mrs. E. M. Mackemer, Peoria, 3 and 1.

Miss Foster Beats Miss Dudley.

Two Springfield golfers are the other semi-finalists, Miss Dorothy Foster, tourney winner in 1934 and the current tournament medalist, and Mrs. Robert Bullard. Miss Foster beat Miss Eleanor Dudley, Ridge, Chicago, 2 up, and Mrs. Bullard eliminated Mrs. William Funk, Decatur, 4 and 3.

In defeating Miss Williams, Miss Nelson, who eliminated Miss Hilda Livengood, Flossmoor, defending champion, yesterday, waged a great uphill fight. She was two down at the turn, but posted the best nine hole medal score of the tourney, par 37, on the incoming nine to even the match. She carded two birdies on the way back. Miss Williams had 41. On the outgoing nine Miss Nelson posted 44 to Miss Williams' 42. Par is 77.

Miss Nelson Hits It.

Miss Nelson was off a long and accurate tee shot to start the nineteenth. Miss Williams drove the rough and in trying the short route over the trees, shot two out of bounds balls and took five strokes to get on the green. Miss Nelson was 20 yards off the green with her second, and missed holing her approach by a foot. It brought her a birdie four, and one under par for the last ten holes.

Miss Foster and Miss Dudley were even at the turn and also even through the twelfth. Miss Dudley took the tenth, but after halving the next in birdie 4s, Miss Foster came back with a deuce on the par 3 twelfth with a fine pitch and one putt to square it again.

They halved the next two, but after Miss Dudley went one up by winning the fifteenth, Miss Foster won the three succeeding holes and the match with par golf. Her medal on the incoming nine was 38, one over par. Her card read 42—38—80. Miss Dudley posted 42—42—84.

was only 1 up at the turn. They halved the next five holes and then Lardner dropped a 25 footer for a birdie at the 15th, Kocsis missing a shorter try for a half. Lardner was trapped at the 16th, but Kocsis hooked out of bounds at the 17th, and they came to the 18th all square. Here Kocsis won with a par against Lardner's three putted green.

Kocsis-Lardner second round card:

Two Go to 19th Hole.

Of the twenty-four 18 hole debates yesterday two went to the 19th hole, while eight others finished on the 18th. Stewart was forced to do full time on both of his matches, winning 1 up from Day in the morning and by the same margin in the afternoon from Malloy of Michigan. Both Kocsis and Turnesa were similarly embarrassed during the afternoon, Chuck going to the home carpet before winning, 1 up, from Lardner and Turnesa needing a medal of 74 to score a 2 up decision over Johnny Wallace of Stanford.

The extra hole matches were decided in the morning round. Levinson was 4 up after the 13th hole of his match with Bill Kostelecky, new Northwestern captain, but the Wildcat won four of the next five holes to square it on the 18th. Levinson's par at the 19th was too much for Kostelecky's hooked tee shot. In the other match Leslie was pushed into extra innings by Art Doering, Chicagoan from Colorado college, before winning on the 19th.

Results of the first round:

Wilbur Kokes, Illinois, defeated W. Don Edwards, Stanford, 2 up.

Vern Stewart, Stanford, defeated Win Day, Notre Dame, 1 up.

J. O. Levinson, Yale, defeated William Kostelecky Jr., Northwestern, 1 up, 19 holes.

GOODMAN WINS, 4 AND 3; REACHES QUARTER-FINALS

Wichita, Kas., June 24.—(AP)—Johnny Goodman of Omaha, the defending champion, reached the quarter finals of the trans-Mississippi golf tournament today with a 4 and 3 victory over Dean Ritchie of Wichita.

Gus Moreland of Peoria, Ill., advanced with a 3 and 2 victory over Tom Trower of Bartlesville, Okla., and will meet Goodman tomorrow.

Shooting two under par, Leland Hamman of Paris, Tex., took a seven hole lead over C. L. Brosius of Wichita, on the first nine holes and went on to win, 8 and 7. He will meet Walter Blevins of Kansas City, tomorrow. Blevins eliminated Russell Graybill of Newton, Kas., in a second round, 4 and 3.

Public Link Golf Trials Scheduled for Next Week

The Chicago district next week will witness one of the most important elimination series of the 1936 season when the local qualifying rounds for the national public links tournament are decided at three Chicago park district courses on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

This test of the public links players is comparable to the trials for the national open and amateur. Out of the three day struggle will come the four golfers who will represent Chicago in the national tournament proper, to be settled at Beth Page park, Farmingdale, N. Y., from July 20 to July 25, inclusive.

The round will start Monday with eighteen holes of medal play at Jackson park, followed by another eighteen hole round Tuesday on the Diversey layout in Lincoln park. From each of these the low sixteen scorers will go to the final of thirty-six holes on Wednesday at Lincoln's Waveland course, where the field of thirty-two will battle for the four places on the national team.

The Chicago Men's Apparel Golf association, a new golfing organization composed of the leading clothing manufacturers, distributors, and retailers in the central west, will hold its first golf tournament tomorrow at the Medinah Country club. More than 100 members are expected to participate in the tourney, which will be an all day affair followed by a banquet in the evening. A number of clothing men from New York, Cincinnati, and the middle west have been invited to attend.

Today brings one of the busiest single day programs the local district has seen this year. In addition to the quarter-finals of the national intercollegiate at North Shore, the Chicago district junior at Westward-Ho, and the women's state at Peoria, the schedule reveals competition for three interclub organizations, and three other events expected to attract larger fields.

Hinsdale will hold its annual invitational tournament, the buggy ride, a thirty-six hole journey; Ravisloe will conduct its annual sports stag under the direction of Joe Lipp, chairman of the sports and pastimes committee, and the Chicago Association of Credit Men will gather at Southmoor.

The schedule of matches for the three leagues today follows:

North Shore league at Evanston—North Shore vs. Exmoor; Glen View vs. Sunset Ridge; Park Ridge vs. Evanston; Ridgemoor vs. Skokie, and Edgewater vs. Westmoreland.

South District league at Idlewild—Idlewild vs. South Shore; Lincolnshire vs. Calumet; Ravisloe vs. Flossmoor, and Olympia Fields vs. Midlothian.

Jacobs Seeks Deal with Garden on Fight for Title

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—The first move to bring about an agreement for the promotion of a heavyweight title fight between Champion James J. Braddock and Max Schmeling here in September was made today by Mike Jacobs of the Twentieth Century Sporting club who made an offer to Madison Square Garden to sell his interest in Schmeling or buy the Garden's interest in Braddock.

While no announcement of details of the offer was made it was reported that Jacobs offered to relinquish his right for $150,000 or pay a like figure for the release of Braddock by the Garden. Jacobs expects an answer today and said he would have an important announcement to make late in the afternoon.

This peace move was made in an effort to make it possible to stage the fight without resorting to litigation. Schmelling is under contract to Jacobs while Braddock is under contract to the Garden. If this move fails there remains a possibility that Jacobs and the Garden may get together on terms for jointly promoting the fight.

Braddock has been offered $200,000 to fight Max Baer in Oklahoma City and another offer of the same amount has been made by Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter for a fight between the champion and Baer or Schmeling at Soldiers' field in September.

U. S. Defeats England, 15-9, in Polo Final

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 24.—America's polo team defeated Great Britain, 15 to 9, today in the third and final game of the international series. The game was largely an exhibition match since the Americans had taken the first two games to clinch the title.

Both teams appeared with revamped lineups today. On the American side, Elbridge Gerry and Bobby Strawbridge substituted for Mike Phipps and Winston Guest, while Capt. George Prior-Palmer played in the place of Capt. Humphrey P. Guinness for the British.

The Americans decided the contest with a five goal spurt in the third chukker, which gave them a lead of 8 to 4, and a three goal rally in the fifth, which boosted their advantage to 13 to 6.

The Britons, in fact, failed to provide much real opposition, displaying little of the form which enabled them to hold the Americans to 10 to 9 and 8 to 6 scores in the first two matches.

Gerry, who played No. 1, was the star of the day, scoring eight goals. Pedley made four and Inglehart three.

Lineup:

AMERICA [15].		ENGLAND [9].
Elbridge Gerry	No. 1	Hesketh Hughes
Eric Pedley	No. 2	Gerald Balding
Stewart Inglehart	No. 3	G. Prior-Palmer
B. Strawbridge	Back	E. Tyrrell-Martin

OLYMPIC FUND LACKS $146,000, BRUNDAGE SAYS

Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, last night said that with only 20 days remaining before the boat sails, $146,000 still is needed to send a representative American team to the Olympic games in Germany.

"In 1920 the team embarked without the committee having enough money to get it home," Brundage said, "but this year the committee has decided it must have adequate funds for the whole trip before the start is made."

The team will sail on the S. S. Manhattan July 15. Brundage pointed out the athletes must know if funds are available at least five days before to make plans to reach New York.

Lyons and Sox Meet Yankees in Final Today

Ted Lyons, who will go after his fourth victory of the season in the White Sox final with the Yankees this afternoon, is full of hope that he will be able to avert his seventh defeat. He will be opposed by Charley Ruffing, in quest of his ninth victory but exposed to a possible sixth defeat.

President Will Harridge of the American league attended yesterday's Comiskey dinner to New York and Chicago baseball writers and got cauliflower ears listening to yelps about the alpine press box at Philadelphia and the bush league press stall at Washington.

Crosetti's homer, which opened yesterday's entertainment, was the fourth made off Cain in three successive games. When Sugar beat Grove and the Red Sox his next to the last previous time out the only runs were two homers by Jimmy Foxx. The only runs against him his last time out prior to yesterday were two scored on a home run by Bob Johnson.

CROWDER, ILL, QUITS TIGERS FOR REST OF '36

Detroit, Mich., June 24.—(AP)—Alvin Crowder, Detroit Tiger pitcher who has struggled against dual handicaps of a sore arm and a stomach ailment this year, asked today to be placed on the voluntary retirement list for the remainder of the season.

Crowder has been in organized baseball since 1922 when he joined the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league. He played with Winston-Salem, Rochester, Waterbury, and Birmingham before going to the Washington Senators in 1926. He was traded to the St. Louis Browns in 1927, but returned to Washington in 1930.

Detroit obtained him on waivers in 1934, and his pitching was an important factor in the Tigers' pennant triumph that year. He has won four games while losing three this season. Crowder said he hoped to rejoin the Tigers next spring. He is 35 years old.

Yanks Defeat Sox, 18-11, to Even Series

made merry. Crosetti opened with a single to center and stopped at second on Rolfe's single to left. Di Maggio flied to Radcliff, but Gehrig doubled to right center, scoring Crosetti with the tying run. Dickey was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Then Selkirk singled to right, Gehrig and Dickey scoring. Phelps replaced Cain. Powell hit into a double play started by Dykes.

The Sox got one run across in the third. Rosenthal fanned, but Haas and Bonura walked. Appling flied to Powell, after which Hayes lined a single to center, scoring Haas. Dykes struck out.

Heffner struck out for the second time to get the Yank fourth under way, then Gomez singled to right. The Sox ended the session with their third double play, this one started by Appling.

Luke Ties Score.

Sewell opened the home fourth with his No. 4 homer, a shot into the left field stands, and the score was tied at 4-all. Phelps grounded to Rolfe, and Radcliff grounded to Heffner, but Rosenthal singled and Haas drew his second pass. Bonura doubled to the wall in right center, scoring Rosenthal and Haas. Malone replaced Gomez and threw out Appling.

And here is the painful record of what good hitting combined with no pitching did in the Yankee fifth: Rolfe beat out an infield roller and scored on the first of Di Maggio's homers, the two runs tying the count at 7-all. Gehrig singled to center and went to third on Dickey's single to right, Dickey taking second on the throw to third. Selkirk was given an intentional pass, filling the bases, which promptly were cleared when Powell socked a homer into the left field stand.

Heffner doubled to left and though Manager Dykes, as chairman of the Phelps for President club, hated to do it, he was obliged to admit Babe had lost his stuff. Evans came in and Malone singled to left, Heffner stopping at third. Crosetti bounced to Dykes, and Heffner was run down between third and home while the crowd applauded the first putout of the inning.

Joe Busts Another.

Rolfe furnished the second out with a fly to Radcliff. Enthusiasm over two putouts in a row raged in the stands, but the wild cheering came too soon, for Di Maggio drove his second homer of the inning into the upper deck of the left field stands, scoring Malone and Crosetti. Gehrig then doubled to right, his second hit of the inning and his hundredth hit of the season. Lou scored on Dickey's single to center. Selkirk walked, but Powell was called out on strikes.

Di Maggio knocked his second double and fourth extra base hit with one out in the seventh, went to third on Gehrig's single and scored on Dickey's single to center. Gehrig scored on Selkirk's long fly. Powell then forced Dickey.

Fuzzy base running by Kreevich choked what might have been a much bigger carnival of innocent fun for the Sox in the eighth. Shea walked then Kreevich, batting for Evans, singled to left, Shea stopping at second. Radcliff singled to right, and because the Sox were ten runs behind, Shea took no chances and stopped at third. Di Maggio threw to Dickey, who observed that both Shea and Kreevich were on third. Mike was run down. Rosenthal walked, filling the bases. Haas flied to Powell, then Bonura and Appling walked, forcing in Shea and Radcliff. Hayes flied to Di Maggio.

Two in Ninth.

Chelini pitched the ninth inning and held the Yankees to one hit, a homer by Dickey into the right field stands.

After two were out in the ninth the Sox accumulated two runs when Chelini singled to center, Radcliff walked, both runners advanced to third and second unmolested, after which Rosenthal singled to center and scored them both.

EDITORIAL JOTTINGS.

YE ED is back at his sanctum desk with his old corncob pipe after three weeks sojourning among box fighters in the east. We'll be gratified to greet our neighbors again and to exchange views on local and national subjects with callers, as per custom, in the sanctum.

Neighbor Isabelle of Byron confesses she didn't understand the quandary of the Democrats at Philadelphia or why they wasted so much time making a new party platform when the one they had four years ago had never been used and was just as good as new. This sounds to Ye Ed like a dirty dig.

Contributor George Hagstrom also wonders why the Debtocrats chose the City of Brotherly Love for their convention site.

National Committeeman Patrick Nash and Gov. Henry Horner are representing our fair state at the national convention of Debtocrats. Ye Ed is reliably informed they are not rooming together.

We are querulously asked by Subscriber Doubleay whether Representative Zioncheck of Washington is just a congressman or a congressman at large. Ye Ed is tempted to give him the suggestion of Reader Kayne, who thinks Mr. Zioncheck is crazy with the heat, but appends that if it isn't the heat it must be the stupidity.

Our courageous Cubs are making those chaps down at St. Louis sit up and take notice. Usually the representatives of our fair city in the national pastime do not put on the pressure until later in the season.

Ye Ed may add that the boxing bout we attended while away did not turn out as many expected. Life is like that.

his champions to Cincinnati. A night game is scheduled there next Monday and daylight engagements on Wednesday and Thursday. On the second open date of the week the Cubs will go from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh, where three games must be played in two days. This will end the Cubs traveling for the time being, except for such of them as are destined to figure in the All-Star game here July 7.

Postponing of today's festivities gave the baseball officials, and there are a lot of them on hand, an opportunity to pitch in and try to find out just what is what about the fan poll in connection with the All-Star game.

No one seems to know much about anything and the inclination is to blame the National league, which has a habit of bungling. Somebody who stole a peek at the returns discovered a glaring error in connection with Stanley Hack, the Cubs' third baseman. The ballot counters at the local headquarters fixed Hack's total in the National poll at 77 less than the number he received in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S poll alone.

Another item which leaked from the tabulating room concerned the National league's first baseman. Fellows like Grimm and Terry, who don't want to play because of infirmities, are among the first four in the voting. Jimmy Collins, who really is the best available, is fifth. In the event Collins is still low in the final count, Grimm probably will name the Cardinal star among the five he is entitled to pick.

RAVISLOE CLUB TO HOLD BOXING SHOW TONIGHT

A combination boxing and wrestling show will be presented tonight at Ravisloe Country club, Western avenue and 180th street, in conjunction with the annual golf tournament and spring stag for members and guests. J. J. Lipp, Big Ten, Golden Gloves and Illinois Boxing commission official, who is head of the sports and pastime committee, has made every effort to make the program one of the best in the club's history.

Barney Ross, world welterweight champion, will referee a three round contest involving Clifton Foy, west section Golden Gloves qualifier, and Eddie Helstrom, north side lightweight. Johnny Behr American Olympic boxing coach, will referee a bout between Johnny Helstrom, Eddie's twin brother, and Frankie Agnes, Northwest gymnasium 135 pound boxer. The judges will be Rube Metz and Dr. E. A. Frankel.

Battles between Jackie Reed, Tinley park middleweight, and Sherman Edwards, Joliet sectional Golden Gloves titleholder, and Bob Wiley, Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions quarter finalist, and Dave Schimmel, Joliet bantamweight finalist, will be refereed by Norman McGarity.

Between these encounters Andy Scrivani, Chester Rutecki, and Johnny Brown, members of the Olympic team, will be presented. After the last encounter on the card—a wrestling bout between Frankie Talaber and Roy Rickenbocher—Johnny Coulon, the old bantamweight king, will do his lifting act with the help of Jay Berwanger, University of Chicago football player.

PUBLIC ENEMY OF RACES? EASY, IT'S GARDEN MESSAGE

Consistent Loser Flops for 41st Straight Time.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Public Enemy No. 1 on the race tracks is Garden Message, owned by Clarence Davison, who maintains a farm near Chicago.

This fact became most evident at Hawthorne yesterday afternoon when Garden Message, made the favorite by an eager crowd of horse players, finished out of the money in the six and one-half furlong fifth race.

In his last 41 starts Garden Message, a 6 year old son of Messenger-Garden Rose, has failed to win a race. Yet in a majority of those races he has been the favorite or, if not the choice, he was stoutly backed.

He's Consistent, at That.

He has cost his backers almost enough money to pay off another soldiers' bonus. Still just as often as he parades to the post the fans swarm to his support. Is it any wonder that they hope the turf's G-men move in and take this fellow so far away they'll never see his name in print again.

Public Enemy No. 1 started 26 times in many parts of the country last year, but could not win a race. When he paraded out in yesterday's event he was making his 15th start of the 1936 season. Prior to yesterday he had traveled all over the country and almost always was the favorite. But he didn't look at the winning post during that campaign.

Garden Message probably doesn't even know what the winning post looks like any more.

While Garden Message was offering definite proof that he is Public Enemy No. 1, a flock of other Illinois owned horses galloped up to the winning post and said "Howdy, Judge."

Blue Train Thunders Home.

The most important of these Illinois victories was rolled up by Mrs. Leo Remm's Blue Train, a son of Blue Larkspur-Flora May, which won the Marquette purse at six furlongs. Jocky Balaski rushed him up on the inside to get the decision in the last few strides and beat Ald. Coughlin's Roguish Girl by half a length. Lady Montrose, owned by Jake Lowenstein, Chicago, was a distant third.

Blue Train's victory brought great joy to the long shot players, for, after running the six furlongs in 1:12 2-5, she paid $30 for a $2 ticket.

Grey Streak Just Lasts.

The victory parade of Illinois owned horses started in the first race. This dash, at six furlongs, engaged nine sprinters. The winner in an exciting finish was Grey Streak, from the barn of John Marsch.

After enjoying a comfortable lead for a time, he faltered in the final stages and just did beat Fire Star and Bonnie Dream. The latter, owned by Mrs. E. Oros, Chicago, might have been best, but she ran out slightly at the head of the stretch. Grey Streak was backed stoutly, paying $5.20 for a two dollar ticket.

Warren Wright's filly, Princess Bull, was beaten a half length by Phalasan, a Texas 2 year old, in the second race. The third race developed into almost a sweep for the Illinois standard bearers. Mrs. Sam Gorbet's Playmaster was the winner, with Clarence Davison's Pompous Genie, also from Illinois, second.

High Polish Shines.

The Clarendon Hills purse, which engaged a stylish band of 3 year olds, found High Polish, a fast running son of Cotlogomor-Elizabeth Seth, the winner by a head after a sensational stretch battle with Little Shaver, owned by the Bomar stable of Detroit. High Polish carried the silks of Tom Worden of Chicago.

All these Illinois victories thrilled the crowd, but Public Enemy No. 1, that hoss Garden Message, horned in and spoiled the afternoon for most of them.

Roman Soldier to Campaign at Arlington Park

Roman Soldier, crack handicap horse racing for Elwood Sachsenmaier, will be shipped from New York Sunday and will arrive at Arlington Park Monday morning, Secretary Roy Carruthers was advised here yesterday. Arlington Park will open its annual meeting Monday.

After earning the respect of handicappers in New England and New York Roman Soldier will come to the Chicago meeting for his engagements in the $10,000 added Stars and Stripes handicap, the mile and a furlong feature on July 4, and the $10,000 added Arlington handicap, the mile and a quarter distance test for older horses which will share the limelight with the richly endowed Arlington Futurity on closing day, Aug. 1.

E. K. Bryson's Carvola, the 3 year old filly which finished second to Hollyrood in the Chicago Derby last Saturday, will head the powerful public stable which Bryson will campaign at Arlington Park. In addition to the thirteen horses which race under his own silks, Bryson also will race C. W. Hay's Auntie Peyton and Dock Beauchamp; Walter Hardest's Dusky Devil and Judge Bolton; P. J. Jochum's Imperial Pal, and H. Florentine's More Poise and Black Timber.

Starter Roy Dickerson set up the Bahr gate in the seven furlong chute and inaugurated schooling yesterday. Schooling will be conducted each morning between 6 and 8 o'clock.

Weights for the $2,500 Inaugural handicap, the seven furlong feature of the opening day program, will be announced today.

Harry I. Day, inventor of the Eye in the Sky, the $200,000 finish picture device being introduced to Chicago racegoers at Arlington, will hold a public test of the machine Sunday.

Two shipments arrived from Latonia yesterday. Trainer G. Brooks brought six, including the good handicap horse, Visigoth, and Willie Crump unloaded seven horses.

GOLD SEEKER IS VICTOR IN $5,100 GAZELLE STAKES

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—The Chesapeake stakes winner, Gold Seeker, which later succumbed to the filly jink in the Kentucky Derby, ran with horses of her own sex in the $5,100 Gazelle stakes at Aqueduct today and won in decisive fashion. At the end of the mile and a sixteenth the daughter of Messenger and Golden Fair was two lengths to the good and returned 5 to 1.

Gold Seeker ran coupled in the betting with Sunrap, one that set a sizzling pace for the first three quarters, and contributed to the defeat of the Coaching Club American Oaks winner, High Fleet, which finished second a length and a half before Little Miracle.

The mile and a sixteenth was finished in 1:44 3-5 with the winner earning $3,875.

Lake Forest Exhibit Will Open Today.

The Lake Forest Horse Show association's thirty-sixth annual benefit for the Lake Forest Hospital association will open today at the Onwentsia Country club with exhibitors from all parts of the United States and Canada competing in seventy-five classes for $6,000 in prizes.

The Lake Forest show this year has established a record for entries with 296 horses qualified for competition. This number exceeds that of leading eastern shows this season.

Representing the east will be the famous Glenholme stable of Washington, Conn., owned by Adrain Van Sinderen, New York investment broker; Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim of New York, Miss Frances Dodge of Detroit, whose string is headed by King of the Plain, champion hackney pony of the United States, valued at $50,000, and Arthur Hopkins' Cazenovia stables from Cazenovia, N. Y.

Cavalry Unit Entered.

Mrs. Mary Fisher of Detroit, will handle her own entries from the Dixiana farms of Lexington, Ky. St. Louis representatives include the highly prized strings owned by Augustus Busch, Miss Jane Johnson, and Paul Bakewell III. Other well known exhibitors competing at Lake Forest for the first time are Miss Eileen Bigelow of White Bear Lake, Minn., and Mississauga Horse of Toronto, one of the outstanding cavalry units in the British empire, which has entered a team in the international military jumping contest.

Nearly half the entries are Chicago owned. Outstanding Chicago exhibitors will be A. B. Dick Jr., whose Dicksfield farm string won 47 ribbons at Devon and Atlantic City this spring; Mrs. A. C. Thompson and Howard Hurwith. The Dick string will be led by Melbourne Swell, a hackney pony, whose meeting with the Glenholme Farm's Cassilis Queen of Scots and Miss Dodge's King of the Plain will be one of the features of the show.

Here Are Chicago Entries.

Chicagoans whose entries will compete against the invaders from the east and west include Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., Master Vernon Armour, Benjamin Behr, Sheila Cudahy, Mrs. John E. Hughes, John F. Jelke Jr., Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., Mrs. Austin Niblack, S. Prentice Porter, Mrs. Kimball Salisbury, Douglas Stuart, Mrs. Seymour Wheeler, Mrs. E. H. Oppenheim, and H. Leslie Atlass.

The show will open with a novice jumping elimination at 11 o'clock this morning. The formal program will get underway at 2 o'clock. A session is also scheduled for tonight. Tomorrow's schedule includes an afternoon and night session and on Saturday there will be a morning and afternoon session. Final competition will take place on Sunday afternoon.

WOMEN'S A. A. U. SWIMMING MEET WILL OPEN TODAY

New York, June 24.—(AP)—The nation's greatest mermaids tomorrow will start a four day assault on record performances in the National A. A. U. outdoor swimming and diving meet at Manhattan beach.

Heading the select field are Lenore Kight Wingard of Cincinnati and 18 year old Katherine Rawls of Miami Beach, Fla. Mrs. Wingard will defend three championships in the 440 yard, 880 yards, and one mile free style events. Miss Rawls will seek to retain her 220 yard breast stroke and 300 meter individual medley titles.

Other defending title holders in the meet include Olive McKean of Seattle, in the 100 meter free style; Elizabeth Kompa, New York, in the 220 yard back stroke; 12 year old Mary Hoerger, Miami Beach, in the three meter springboard dive; Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill of Los Angeles, in the platform dive.

GREY STREAK, a strong factor from the start, raced into a good lead soon after reaching the stretch then weakened and appeared lucky to win. FIRE STAR, quick to begin but taken back on the turn and timidly handled soon after reaching the stretch, closed strong after coming out in final eighth and may have been best. BONNIE DREAM took command quickly, was raced very wide on the far turn, appeared to be racing easily when overtaken by the winner in stretch where she was on inside and responded to urging in late stages.

PHALASAN stumbled slightly shortly after the start, saved ground on the turn, raced between horses entering the final eighth and coming to outside of PRINCESS BULL in the final sixteenth, appeared ready to draw out. Latter, under vigorous riding throughout, swerved out slightly in the stretch and held on well, though failing to withstand the winner.

PLAYMASTER, racing in his best form and showing the most speed from the start, increased his advantage under strong urging soon after reaching the stretch, but was taken in hand in the final eighth. POMPOUS GENIE, forced to lose much ground and slow to respond to pressure, came around WOODWAY and JOCKANA in the last eighth and withstood OUR PATTY'S rush. Latter, also raced wide.

HIGH POLISH, steadied along when outrun, early began to make up ground when racing wide on stretch turn, bumped LITTLE SHAVER as latter swerved out soon after reaching the final quarter, and gaining a short advantage held it in a long drive. LITTLE SHAVER, under restraint for three-eighths, swerved out when entering stretch and stood a long drive gamely though failing to get up. "YOU'RE STILL PRODUCING PLENTY OF HAIR
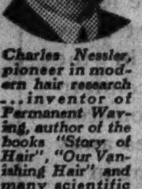
Even Though You're Growing Bald"



Charles Nessler, pioneer in modern hair research ... inventor of Permanent Waving, author of the books "Story of Hair", "Our Vanishing Hair" and many scientific papers.

Charles Nessler, leading hair biologist, makes this startling announcement: "Your system is constantly producing hair substance — always — even when you're on the road to baldness. Bring your scalp back to normal, let your hair find its proper outlet," states Nessler, "and you can stop worrying about baldness."

Charles Nessler's Pro-Ker Treatment is based on that simple scientific principle. Pro-Ker helps your scalp back to normal. And a normal scalp, Nessler explains, constantly replaces falling hair with new, healthy hair. Just as an animal sheds and replaces its fur. Falling hair is natural. But that hair must be replaced!

RELIEVES DANDRUFF, ITCHING, OILINESS

These are mere secondary conditions that disappear as soon as your scalp is back to normal. A few minutes attention each day is all your scalp requires. Pro-Ker is pleasant to use—not sticky or greasy; free from alcohol. An excellent hair-dressing too, for men and women. Buy Pro-Ker today 1.00 size, 89c—1.50 size, 1.39

FALMOUTH, England, June 24.—Endeavour II., T. O. M. Sopwith's potential America's cup challenger, sailing in her first race today, finished last. Hugh Paul's Astra won by ten minutes. H. A. Andrae's Endeavour I. was second, and W. L. Stephenson's Velsheda finished third. The breeze was so light and there were so many areas of total calm that the race was stopped when two rounds of the course had been sailed, a distance of 27 sea miles.

ARTHUR CUTTEN FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Wealthy Grain Operator Dies of Heart Attack.

Funeral services for Arthur W. Cutten, wealthy grain speculator, who died of a heart attack early yesterday in his apartment at the Edgewater Beach hotel, will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in St. James Episcopal church, Huron street and Wabash avenue. Following the services the body will be sent to Guelph, Ont., for burial tomorrow.

The services here will be conducted by the Rt. Rev. George Craig Stewart, Episcopal bishop of Chicago. A committee of nineteen members of the Chicago Board of Trade, appointed by President Robert P. Boylan, will represent the board at the funeral.

The pallbearers will be Benjamin R. Brown, Allan M. Clement, Arthur F. Lindley, James W. McCulloh, and Harry H. Lobdell, members of the Board of Trade; Ruloff E. Cutten of New York City, a cousin, and William Ragland and Edward Schaack.

Widow to Accompany Body.

The grain trader's widow, Mrs. Maude Cutten, will accompany the body to Guelph, where her husband was born 66 years ago. Attorney Orville J. Taylor, who represented Mr. Cutten in many legal matters, said that his will would not be filed for probate until Mrs. Cutten returns from Canada.

Friends of Mr. Cutten said it was their belief that the will gives practically the entire estate to his widow. It was said that the Cutten fortune, once estimated at $100,000,000, was reduced considerably by losses in the stock market crash of 1929. Attorney Harry Ash, former assistant attorney general of Illinois, and Arthur Lindley, a broker, will accompany Mrs. Cutten to Canada.

Besides his widow, Mr. Cutten is survived by three brothers, Lionel and Ralph of Toronto, Ont., and Harry of Guelph, and by two sisters, Mrs. George Foster and Miss Lenore Cutten, both of Guelph. Mr. and Mrs. Cutten had no children.

$7 a Week at Start.

Mr. Cutten came to Chicago from Guelph when he was 20 years old and went to work as a $7 a week clerk for A. S. White & Co., La Salle street brokerage house. Six years later he purchased a seat on the Board of Trade with $600 he had saved.

He opened a small office in La Salle street and began his operations as a free lance trader. Within 20 years he became one of the country's outstanding grain speculators, usually operating on the bull or buying side of the market in wheat or corn. In 1925 Mr. Cutten paid $540,000 in income tax, the largest tax for this district until that year.

His huge speculations brought him into conflict with the government on several occasions. In 1935 he was ordered barred from the grain pits of the nation by the federal grain futures commission for a period of two years.

Wins Battle with U. S.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals reversed this ruling on Cutten's appeal, and the reversal was upheld by the United States Supreme court last May.

A few weeks before the Supreme court's decision the federal grand jury here returned indictments charging Mr. Cutten with attempting to evade income taxes totaling $644,469 for the years 1929, 1930, and 1933. The grain trader gave bond for his appearance in court on these charges.

Assistant District Attorney Carl R. Perkins said the indictments would be automatically dismissed as a result of Mr. Cutten's death, but the government would proceed against the estate in a civil suit to collect the amount allegedly owed in taxes.

Ill Since Last November.

Mr. Cutten had been in poor health since last November when he was stricken with double pneumonia. He was ordered then by his physicians to give up all business activity.

Until this illness Mr. Cutten and his wife, the former Maude Boomer of Chicago, spent most of the time on their 800 acre country place on Butterfield road near Glen Ellyn. It was in this home in 1922 that a gang of seven robbers took $20,000 in jewelry and liquor, and locked the Cuttens and other members of the family in an almost air tight vault.

With the help of the butler, Cutten forced open the door before the air in the vault was exhausted. During the next eight years he kept relentlessly on the robbers' trail until each one was arrested and sent to prison.

6 Police Squads Capture 2 Parolees as Slayers

Andrew Bogacki, 25 years old, and Paul Jenkot, 25 years old, both paroled convicts from the Pontiac reformatory, who have been sought for the murder of Policeman Jerome McCauley on May 29, were arrested last night at Clybourn and Diversey avenues. Detective Chief John L. Sullivan and Sergt. John Hanrahan led six squads in making the arrest. Bogacki and Jenkot are said by police to be accomplices of Frank Korczykowski, named as the actual slayer of McCauley during a chase on the northwest side. Korczykowski was shot and wounded when police captured him recently.

Police Seek School Teacher to Testify on Rape Charge

The Oak Park police were ordered by the grand jury yesterday to find Miss Dorothy Gibson, 25 years old, a school teacher, to testify on her charge that she was raped in her room at 534 North Grove avenue, Oak Park, by Kenneth Keagy on May 31. Keagy, who is married and lives at 116 South Ridgeland avenue in the suburb, is being held in the county jail, unable to raise a $3,000 bond on a charge of rape that has been continued several times because of the nonappearance of Miss Gibson, who is reported to be in Wisconsin.

"First, dependability of the northeast leg of the Kansas City radio range.

"With my gums gradually shrinking I had difficulty keeping my plate in position with various denture powders. Most of them lasted only a few hours. Now I use FASTEETH and what a difference! I now wear my plate for 24 hours with absolute security and comfort. Fasteeth does not wash away or become thinned out, but 'STAYS PUT' until I am ready to remove plate. FASTEETH is tasteless. Does not sour or cause foul breath. Holds false teeth all day long."
Accept only FASTEETH to enjoy false teeth comfort like you've never had before. Ask for FASTEETH at Walgreen's or any good drug store.

Bowes' new CBS show from 8 to 9 o'clock, bucking "Show Boat" which is on NBC at that hour.

Kate is winding up her three a week 6:30 series tonight and then heads for a months' vacation which may include some whale hunting off the Alaskan coast. Her sponsor will present Jack Miller's music until she returns.

The trek of Chicago radio entertainers to Hollywood continues. Dorothy Miller, former W-G-N songstress, was engaged yesterday by Xavier Cugat, the tango and rumba maestro, to join his organization. His orchestra leaves the Stevens hotel after tonight for a short stay in Detroit and then they go to Hollywood to play at the Trocadero and to do the music in the picture, "The Big Broadcast of 1937," which also will feature Jane Froman, Jack Benny, and Benny Goodman's music. Ben Pollack's orchestra will take Cugat's place at the Stevens beginning tomorrow.

Carl Grayson, who sings with Henry Busse at the Chez Paree, has been engaged for a picture assignment by Columbia's president, Harry Cohn. Bob Hannon, young tenor who sings on W-G-N's Mardi Gras program, is to take Grayson's place with Busse.

Many inquiries are coming in about "The Petticoat," who is assisting the Mutual crew in broadcasting the Philadelphia convention. As pointed out here, she is Isabelle Manning Hewson, the pride of Philadelphia. One fan asks: "Why say 'The Petticoat?'" To which the Mutual publicity staf answers: "The dictionary on MBS' shelf says: 'Petti-coat—1. A skirt or loose garment depending from the waist; especially a woman's underskirt. 2. One who wears a petticoat, hence, a woman.'"

Boner: Tuesday evening a local announcer urged: "Now keep your dial set on WMAQ while NBC brings you the Republican national convention."

First guest stars on the Rupert Hughes-Benny Goodman-Nat Shilkret Caravan series, opening at 8:30 next Tuesday over CBS, will be Clark Gable and Madeleine Carroll in an adaptation of "Men in White." . . . And Ben Bernie has engaged Harpo Marx for his program of July 7. Ben promises that Harpo will talk.

Jack Hylton will return to England after next Sunday's broadcast. Fall plans of his sponsor are not yet determined but he has reserved time starting Sunday, Sept. 13. . . . The all star baseball game will be broadcast from Boston on Tuesday, July 7, starting at 12:15 p. m. In case of rain, it will be aired at 9:15 the following morning. Bob Elson and Red Barber will cover the game for W-G-N-Mutual. NBC and CBS also will broadcast.

Mrs. Veronica M. Corkell, 76 years old, 7125 Euclid avenue, pioneer Chicago resident, died yesterday in her home. She was the widow of Thomas W. Corkell, an engineer in the public schools, and the daughter of John T. McDermott, early Chicago contractor.

Mrs. Corkell was born in Chicago. At the time of the Chicago fire she resided at 18 Scott street. During the last two years she had been suffering from injuries incurred in a fall.

NEW FURNITURE CONVERTIBLE TO MANIFOLD USES

A "shelless egg boiler" and a sewing machine that may be converted into a cocktail bar are two of the many "simplify your home life" gadgets which will be shown in the Merchandise mart July 6 to 18 at the international home furnishings market.

Gadgets for every fancy, but all tending toward economy of energy or space, are included in the annual summer market, in which some 450 manufacturers are participating. Five furnishing divisions, ranging from lamps to rugs, will be represented.

Unit furniture shows new developments. The wooden arm of a couch, for instance, may become [1] a concealed radio, [2] a concealed bar, [3] an end table or [4] just an arm rest. Similarly, the headboards of the new beds harbor telephones, nightlights, book shelves, and radios—all popping out of hidden niches.

In color, furniture has gone "blonde," with light woods being given the 1936 preference. Rugs and carpetings, however, are veering back toward the more sombre shades. Rust is being replaced by leaf brown, while a preponderance of dark blue is being shown.

More than 15,000 retail merchants are expected to view the market, which runs concurrently with the summer market of the American Furniture mart, 666 Lake Shore drive. The latter, which will have its highest roll of exhibitors since 1929, according to Lawrence H. Whiting, president, it to open at noon, July 6, with a luncheon of furniture designers.

CALLS UPON BAR TO AID REFORMS IN U. S. COURTS

Members of the Chicago Bar association were called upon yesterday for criticisms and suggestions on the draft of proposed changes in federal court procedure which a committee appointed by the United States Supreme court recently completed.

The call was issued by Edgar B. Tolman, a past president of both the Chicago and Illinois Bar associations and a former corporation counsel who has practiced law in Chicago since 1882. He has been engaged for the past year as a special assistant U. S. attorney general helping to draft the plan.

Speaking at a bar association luncheon, Tolman said the proposed reform was an important step in an age long task of improving judicial procedure.

Among the aims of the proposed reform, according to previously published reports, are the elimination of complex distinctions in law and equity procedure, a semplification of pleadings, expedition of settlements of cases in which it is found that no real issues are involved, and a betterment of appeal procedure.

The 10,000 delegates to its 27th annual convention also elected the following to represent the United States clubs on the organization's international board of directors:

OAK PARK WINS $13,000 IN SUIT AGAINST ESTATE

The village of Oak Park was awarded a $13,157 judgment yesterday in its suit against the estate of James M. Feron and the co-signers of his note for $15,408, made in 1931. Feron admitted he had embezzled this amount from fines he collected as police magistrate, and gave the note and $5,000 in restitution. He had repaid part of the note before he died last October.

Judge Joseph E. Daily of Peoria, sitting in Circuit court here, sustained the motion of Attorney Robert Cantwell Jr. for a directed verdict for the plaintif. The defense contended the note hinged on an illegal consideration—consent to substitute a misdemeanor charge for a criminal indictment against Feron.

TAX PAID ON LOAF TO BE PRINTED ON BREAD WRAPPER

Executives of 300 wholesale bakeries in the United States yesterday adopted a proposal for printing on the wrapper of each loaf of bread the amount of federal taxation represented in the selling price. The action was taken at the concluding session of a three day conference in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

The bakers decided on the move as a means of making the public conscious of the large amount of indirect federal taxes the consumer is forced to bear, according to W. E. Long, president of the Long foundation of food research, which sponsored the conference.

Mr. Long declared that 1¾ cents of the selling price of a 10 cent loaf of bread goes for federal taxes and predicted that new levies to be added soon would double existing taxes on bread.

COURT APPROVES EITEL PROPERTY REORGANIZATION

Knickerbocker Hotel Plan Also Is Sanctioned.

BY AL CHASE.

Reorganization plans for two large Chicago properties, the Eitel holdings on Randolph street, comprising the Bismarck hotel, the Metropolitan block and the Palace theater, were approved yesterday by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan. Judge Sullivan also approved a plan for the Knickerbocker hotel at 163 East Walton place. Both plans were prepared by a Greenebaum protective committee.

According to Attorney Don Kenneth Jones of the bondholders' committee, the reorganization of the Randolph Hotel company, comprising the Eitel properties, involves the exchange of $7,250,000 of first mortgage bonds for an equal amount of stock in a new company. Ninety per cent of the stock will go to the bondholders and 10 per cent to Karl and Emil Eitel, equity owners.

Three Voting Trustees.

The new shares will be issued to three voting trustees under a voting trust agreement. The court named Karl Eitel, John L. Coyne, general manager of Mandel Brothers, and Charles F. Murphy, a partner in the architectural firm of Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, as trustees. Stock certificates of beneficial interest will be issued to the bondholders and equity owners, one participation unit to be issued for each $100 face value of bonds.

The plan was formulated and filed by a protective committee consisting of Chester R. Davis, James B. McCahey, and Murray Wolbach. The Eitel building's first mortgage bond issue, one of the largest real estate issues to come before the federal court in this district under 77B of the federal bankruptcy act, was underwritten early in 1925 by the Greenebaum Sons Investment company. It originally was $7,750,000, of which $500,000 has been paid.

Knickerbocker Hotel Plan.

The reorganization plan for the Knickerbocker hotel property, once known as the Davis hotel, provides for the exchange of $2,493,200 bonds now outstanding for stock, with the bondholders acquiring the entire property. Trust participation certificates will be issued to the former bondholders on a basis of one trust unit for each $100 face value of bonds.

BUTTER PRICES AGAIN REACH NEW HIGH FOR 3D CONSECUTIVE DAY

New high levels for spot and future deliveries of butter were established yesterday for the third consecutive day as the result of a broad wave of buying induced by continued dry weather in leading producing sections. Spot butter advanced ½ to ¾ cents with extras at 31 to 31½ cents, and the November delivery rose ⅝ cents to 31⅞ cents per pound on the Chicago Mercantile exchange.

These were the highest prices at this season of the year since 1930. Profit taking erased part of the advance in November contracts, but the future closed at 31⅝ cents, a net gain of ⅜ cents. Since June 1 spot butter prices have advanced 3½ to 3¾ cents.

Drouth and hot weather reports caused an advance of 7 cents in October potatoes to $1.75 per 100 pounds, equaling the best price of the season. Sales were 4 cars. October eggs closed unchanged at 25¼ cents per dozen, with sales of 78 cars. Prices follow:

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Pigs Vaccinated.

June 24, 1936.

THE 210 spring pigs at the Tribune's Yorkville experimental farm were vaccinated yesterday against hog cholera. The veterinary began his work in the cool of the early morning and finished the job before the sun was high and hot.

Each pig was given what is known as a simultaneous treatment, anti-hog cholera serum and virus being injected at the same time. Veterinarians say that this treatment usually renders a hog immune for life, provided the animal is in healthy condition. An injection of serum alone gives protection for only three to six weeks.

"Quarantined."

The pigs were divided into two groups, according to size, and were put in pastures where they will be kept entirely segregated from all other hogs on the farm. Authorities explain that it is never safe to allow hogs that have been given cholera virus to run with unvaccinated hogs because there is always danger of contagion.

Corn will be withheld from the vaccinated pigs for about three weeks. During that time they will be given less than the usual amounts of other feeds. They will be kept in shady pastures and given plenty of fresh water. The farm manager plans gradually to dispose of all hogs on the place that have not been immunized against cholera.

Grub Canada Thistles.

tles was renewed last week at the Yorkville farm. The men try to find and cut all thistles each year before the blooms appear. Last week they scoured the pastures, woodlands, and oat fields with hoes looking for the scattering plants.

The thistles are most troublesome in the woods, where they grow despite the shade, and are hard to find. A few spots in some of the oat fields where the oats were thin and short and the thistles unusually thick were cut with a mower.

Oats Tall Enough to Cut.

Most of the oats on the Yorkville farm will be high enough to cut with grain binders. The farm manager says that only one field—an eighty acre field on the north side of Fox river—may be too short to cut and shock. He plans to use a combine on this field if it fails to get high enough to cut with a binder.

While most of the oats show promise of making a fair grain yield, the men at the farm are disappointed over the prospects for straw, since it will be badly needed for bedding in the feed lots next winter. They think the oats now are past the stage where rain would be of much help in producing longer straws.

Pastures Worse Than in 1934.

The Wheaton farm manager says pastures are burning up worse on that place than during the severe drouth of two years ago. Most of the pasture fields are brown. The sheep now are running in woods pastures and are browsing on leaves. They are unable to get much green grass.

While the hay crop at the Wheaton place has been cut short by lack of rain the quality of the hay is unusually good. The harvesters say the alfalfa was the best they have ever put up from a first cutting.

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company has summarized as follows its letter dated June 23, 1936, to us describing this issue. The entire letter with Exhibits should be read prior to any purchase of these Bonds.

THE COMPANY The Company, which has been in continuous operation since 1859, now owns 4,750 miles of railroad and operates 4,999 miles. It owns 71.78% of the capital stock of The Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway which operates an additional 1,154 miles. These lines form a comprehensive system serving the Kentucky and Alabama coal fields, coal fields in western Virginia and eastern Tennessee, and important commercial and industrial centers of the Middle South from the Ohio River to the Gulf. The Company operates in fourteen States.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE The net proceeds to be received by the Company from the sale of these Series E Bonds will be used, together with funds to be provided by the Company to the extent required, for the redemption of $3,500,000 of the Company's St. Louis Division First Mortgage 6% Gold Bonds due March 1, 1971, to be called for redemption on September 1, 1936 at 107%, $10,000,000 of the Company's Ten-Year Secured 5% Gold Bonds due October 1, 1941, and $12,753,000 of the Company's First and Refunding Mortgage 5½% Gold Bonds, Series A, due April 1, 2003, the latter two issues to be called for redemption on October 1, 1936 at 103% and 102% respectively, together with accrued interest in all cases. Subject to certain terms and conditions, the Company has agreed to sell to Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated and the latter has agreed to purchase from the Company the Series E Bonds at 96% plus accrued interest to date of delivery.

EARNINGS The following compilation has been prepared from the Condensed Income Statement of the Company (Exhibit B attached to letter dated June 23, 1936 describing the Bonds) and is subject to the notes forming an integral part of that statement and to the information in the Profit and Loss Statement (Exhibit C attached to said letter).

Under the terms of the First and Refunding Mortgage, the Series E Bonds will contain in their title the word "gold" and by their terms will be expressed to be payable "in gold coin of the United States of America of or equal to the standard of weight and fineness existing on the first day of August, 1921". The Series E Bonds will be stamped with a legend stating that the First and Refunding Mortgage was executed prior to the approval on June 5, 1933, of Public Resolution No. 10 of the 73rd Congress, and calling specific attention to the fact that said Public Resolution provides in part as follows: "Every obligation heretofore or hereafter incurred whether or not any such provision is contained therein or made with respect thereto shall be discharged upon payment dollar for dollar in any coin or currency which at the time of payment is legal tender for public and private debts".

The foregoing is merely a brief outline of certain information contained in the Offering Circular dated June 25, 1936, and is subject to the more detailed statements therein. The entire Offering Circular should be read prior to any purchase of these Bonds. Copies of such Offering Circular are obtainable from the undersigned, who, however, will offer these Bonds in this State only to registered dealers in securities in this State.

Price 98% and Accrued Interest

These Bonds are offered subject to prior sale when, as and if issued and accepted by the undersigned, and subject to authorization by the Interstate Commerce Commission of their issue and sale, and also subject to the approval of Messrs. Davis Polk Wardwell Gardiner & Reed of all legal proceedings in connection with their issue and sale. It is expected that delivery of Bonds in temporary form, exchangeable for definitive Bonds when prepared, will be made at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. on or about July 7, 1936, against payment therefor in New York funds.

Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated is authorized, by an agreement with eight other investment banking houses, in connection with the issue of the Bonds and the underwriting by said houses of the sale of a portion thereof, to buy Bonds and to sell Bonds, either for long or short account, for the several accounts of itself and said investment banking houses, within the limits and during the period set forth in said agreement.

START HEARINGS ON ABBOTT PLAN FOR CAR LINES

Reorganizing Group Defends Proposal.

Presentation of evidence in support of the Abbott plan for reorganization of the Chicago street car companies was begun yesterday before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. Representatives of the reorganization committee were allowed to present their case over the objections of attorneys for minority security holders who are opposing the reorganization terms.

W. RUFUS ABBOTT.
[Walinger Photo.]

Attorney Frederick O. Mason, counsel for the Chicago Title and Trust company, made a motion for approval of the petition for reorganization of the properties under the amended bankruptcy act. Judge Wilkerson ruled, however, that the Abbott committee should be allowed to present its evidence in favor of the reorganization and the foreclosure sale of the properties recently made under terms of the plan.

Abbott Testifies.

W. Rufus Abbott, chairman of the committee named by the court last July to draw up a plan, was the principal witness. After detailed testimony by other witnesses on terms of the plan Abbott offered his opinion that it was fair to all classes of security holders.

Under questioning by Henry T. Tenney, counsel for the committee, Abbott said he had not been interested in the traction situation prior to his appointment last July as chairman of the committee.

"I had no previous connection with the surface lines except as an occasional street car rider," he said.

The committee had striven, Abbott said, to draw up a plan which would give the new consolidated traction company a simple financial structure and one that would enable it to obtain new money as future needs arose.

Acted as Umpire.

Abbott added that he has served as an "umpire" in the reorganization negotiations.

Attorney U. S. Schwartz, also representing the Abbott group, argued for confirmation of the foreclosure sale under which the security holders had bid in the properties for $33,100,000. He asserted that the purchase price bore a "fair" relation to the market value of the traction companies' securities. It was, however, he said, less than the market value because "otherwise there would be no inducement on the part of security holders to come into the reorganization."

The nondepositing security holders have the choice not only between joining the reorganization or accepting settlement on the basis of the sale price but also are free to sell their securities in the open market, Schwartz said.

Guthmann to Appear.

At the conclusion of the hearing it was agreed that the presentation of the Abbott committee case would be interrupted this morning to allow Prof. Harry S. Guthmann of Northwestern university to take the stand. Guthmann is to testify on behalf of junior security holders who favor substitution of income bonds for the preferred stock they would receive under the proposed plan. Guthmann's testimony is to be taken today because he is leaving on a trip to Europe.

Hearings on 26 traction cases before the Illinois commerce commission were continued yesterday until next fall pending settlement of disputes over jurisdiction. The commission's jurisdiction over local transportation is in doubt because of the passage of the home rule bill by Chicago voters in the April primary.

The petitions of the city for investigations in the rates of the elevated, motor bus and surface lines were continued until Sept. 30. Twenty-three petitions seeking authority for feeder bus extensions were put over to Oct. 14.

UTILITIES POWER ANNUAL MEETING AGAIN ADJOURNED

Richmond, Va., June 24.—[Special.]—The annual meeting of the Utilities Power and Light corporation was again adjourned today until July 2. This was the third postponement.

The meeting was adjourned from April 22 to June 3 and again from June 3 to June 24 because the annual report had not been mailed stockholders more than fifteen days in advance of the meeting date, as required by regulations of the New York Stock Exchange.

Eppa Hunton IV., Richmond counsel for the corporation, said he did not know the reason for today's adjournment, although stockholders were represented only by proxy.

Fire Insurance Rate War May Go to Courts

Big eastern fire insurance companies doing business in Illinois are prepared to go to court before submitting to the order issued Tuesday by State Director of Insurance Ernest Palmer directing a 10 per cent reduction in rates on dwellings and apartments, representatives of the companies said yesterday. Some of them expressed the belief that an amicable settlement of the dispute might be made and a court fight with Palmer avoided.

Palmer threatens to refuse to renew the licenses of the companies that do not submit to the new rate schedule. Such licenses are subject to renewal July 1 but Palmer said that companies would be given temporary extensions until Aug. 1 to give them time to decide whether they will accept the new rates which would become effective under the order on all policies written after Sept. 1.

Threatens Court Action.

Charles R. Street, western manager of the Great American Insurance company and spokesman for the eastern group, said yesterday that the companies would not take revocation of their licenses "lying down."

"We have been operating in the state for many years and have large interests here," Street said, referring to the eastern concerns. "The logical course for a company which is threatened with revocation of its license is to take the matter to court."

All companies are subject to the Palmer order but it was directed chiefly at the out of state concerns which write more than 85 per cent of the state's fire insurance business.

Insurance lawyers pointed out that if a settlement of the rate controversy is not reached the companies would probably initiate mandamus proceedings to force Palmer to renew their licenses.

Leans on Licensing Power.

Palmer is counting on his licensing power to force the companies into line. Under the present insurance laws the state director does not have power to dictate rates.

G. W. Goble, University of Illinois law professor and co-author of the proposed Illinois insurance code, said yesterday that he believed Palmer had exceeded his authority in ordering the reduction.

Prof. Goble said the present law confers no power on the director to regulate rates. Such a provision is contained in the new code which has been partially approved and will come before the legislature again in January. Prof. Goble and Prof. Frank Dickinson of the University of Illinois collaborated with Palmer in drafting the code.

Declines to Enter War.

Michael J. Corrigan, Chicago fire marshal, declined yesterday to be drawn into the rate war. Corrigan, however, pointed out that fire losses in Chicago have been declining each year since 1929. Losses paid by insurance companies in 1935 dropped to the record low figure of $3,700,000, the smallest for many years. In 1934 losses reached $11,000,000 but approximately $4,500,000 of the total resulted from the stock yards fire of that year.

Corrigan said he did not want to get into any debate but that he thought a reduction in rates would be a "fine thing."

Palmer's charge that the insurance companies are profiteering on Illinois policy holders is based in part on the favorable loss ratios which they experienced in 1935. Insurance representatives retort that 1935 was a "freak" year in which losses were abnormally low in all parts of the United States and in other countries.

Cite Economic Cycle.

Such a condition usually occurs at the tag end of a period of economic depression, insurance men assert. As economic conditions improve the losses rise, as was the case toward the close of 1935, one insurance official said yesterday.

Palmer estimates that the reduction will mean a savings of $1,300,000 a year to Illinois policy holders. Outstanding policies would not be affected. The new rates would apply only to policies written or renewed after Sept. 1.

A. R. BONE RESIGNS AS SECRETARY OF ILLINOIS BELL CO.

Directors of the Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday accepted the resignation of A. R. Bone, secretary and treasurer, effective June 30, it was announced. Arthur Perrow, general auditor, will succeed him. Perrow will be succeeded by A. D. Grote, for many years general accountant.

Bone has been in the telephone business actively since 1887. He has been with the Illinois Bell Telephone company and its predecessor, the Chicago Telephone company, since 1898 as solicitor, exchange manager, special agent, commercial superintendent, general commercial manager and secretary and treasurer.

In addition to his telephone duties he has ben active in civic affairs. It is reported that he has served on more Chicago Association of Commerce committees and for a longer continuous period than any other individual.

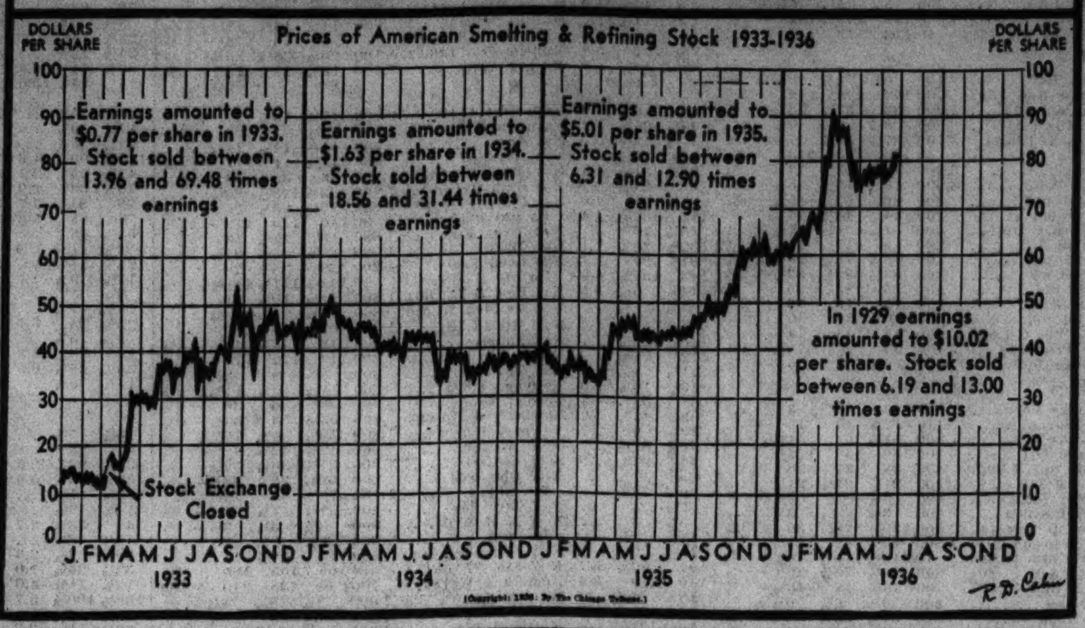
How the Price of American Smelting and Refining Stock Has Fluctuated in the Last Four Years



[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

NATIONAL CITY BANK ENTERS INSTALMENT FINANCING BUSINESS

New York, June 24.—[Special].—Entrance of the National City bank into the field of instalment finance was indicated today in an announcement that the banking institution was coöperating with Consolidated Edison company, Inc., and its subsidiary, the Bronx Gas and Electric company, in the development of a time payment finance plan to promote the sale of gas appliances.

This development marks the further encroachment of the commercial banking community upon a field of activity hitherto confined almost in entirety to finance companies created for that specific purpose. In this instance, however, National City, in the event a deal is consummated, would undertake the financing operations heretofore conducted by the gas company.

The plan, as being worked out, will afford buyers three years in which to liquidate their indebtedness for new stoves and other appliances. Consolidated Gas inaugurated such a campaign to stimulate electric appliance sales recently in coöperation with the Electric Association of New York.

Although the statement was confined to the announcement of the coöperative program with respect to sales of the Bronx unit, expectations in banking circles were that actual operation of the plan would determine whether the National City will embrace instalment financing on a larger scale.

37 YEAR OLD EXECUTIVE HEADS WEIRTON STEEL

Weirton, W. Va., June 24.—[Special.]—T. E. Millsop was elected president of the Weirton Steel company today to succeed the late John C. Williams, who died early this month, it was announced by Ernest T. Weir, chairman of Weirton Steel and its parent organization, the National Steel corporation.

At 37 years of age, Millsop is one of the youngest high executives in the steel industry. He has been connected with Weirton Steel in various capacities since 1926 and for the last year has been executive vice president and acting as head of the firm.

Except for an interruption of three years during the world war when he served as combat pilot with the Canadian and American armies, Millsop's entire career has been spent in the steel industry. In 1913 at the age of 15 years he went to work in the open hearth department of the Carnegie Steel company plant in Sharon.

Steel Outlook Seen by Trade as Less Bright

The long-term outlook of the steel industry seems far from encouraging with the buying peak now passed, a disturbing labor situation, and the growing hostility of the present administration in Washington, Iron Age said yesterday. However, the present situation is highly satisfactory, the journal reports, with production of the nation's steel mills being maintained at 71 per cent of plant capacity.

Higher ingot output at Chicago and Cleveland have more than offset declines at Pittsburgh and Birmingham, but the peak of forward buying at second quarter prices has passed and the summer outlook is "clouded by ominous uncertainties," according to Iron Age.

Disturbing Labor Situation.

"The labor situation probably heads the list of disturbing factors," the journal pointed out. "The Lewis committee for industrial organization, backed by ample funds, has begun its aggressive unionization drive. One major steel plant has been closed by a strike for a full month and heavy consumer buying from a number of sources is admittedly prompted by the fear of labor trouble as well as by higher third quarter prices.

"Even more serious is the growing hostility of the federal government," the journal said. "The federal trade commission's report on alleged collusive bidding by steel sheet piling makers and its hasty acceptance by the administration for obvious political purposes indicate quite clearly that the steel industry has already been singled out as the whipping boy of the political campaign."

Price Advance Spurs Buying.

The steel journal said that fully half of the steel tonnage booked during June has been prompted by price advances. On the credit side of the ledger is the well sustained level of general industrial activity. The Iron Age index of capital goods activities advanced two points last week to 78 per cent of the 1925-'27 average.

Fabricated structural steel lettings have declined from 25,410 tons to 16,140 tons, but new projects have increased from 18,450 to 50,500 tons.

The scrap market has taken on new life because of continued heavy spot demand, but it is generally conceded that healthy improvement cannot be expected before fall. The Iron Age composite is unchanged at $12.75 a gross ton. The pig iron composite is also holding at $18.84 a gross ton, while the lack of steel buying at third quarter levels prevents an advance in the finished steel composite from the 2.097 cents a pound level.

AUSTRALIA MAY LOSE JAPAN AS BUYER OF WHEAT IN TRADE WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, June 25 [Thursday.]—Authoritative quarters see the certainty that Japan will shift its wheat purchases from Australia to other exporting countries as a result of enforcement this morning of a trade restriction edict against Australia.

Japan purchases roughly 10 million dollars' worth of wheat annually from Australia, and it is expected the government will make every effort to buy elsewhere inasmuch as it still must depend greatly on Australian wool.

Trade circles here feel the best means of hurting Australia and forcing it to lower the tarif on Japanese rayon and cotton textiles is to divert wheat purchases. This will not affect the flour milling industry in Japan, observers declare, because American and Canadian wheat can easily replace Australian wheat.

Although the United States, like Australia, is one of the countries from which Japan buys most of her raw products, but which nevertheless is erecting tarif barriers against her exports, it is held unlikely that Japan will take retaliatory measures against the United States.

The imperial ordinance expressly stipulated "a country from which Japan imported more than it exported and with which it has not concluded a commerce and navigation treaty, which takes unfair measures."

The bank has 18,000 depositors and the total resources were put at approximately $3,500,000.

WHEAT DAMAGE REPORTS LOSING EFFECT IN PIT

Early Advance Lost by Profit Taking.

Sensational reports of damage to the spring wheat crop in the American northwest appeared yesterday to have lost the greater part of their influence on the market. An early upturn of around 1 cent per bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade was quickly lost as the result of free selling to secure profits by speculators who had bought at lower prices and hedging sales against purchases of new hard winter wheat in the southwest. Final sales were ⅛ cent higher to a small fraction lower than on the preceding day.

Messages from the northwest received yesterday indicated crop prospects for small grains were rapidly deteriorating. A Sioux Fall, S. D., man who covered the greater part of his state and North Dakota estimated 75 per cent of the acreage in the latter had little chance to produce any grain of consequence, with a large area already a failure.

Report Crop Deterioration.

Late in the session messages from Winnipeg indicated crops in northwestern and southern Saskatchewan had started to deteriorate due to hot and dry weather, with unfavorable comments received from eastern and central Alberta. Winnipeg closed around ½ cent higher as compared with Monday. Liverpool was off ⅜ to ⅞ cents per bushel.

Movement of winter wheat in the southwest is increasing rapidly, and hedging sales were reported as heavy at Kansas City where the July delivery closed ⅝ cents lower. Minneapolis showed independent strength and gained as much as 1⅝ cents, with the July delivery showing the most strength.

Bullish sentiment was tempered to some extent by the forecast for unsettled weather in North Dakota and by reports American mills had again started to buy Canadian cash wheat owing to the abnormally high premiums prevailing this side of the international line.

Grain Closing Prices.

Closing prices on the September delivery of leading grains, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Week Ago.	Month Ago.
Wheat	$.96¼	$.96⅛	$.89⅛	$.84⅝
Corn	.65½	.64⅝	[illegible]	.57⅝
Oats	.30⅝	.30⅝	.27	.25⅝
Rye	.65	.65	.58⅛	.54⅝

An active shipping demand prevailed for cash corn and, with the forecast for fair and warmer weather over the surplus producing states and less favorable crop comments from the southwest, prices averaged somewhat higher.

Buying of July against sales of the deferred deliveries of oats attributed to northwestern cash interests furnished a good part of the trade in that grain, with the close fractionally higher. Rye was somewhat unsettled, with the July gaining ⅛ cent for the day despite reports of purchases of cash rye to come here from the northwest. The new crop in the latter area is expected to be extremely short.

A membership on the Chicago Board of Trade sold yesterday for $4,500, an increase of $400 over the preceding transfer.

Report A. O. Smith Corp. to Buy Gold Mine Property

San Francisco, Cal., June 24.—(AP)—Negotiations for the purchase of the Nevada Porphyry Gold Mines, Inc., by the A. O. Smith corporation of Milwaukee were reported under way here today. The properties are at Round Mountain in Nye county, sixty miles north of Tonopah. A tentative price of $3,000,000 has been set, total payment to be made within five years.

Westinghouse Lifts Dividend to $1 Quarterly

A number of favorable dividends were announced yesterday by large and small corporations, indicating the trend of increased earnings of the nation's business firms.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company boosted the dividend rate by 25 cents with the declaration of a $1 payment on the common stock payable Aug. 31. In the preceding two quarters dividends of 75 cents were declared. In August and November, 1935, payments of 50 cents were made. The regular quarterly dividend of 87½ cents on the preferred also was declared, payable Aug. 31 to stock of record July 31.

U. S. Smelting Votes $2.

United States Smelting, Refining and Mining company declared a dividend of $2 on the common stock, doubling the amount paid last March. Six months ago the company paid a dividend of $5 and in June, 1935, $2 was disbursed. The present distribution is payable July 15 to stockholders of record July 3.

Directors of Consolidated Oil corporation inaugurated a new common stock dividend policy by the declaration of dividend, designated as a quarterly payment, of 15 cents a share, payable Aug. 15 to stockholders of July 15. The company states it is its intention to declare extra dividends in addition to this established rate when earnings justify additional payments. Subsequent dividend dates, subject to action by the board, will be Nov. 15, Feb. 15 and May 15.

Lincoln Printing Payment.

The directors of the Lincoln Printing company declared the regular dividend of 87½ on the preferred stock, payable Aug. 1 to stockholders of record July 20.

Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines announced an extra dividend of 5 cents a share and a regular payment of the same amount on the common stock, payable July 14.

Gold Dust corporation declared a dividend of 15 cents a share on the common stock, payable Aug. 1 to stockholders of record July 10. The previous payment was 30 cents quarterly. George C. Morrow, chairman of the board, in a statement to stockholders called the reduction "necessary and in the best interest of the corporation." "Notwithstanding large nonrecurring profits realized this year from the sale of securities, the net earnings of the corporation will not equal the dividend of $1.20 on the common stock," he said.

GENL. THEATRES REORGANIZATION DEAL COMPLETED

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—The reorganization of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., has been consummated with the approval of the chancery court of Delaware, Arthur W. Loasby, chairman of the reorganization committee, announced today. Securities distributable under the plan will be ready for delivery June 29. It is understood the new company will make prompt application for the listing of its capital stock on the New York Stock exchange.

The New York Stock exchange announced today that certificates of deposit for General Theatres Equipment, Inc., 10 year 6 per cent convertible debentures would be suspended from dealings at the close of business Saturday.

Loasby said holders of about 92 per cent of the entire debt of the old company are participating in the plan, including more than $24,500,000 of the $27,993,000 debentures, and that voting trust certificates for about 81 per cent of the preferred stock and about 70 per cent of the common have been deposited under the plan.

CHRYSLER HITS TOP SINCE 1929 ON BUYING WAVE

Motors Lead Stock Market Advance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—A wave of speculative enthusiasm struck Chrysler today, sending it to a new high for the year and to its best level since the boom days of 1929. After spending an irregular first hour, Chrysler suddenly went to the front in a generally firm market, reaching 109 and finishing the day with a gain of 5 points. Except for a number of poor performances in miscellaneous issues, the main list finished fractions to 2 points higher.

Volume of trading for the first time in a week amounted to more than a million shares with the total turnover for the session aggregating 1,237,240 shares. This was the largest amount since May 14.

Expect Dividend Increase.

Acquiring of Chrysler was attributed to the conviction among the speculative fraternity that dividends would be raised to avoid the new penalty on undistributed surplus. Optimistic reports also were heard on the company's earnings for the second quarter and a rumor was circulated—which was denied in some informed quarters—that the directors might act to split up the stock at the July meeting.

Acting in sympathy with the leader of the group, motor shares dominated the trading in stocks. General Motors gained more than 2 points, White Motors moved up a point, while, Nash, Packard, Mack and Yellow Truck registered advances of modest proportions.

Allied Chemical threatened for a while to give Chrysler a race for the best performer, but after climbing 5 points found the going a little too rough. This chemical is also expected to increase its dividend to avoid the penalty tax and its gain for the session was 3 points. Other chemicals were likewise good, Mosanto gaining almost 2 points and du Pont picking up a major fraction.

Trade Reviews Mixed.

Midweek trade reviews were of a mixed character. A number of favorable dividend actions were reported, but a shadow was cast over the market by the results of a survey of the steel industry by Iron Age.

Steel shares in the beginning reflected the result of the survey and appeared backward. In later dealings, however, they caught the rising fever and most shares managed to erase their early losses and replace them with gains. Crucible and Continental Steel tacked up gains of more than a point after their final quotations and U. S. Steel and Bethehem climbed major fractions.

Railroad shares moved higher, though demand was not heavy. Atchison was up a point or so and most of the others gained fractions.

JUDGES UPHOLD TRUSTEE RULING BY WILKERSON

Appellate Court Decides Against Woodward.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday gave Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward a legal rebuke for setting aside an order of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson because of a conflict in jurisdiction.

In an opinion handed down by Presiding Judge Evan A. Evans and concurred in by Appellate Judges Samuel Alschuler and Charles G. Briggle the principle was laid down that an act of a judge made in good faith and fair to all parties should not be set aside by another judge of concurrent jurisdiction even when the order was made under questionable jurisdiction. Judges Woodward and Wilkerson both sit in the United States District court.

The case at point concerned Judge Wilkerson's instructions that receivers of the Trustee System Discount company pay $83,250 interest on a 1½ million dollar mortgage held by Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Insurance Company Bargain.

The insurance company in turn was not to foreclose on the mortgagee's building at 201 North Wells street for default on principal payments.

Later the Trustees System was adjudged a bankrupt by Judge Woodward, who then ordered return of the $83,250 to the trustee on the ground that Judge Wilkerson had no jurisdiction to enter the order in equity receivership proceedings while the bankruptcy petition was pending.

"Courts of bankruptcy, especially after enactment of section 77B [permitting reorganization under the federal bankruptcy laws], are courts of equity," said Judge Evans' opinion, "and as such should be courts of conscience. They should not enter decrees which are contrary to equity and good conscience.

Order Will Stand.

"Even though the jurisdiction of a court of bankruptcy excluded that of a court of equity the latter's order will not be repudiated save where equity and justice are prompted thereby.

"Exclusive jurisdiction of one court does not necessitate the court acquiring jurisdiction setting aside all orders of the other court which were made in good faith and in fairness and for the protection of creditors."

The opinion set forth that Judge Wilkerson's order was issued for the benefit of all creditors and with their knowledge.

REMINGTON RAND PROPOSES ISSUE OF 345,208 SHARES

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Remington Rand, Inc., of New York City, has filed a registration statement under the securities act of 1933 covering 345,208¼ shares of $1 par value common stock and script for fractional shares of common stock which it proposes to sell to present stockholders in specified allotments until March 1, 1939.

"The estimated net proceeds of $9,408,226," the statement said, "will be applied to the purchase or redemption of outstanding or proposed preferred stock of the corporation, if any. In the absence of such preferred stocks, the proceeds will be used to retire outstanding funded debt."

The new stock is to be offered to common stockholders of the company through stock subscription rights designated as Series A, B, C and D, which will entitle them to purchase at $27.50 a share one share of new stock for each four shares held at any time after Sept. 1, 1936, to and including March 1, 1939.

DIVIDEND RULING SAVES NEW YORK LIFE 15 MILLIONS

New York, June 24.—(AP)—The New York Life Insurance company's practice of requiring 1,600,000 holders of combined life and disability policies to assume disability losses of the company through reduced dividends was upheld today by the Appellate division.

The suit was brought by Artrude L. Westerheide Rhine, holder of a $1,000 combination policy, who claimed that upon it she received in dividends $9.08 less than holders of $1,000 in straight life insurance. The company, had it lost the decision, would have had to pay out some $15,000,000 to its holders of combined policies.

COTTON TRADE FLUCTUATES ERRATICALLY; CLOSE LOWER

Cotton markets fluctuated in an erratic manner yesterday. The July delivery which represents the 1935 crop dropped sharply as the result of scattered liquidation and closed 12 to 17 points lower, the latter equal to 85 cents per bale. The new crop months held within rather narrow limits, and closed 4 points higher to 2 points lower.

Temperatures in Texas and Oklahoma were more moderate, and the government weekly weather crop summary was regarded as generally favorable, although additional rain would be beneficial in parts of the western belt. Spot cotton closed 10 to 15 points lower with New Orleans, 12.25 cents; Galveston, 12.05 cents; Houston, 12.00 cents, and New York at 12.15 cents per pound. Prices follow:

PRICES OF LARD CLOSE STEADY TO 10 CENTS OFF

Changing operation between the various deliveries furnished a good part of the trade in lard futures yesterday, some selling of July regarded as liquidation by scattered longs. Strength in hogs was offset by the [illegible] in grains from the early high point, and lard closed unchanged to 10 cents lower on the active futures. December showed the most weakness. Clear bellies [salt pork] closed nominally 2½ cents lower. Cash lard was quoted at $10.60; loose and leaf at $10, and clear bellies at $13.55 per 100 pounds. Prices per 100 pounds follow:

SUGAR

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was a little easier for forward positions, with a sale confirmed of 21,000 bags of Cubas for first half August shipment at 3.75c per lb to a local refiner. It appeared that a little more interest was developing at this level, but holders were not inclined to sell below 3.80c. Futures were firm on scattered trade buying against sales of actuals, as well as covering and commission house support. It was first notice day for July, but none was issued. On covering this position scored an extreme gain of 8 points. September showed a smilar advance. New crop positions gained 3 points, but offerings increased near the close and reactions followed. ENGLAND BUYS GOLD TO BOLSTER BANK RESERVES

Dutch Cut Discount Rate; Money Market Quiet.

A record purchase of £1,588,476 of gold bars by the Bank of England, increasing bullion holdings to a new all-time peak of more than £435,000,000 [approximately $2,175,000,000], was disclosed yesterday. This purchase brought total engagements of the bank for the week to £3,568,522.

The buying apparently is designed to bolster the central bank's reserves, which have fallen recently in proportion to liabilities, as a result of continued hoarding of British notes by apprehensive Europeans.

Dutch Bank Cuts Rate.

The Bank of the Netherlands reduced its discount rate from 4½ to 4 per cent yesterday, following action of the Bank of France Tuesday in cutting its rate from 6 to 5 per cent. Both cuts were said to result from a halt in the recent withdrawals of gold reserves.

Dutch currency failed to show rallying power in the wake of the discount rate reduction, closing .02 of 1 cent lower at 67.69 cents. Leading foreign currencies fluctuated within narrow ranges yesterday.

At the same time, reports were current in Amsterdam that the Dutch government is proposing important changes in powers of the Bank of the Netherlands in connection with a bill providing a 15 year extension of the bank's charter from April 1, 1937.

Broader Powers Wanted.

The government position is that the modern bank of issue in a highly developed money market should be able to pursue an open market policy because of the development of private banking. It proposes to grant the central bank powers to enable it to mix more actively in the money market.

The bank's only influence now lies in changing the discount rate, and the government position is that commercial banks have sufficient liquid assets to enable them to ignore for a time rate changes made by the central bank.

The proposed bill also would provide for strengthening of the central bank's reserve position.

Franc Lower; Pound Steady.

Foreign exchange transactions yesterday in New York saw the French franc ease after an early rise to close off .00⅛ of a cent at 6.59⅞ cents. In Paris the dollar was quoted at the equivalent of 6.603 cents to the franc, compared with an overnight New York rate of 6.60 cents.

Sterling closed unchanged in New York at $5.02⅜. The dollar closed in London at $5.02¼ to the pound.

The engagement of $2,338,000 gold in India for shipment to New York was reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. This brought to $404,200,000 the total of gold engaged since April 24, when the present influx of gold began. Of the total $400,300,000 has been received while $3,900,000 is on the water.

N. Y. EXCHANGE MAY RESIST SEC BROKER RULING

New York, June 24.—[Special.]—Intimations that the New York Stock exchange might resist efforts of the securities and exchange commission to put into effect its program of segregating the functions of stock brokers and dealers were contained in a letter addressed tonight to all members of the exchange by its president, Charles R. Gay. The purpose of the communication was to advise members that the exchange planned to send to each a complete copy of the commission's 192 page report to congress on segregation.

The exchange announced the appointment of a special committee to study the SEC report on segregation.

Fight SEC Action.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—[Special.]—Protests against the right of the securities and exchange commission to "invade the privacy of a citizen" were made today to the Supreme court by four New Yorkers, Thomas Bracken, Thomas McAvoy, Harry Aarons and Alex Reid, who have thus far been defeated by two lower courts in their fight against the commission.

The conflict arises over SEC orders directing the men to testify in a preliminary investigation, the stenographic report of which, they said, would be refused to them and concerning which, they continued, "no order of any kind authorizing or justifying an investigation" had been served or revealed.

The following directors were elected to the executive committee: Adolph Zukor, Griffis, Barney Balaban, Neil F. Agnew, John Hertz, Maurice Newton, Duncan Harris, and Stephen Calaghan.

DESIST ORDER ISSUED AGAINST 15 STEEL FIRMS

U. S. Charges Monopoly in Tinplate Business.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—(AP)—The federal trade commission tonight ordered 15 tinplate manufacturing companies to "cease and desist" from entering into agreements not to sell or quote prices on "stock plate" to jobbers and manufacturers of tin cans and other containers.

The commission said that such agreements resulted in "suppression of competition" and tended toward monopoly.

Criticize Selling Methods.

The commission's order was directed against what it said was the companies' methods of selling "stock plate," produced incidentally in the processing of first grade tinplate called "production plate."

Small manufacturers of tin cans and other containers were said to depend on "stock plate" for their raw material.

The tinplate manufacturers were also ordered to cease acting in cooperation by entering into agreements to cut up or otherwise mutilate 'stock plate" so as to classify it as of lower grade quality for domestic sales, and at the same time offering it in foreign markets without multilation.

Counsel for the companies said they had filed with the commission an answer that "stock plate" classification was eliminated to stop violations of the NRA and the steel code.

Statement by Attorneys.

A statement issued by the attorneys said that "improved manufacturing methods had so materially reduced the quantity of tinplate produced and sold as 'stock plate' that our production thereof was fast becoming negligible and that about July, 1934, we determined for ourselves to discontinue entirely the classification 'stock plate' at or before the end of that year.

"The answer also shows that the eventual discontinuance of 'stock plate' classification was the result of corrective action within the industry made necessary by unfair practices, including overgrading, which had grown up under and in contravention of the National Industrial Recovery Act and the steel code."

All of the respondent companies, in their answers, the commission said, admitted the material facts alleged in its amended complaint, "and consented that the commission might, without further procedure, make and enter its findings as to facts and conclusions thereon, and issue and serve upon them an order to cease and desist."

Concerns Named in Order.

The companies named in the commission's order are:

American Sheet and Tinplate company, Pittsburgh; Bethlehem Steel company, Bethlehem, Pa.; Canton Tinplate corporation, Canton, O.; Columbia Steel company, San Francisco; John Follansbee, George T. Ladd, and Isaac M. Scott, trustees in bankruptcy for Follansbee Brothers company, Pittsburgh; Granite City Steel company, Garnite City, Ill.; Inland Steel company, Chicago; Jones & Laughlin Steel company, Pittsburgh; McKeesport Tinplate company, McKeesport, Pa.; Republic Steel corporation, Cleveland; N. and G. AIR LINE PLANS EQUIPMENT TRUST NOTE ISSUANCE

R. S. Pruitt, general counsel of American Airlines, Inc., left here last night for Washington, D. C., to arrange details of a proposed financing program whereby equipment trust certificates will be used for the first time in the aviation industry for the purchase of new equipment.

American Airlines plans the purchase of twenty new Douglas airliners. The certificates would cover 60 per cent of the cost of the planes and carry a 5 per cent coupon. They will be sold to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, according to present plans.

Aggressive Advertising Policy Urged on Bankers

Bankers were urged to adopt aggressive educational policies by Preston E. Reed, executive secretary of the Financial Advertisers association, at a luncheon of the Chicago Financial Advertisers in the Hotel Sherman yesterday. Reed said that each year two million youngsters start to read advertising and if advertising is stopped for five years it means there are 10,000,000 adults who have never seen an advertisment of that product.

GRADE CROSSING DEATHS IN 1935 ONE-THIRD OF '28

Fatalities from accidents at railroad-highway grade crossings in 1935 showed a decline of nearly one third compared with 1928, H. A. Rowe, manager of the claims department of the Lackawanna railroad, told the safety section of the Association of American Railroads at the Stevens hotel yesterday. There were 1,680 deaths last year, against 2,568 in 1928, he said.

Lew R. Palmer of New York, conservation engineer for the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, said there has been a saving of more than 4,000 employé lives and a reduction of more than 600,000 employé injuries in the twelve years ended with 1935.

Palmer added that railroads are endeavoring to educate the driving public to the hazard at grade crossings. He said that although 999 grade crossings were added during 1934, 2,109 were eliminated that year.

Capital Stock Tax Is to Be Computed at $1 Per $1,000

The capital stock tax rate of $1.40 per thousand carried in the present tax forms should be reduced to $1 per thousand by taxpayers making returns, Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, announced yesterday. The reduction is provided for in the new revenue bill signed by the President last Monday. The forms now in the hands of taxpayers were prepared before the passage of the act.

What's Ahead in Real Estate?

During May this year the Tribune printed 70.3% more real estate want advertising than in the same month last year. And during each of the past twenty years the Tribune has carried more real estate want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.

WILSON-JONES REPORTS SALES, PROFIT INCREASE

The Wilson-Jones company of Chicago yesterday reported net income of $340,125 for the first nine months of its fiscal year ended May 31. The earnings are equivalent to $2.49 per share on 136,400 shares of common stock outstanding, compared with $2.39 a share on 136,140 shares outstanding a year ago.

Net sales for the first nine months of the current fiscal year increased 11 per cent over those of the same period last year, while net sales for the third quarter of the current fiscal year were about the same as the corresponding period in the preceding year.

The Wilson-Jones company is one of the leading loose-leaf and blank book manufacturers in the country selling to the trade, and its products are used in government and business offices and in schools.

POWER OUTPUT FOR LAST WEEK BEST IN HISTORY

Production Exceeds Two Billion K. W. H. Mark.

Production of electric power in the United States reached the highest level ever recorded last week when the amount produced totaled 2,005,243,000 kilowatt hours, according to the Edison Electric Institute. This was 13 per cent greater than production for the corresponding week in 1935 and about 0.8 per cent over the total of the previous week. Output in the Chicago district increased over the six preceding weeks.

Percentage gains over 1935 last week were lower than in the preceding week, although the rise amounted to 14.2 per cent.

Midwest Demand Big Factor.

Chief factor making for the unprecedented output was the heavy consumption of electrical energy by steel mills of the midwestern district. Heavy pumping operations in certain sections of the far west was another important contribution.

Chicago's power output totaled 109,057,000 kilowatt hours for the week ended June 20, compared with 99,021,000 kilowatt hours in the corresponding period a year ago, an increase of 10.1 per cent.

Output Here Compared.

Week ended.	—Kilowatt-hour output— 1936.	1935.	Pct. inc.
June 6	107,697,000	97,163,000	10.9

New England, 15.4; southern states, 16.9; middle Atlantic, 9.3; central industrial, 17.9; west central, 17.1; Rocky mountain, 22.7, and Pacific coast, 7.5.

NORTH WESTERN OFFICIALS SILENT ON CAPITAL CUT

Officials of the Chicago and North Western railway last night declined to comment on reports that under the plan of reorganization which will be submitted to the federal court here on Saturday fixed charges will be scaled down two-thirds.

However, it was indicated in railroad circles that in view of the decline in the North Western's earnings a reduction in fixed charges to a level below the 50 per cent cut suggested last year may be expected.

President Fred W. Sargent at the annual meeting of stockholders this year said one difficulty in presenting a plan now is the fact that North Western's earnings are and have been much lower than they were before the depression, whereas it may be expected that revenues will increase in the future.

A plan based on present earnings would be most unfair to security holders should the road's income increase to a point anywhere near the predepression level, he said.

BACKUS ESTATE REFUSED LOOK AT SWIFT BOOKS

Judge James H. Wilkerson in federal court yesterday denied a motion of attorneys for the estate of E. W. Backus of Minneapolis, Minn., for the appointment of an auditor to examine the records of Gustavus F. Swift Jr., Herbert J. Blum, and Allen Moore in connection with the $1,000,000 damage suit filed against the three on charges they cornered the market on corn in 1928.

Backus was forced to pay $300,000 when he failed to make delivery of 950,000 bushels of corn he had sold short in 1928. His original suit, brought in 1933, charged Swift and the other defendants conspired to rig the corn market in that year in violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

The three defendants lost in the Supreme court in November, 1935, in their effort to have the case dismissed because Backus died before the original trial was completed.

ASSOCIATED GAS SUES FIRM OF FEDERAL JUDGE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 24.—A $250,000 libel suit was disclosed today as the newest weapon in the long legal fight of the $700,000,000 Associated Gas and Electric company to dodge insolvency proceedings before Federal Judge Julian W. Mack.

As he was handing down another of the many decisions in the case, Judge Mack learned for the first time that the utility concern, formerly dominated by Howard Hopson, had filed the libel suit June 19, in Supreme court, against Survey Associates, Inc., publishers of the magazine Survey Graphic. Judge Mack is a vice president of Survey Associates.

An article criticizing the operations of the utility pyramid was the basis for the suit. On the strength of Mack's association with the publishers—although he said he has not even read the article—attorneys for Associated Gas petitioned him to step aside in the insolvency proceedings. They charged bias and prejudice. Judge Mack refused to accede to this request. He asked Federal Judge Robert P. Patterson to determine whether the company's challenge was justified.

Meanwhile, a further step in simplifying the complicated structure of Associated was revealed in the Ohio Public Utilities commission's approval of the merger of four electric operating units of the Associated system into the Ohio-Midland Light and Power company, an associated subsidiary, consolidating all the electric properties of the system in Ohio into a single unit.

2 INTERURBAN ROADS ATTACK U. S. PENSION ACT

Toledo, O., June 24.—[Special.]—The Toledo and Indiana railroad and the Ohio Public Service company, interurban lines, today filed suit in the federal District court here against government officials, declaring the railroad retirement act and its companion act, setting up tax provisions for the former's benefit, is unconstitutional and seeking an injunction preventing the government from collecting quarterly payment. Judge George P. Hahn will hear the case on Saturday morning.

Under the terms of the act, the Toledo and Indiana railroad, which operates between Toledo and Bryan, O., and the Ohio Public Service company, which operates between Toledo and Marblehead, would have to pay on June 30, the sums of $1,275 and $860 respectively.

The petition declares the tax constitutes an illegal and unconstitutional attempt to establish a retirement system.

Buick Motor to Increase Capacity of Auto Factory

Flint, Mich., June 24.—(AP)—Harlow H. Curtice, president and general manager of the Buick Motor company, announced today an immediate start on construction of $1,500,000 in new buildings to increase the capacity of the automobile plant.

SOVIETS PLAN TO CUT INTEREST ON LOANS FROM 12 TO 3 PER CENT

MOSCOW, June 24.—[Havas.]—Sweeping conversion of all domestic soviet loans, with simultaneous reduction of interest rates on loans issued or about to be issued, is being planned by the government, it was learned tonight. Interest rates will be lowered from 8 and 12 per cent to about 3 per cent, it was said.

It was not known immediately whether such moves would involve soviet loans to which foreigners have subscribed with foreign currency and on which payments are made in foreign money.

By the new measures the government hopes to decrease its financial burdens. Last Jan. 1 the domestic soviet debt totaled 14,600,000,000 rubles. [The ruble has a nominal parity of 86.86 cents.] The conversion would affect about 50,000,000 persons, holding soviet securities. The decision would be similar to a move to bring the interest rate on deposits in savings banks from 8 to 3 per cent, which will become effective July 1.

OPERATING NET OF 11 RAILROADS IN MAY UP 41.7 PCT.

The first eleven railroads reporting net operating income for May showed an increase over the corresponding month of 1935 of 41.7 per cent and an increase in gross of 16.5 per cent, a compilation yesterday showed.

Only two of the eleven carriers suffered decreased earnings for the month.

For the first five months of 1936 net was up 31.7 per cent over 1935 and gross 15.5 per cent higher.

Union Pacific Railroad's revenues this month, Carl R. Gray, president, said yesterday, are maintaining about the same increase over last year as has been shown in recent months. June operating revenues are about 10 per cent higher.

Beer Sales in May Increase; Total 5,040,874 Barrels

New York, June 24.—(AP)—Total sales of beer for May were 5,040,374 barrels, an increase of 30 per cent over April and a gain of 25.8 per cent as compared with May, 1935, the United States Brewers association reported today.

New York, June 24.—Small declines in active second grade railroad issues, strength in a few industrials, and irregularity elsewhere featured today's dull session in the bond market.

Volume amounted to $8,717,000, par value, compared with $9,318,000 Tuesday. United States governments accounted for $670,000, against $280,000.

Federal List Neglected.

Federal bonds were almost wholly neglected by investment sources. There was only light professional trading in the federal list, and quotations were mixed. Final prices were unchanged to 5-32 lower, including the 2¾s of 1945 at 103 17-32, the 3s of 1946 at 105 7-32, and the 3⅜s of 1943 at 108 11-32. The 2¾s of 1948 were up 1-32 at 101 26-32.

High grade railroad bonds held their ground with the aid of mild investment interest. Many issues in that group touched their best levels of the recovery period.

Public utility bonds were quiet and unchanged.

Lehigh Coal Issues Strong.

A strong spot was provided by Lehigh Valley Coal 5s of 1954 and of 1964, both up 4½ at 65 and 59, respectively.

International Hydro-Electric 6s were off 2⅛ at 44⅛ following issuance of the first quarter report showing a sharp drop in earnings from the same period of 1935.

Italian Public Utility 7s gained 1¾ to 73¾. Milan 6½s were off 1 at 74¼. Other foreigns were mixed.

RUBBER.

NEW YORK, June 24.—(AP)—RUBBER—Crude: futures closed barely steady, unchanged to 4 points lower. July, 16.00c per lb; September, 16.12c; December, 16.23c. Smoked ribbed spot, 16.06c nominal.

Container Corp. of America.

Investors' Guide: Please give me latest information on Container corporation.—J. A. S.

Answer: Container Corporation of America is the nation's largest manufacturer of shipping containers and cartons made from a paper base. It also turns out folding boxes and liner, chip, and straw board.

Its plants are well located in the middle west and east. A new subsidiary has been organized to supply pulp and paper needs, and its $6,000,000 plant to be built in Florida will have the lowest production costs in the industry, according to Walter P. Paepcke, president.

Increased demand for its products plus operating economies enabled Container corporation to show the largest profit in eight years during 1935, despite prices averaging $6 a ton less than in 1934.

Floods in the east and shutdown of the Cincinnati plant because of strikes hurt first quarter earnings, net income being $179,000, or 27 cents a share, compared with $208,000, or 32 cents a share, in the first three months of 1935. April net this year was $67,000, or 11 cents a share.

Net income in 1935 was $1,238,000, or $1.89 a share, compared with $1,113,000, or $1.70 a share, in 1934 on the basis of capitalization of $7,736,360 funded debt and 653,750 common shares at the end of 1935.

All classes of stock were consolidated into $20 par common shares last Dec. 16 by a recapitalization. Each old preferred share was exchanged for 5 new common shares, old class A stock was exchanged for new common on a share for share basis, and 2-5 of 1 new share was given for each old common share.

Net income was $141,000 in 1933, and losses of $1,380,000 and $908,000 were sustained in 1932 and 1931. Nothing was earned on the old common between 1929 and 1934.

The company is now planning to sell 200,000 shares of $50 preferred stock paying not more than 5 per cent and to borrow about $4,000,000 from banks at 3 per cent interest to finance construction of the new Florida plant and retire funded debts.

One June 1 Mr. Paepcke told stockholders that dividends are near and that action may be taken shortly by directors. The stock still must be considered somewhat speculative.

26 MILLION RAIL SECURITIES HEAD OFFERINGS TODAY

2 Eastern Utility Issues Total $26,000,000.

Public offering will be made today of three large security issues, $26,000,000 of Louisville and Nashville bonds, $15,000,000 of Potomac Electric Power company obligations, and $11,000,000 of Western Massachusetts companies notes. Also on the market are a number of municipal offerings, including the Chicago Park District bonds, which are reported to have moved very well, and $5,000,000 of Philadelphia bonds.

The Louisville and Nashville issue consists of 3¾ per cent first and refunding, series E, bonds, due April 1, 2003. The bonds were purchased by an underwriting syndicate, headed by Morgan, Stanley & Co., from the railroad company at 96. They are priced to the public at 98 and accrued interest.

The securities form part of the carrier's plan to refund outstanding obligations in addition to debts owed the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the Railroad Credit corporation. They will be callable beginning April 1, 1955.

Two Utility Issues.

Dillon, Read & Co. will supervise distribution of $15,000,000 of Potomac Electric Power company 3¼ per cent first mortgage bonds, due 1966. The offering price is 104. Proceeds will be used to refund outstanding obligations, for plant improvements, and for other corporate purposes.

A banking group headed by the First Boston corporation will offer $11,000,000 of 10 year 3¼ per cent notes of Western Massachusetts companies. The notes, to mature June 15, 1946, are priced at 101¼ and accrued interest. Proceeds from the sale will be used to redeem on July 6 an issue of $8,500,000 of 4 per cent notes, due 1939, and to purchase additional shares of three subsidiaries.

An issue of $3,000,000 of 3¾ per cent Los Angeles water revenue bonds will be marketed by Lehman Brothers and associates. The bonds, due 1937 to 1948, are priced at 101.75 for the first five maturities and at 101.50 for the remainder.

$5,000,000 Philadelphia Issue.

A new issue of $5,000,000 of city of Philadelphia 3¼ per cent bonds, to mature July 1, 1986, but callable after 1956, is offered by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and associates at a price to yield 2.75 per cent to the optional date and 3.25 per cent thereafter.

An issue of $500,000 of Albany county, N. Y., 1½ per cent tax revenue notes, due June 1, 1937 to 1941, is priced to yield .35 to 1.40 per cent. Halsey-Stuart and Bancamerica-Blair are offering the notes.

Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., which headed the syndicate offering $32,121,955 of Chicago park district 3½ and 4 per cent bonds, reported yesterday that the securities have moved exceptionally well. Up to the close of business last night it was stated that 95 per cent of the bonds had been sold, indicating that the greater part of them already have been placed in investors' hands.

The $10,000,000 3¾ per cent steel issue mentioned in THE TRIBUNE on Sunday is the indebtedness of the National Steel corporation, not the National Steel company, of Chicago.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S NEW, IMPROVED 1936 CHICAGOLAND HIGHWAY AND REFERENCE MAP

At a cost of thousands of dollars the Chicago Tribune's own map-making department has produced for motorists the best map of the Chicago area ever published!

One side of this map shows all streets, boulevards, highways, and crossroads, and places of interest, in Chicago and the 40 mile suburban area. The other side of the map shows the roads, lakes, places of interest, towns, golf courses, and many other facts motorists want to know, in the area within 125 miles of Chicago. Both sides of the map indicate whether roads are hard-surfaced, gravel, or dirt and give the locations of bridges, grade crossings, curves, and danger points.

New features in the 1936 Chicagoland Map include an alphabetical Chicago street guide with marginal street indicators; an extension of the 40-mile area map to include Lakes Delavan and Geneva; and extension of the 125-mile area map to include Watertown, Wisconsin, and Muskegon, Michigan; and silhouettes illustrating the proper use of hand safety signals.

This large-scale, easy-to-read map is printed in six colors on heavy, durable paper. It folds compactly, accordion style, to fit coat pocket or dash compartment.

Price Differences Make Imports Profitable.

A new influx of Canadian cash wheat into the United States is now anticipated by the grain trade as the result of the rapidly widening difference between the prices prevailing in the Minneapolis and Winnipeg markets, where the spring sown variety is the only grade deliverable on futures contracts. At the highest price range in Minneapolis yesterday, July sold at a premium of slightly above 30 cents per bushel as compared with Winnipeg, a difference sufficiently large to permit Buffalo mills to pay the import duty of 42 cents per bushel and grind the grain into flour for domestic consumption.

Since July 1, 1935, imports of Canadian wheat into the United States have aggregated around 30,000,000 bushels. Considerable Canadian durum wheat is reported as having been sold for shipment to American mills in the last few weeks.

North Dakota Weather Poor.

No improvement was shown in the general run of crop comments on small grains from the American northwest yesterday. Minneapolis messages suggested that, with the exception of the eastern sections of the Dakotas, only moderate crops were to be expected under the most favorable weather conditions from now on.

The government weekly weather crop summary said spring wheat in North Dakota was generally poor to only fair due to dryness, although in some localities there was still a prospect of a very good crop. Many fields of small grain in that state, it was said, were being used for pasturage, with considerable live stock shipped out due to lack of feed. Oats, rye, and barley were reported as deriorating in all parts of the state.

Damage in Kansas, Nebraska.

Considerable damage to late fields of winter wheat in parts of northern Kansas and in Nebraska is being reported as the result of recent record breaking high temperatures. Mrs. E. H. Miller, the James E. Bennett and company crop expert, left yesterday to inspect the affected areas. The Robinson Elevator company of Salina, Kas., estimated the yield in the northern sections of Kansas had been reduced about 2,000,000 bushels, but still looks for the state to harvest about 137,000,000 bushels. The government June 1 report indicated 130,000,000 bushels. Last year's harvest was 60,000,000 bushels.

Estimates were received yesterday from Winnipeg indicating the possibility of Canada harvesting a wheat crop of 400,000,000 bushels this year, providing weather conditions were favorable and ample rains received. Last year the crop was 260,000,000 bushels in the three prairie provinces. Temperatures as high as 100 prevailed Tuesday and the forecast yesterday indicated generally fair and decidedly warm weather.

RANGE OF CATTLE PRICES WIDENS; SOME HIT LOWS

The range of cattle prices which has been exceptionally narrow for several months widened yesterday as the offerings of grassy stock in the receipts continued to increase. Top grade steers advanced 10 to 15 cents, while lower classes of cattle sank to new 1936 lows.

Prime corn fed steers sold as high as $10, equaling the highest mark since April 23, although comparatively few sold above $9, because of the acute shortage of highly finished medium weight steers.

Premiums for fat stock showing a long corn finish were the sharpest in recent months. Beef cows, canners, and cutters fell sharply, sales showing declines of 25 to 50 cents compared with a week ago. Both classes established new lows for the year.

Net market returns to hog raisers yesterday reached a new seven year high for June when prices rose 10 to 20 cents as the result of short receipts. The top of $10.60 was less than such kinds cost packers a year ago, processing tax included, but farmers' returns were greater than in 1935. Two years ago the June top was $7.50, including the $2.25 tax, while three years ago the June peak was $5.05 and four years ago $5. The average price for the day moved back up to $10.

Packers and shippers competed for the scant supply of sheep and lambs here yesterday at steady to strong prices. Eastern interests gave $12.10 for the best new crop natives, while packers obtained the bulk at $11.50 to $12.

How You Can BORROW at HOUSEHOLD

No Salary Assignment.

1. Whether or not you have furniture or a car you can borrow here if you can make regular monthly payments.
2. Payments are small. For example, the first payment on $100 is $8—the last payment is $5.15 on a twenty month schedule. Other amounts in proportion.
3. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
4. You can secure the money quickly—the same day if you apply before 9 o'clock.
5. Rate on loans above $100 is less than the lawful maximum.
6. Repay at any time and reduce the cost.
7. Private offices. Your problem will have our sympathetic attention.

—on your Dodge

Yes, you may borrow money at this bank on a recent model of any standard make of car: FORD, PLYMOUTH, CHEVROLET, TERRAPLANE, as well as BUICK, CHRYSLER, DODGE, and ALL OTHER STANDARD MAKES.

Yes, the same low rates and liberal terms apply whether the car is new or used. Fire and Theft is all the insurance we require, although we strongly urge that every car owner insure himself against collision hazards. In all cases we want the insurance placed with the borrower's own broker or agent. Premiums may be added to the loan account, the broker is paid in full, and the borrower settles up with us in monthly installments.
